Stevenson Seen in 3 Primaries

Harriman Would Support Adlai

Albany, Nov. 16 (AP)—Gov. Harriman says Adlai Stevenson, if nominated for President, "will again have the full support of New York state Democrats."

The governor, a possible candidate himself, declared yesterday that Stevenson would make a fine standard-bearer for the Democrats next year. Stevenson, who was defeated by Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952, announced in Chicago his candidacy for the 1956 nomination.

HARRIMAN ISSUED his statement several hours after saying in a radio interview that he was "not going to work for" the nomination. He had added that anyone wanting the nomination would have to work for it.

However, nothing came to light to indicate he was ordering those doing the work to stop.

In New York city, State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast already on record favoring Harriman, said, "we await" the convention's decision. He pledged support to whomever might be nominated.

THE CHAIRMAN had said in Albany Sept. 19 that Harriman would seek the nomination if "convinced the convention wanted him" even if it meant a floor fight with Stevenson.

Stevenson's campaign director for New York state in 1952 declined to take a stand on yesterday's announcement.

Peter J. Crotty of Buffalo, who now is the Erie county Democratic chairman, commented only, "the people will decide." He declined to say whether he had made a commitment to support Harriman.

MAYOR Robert F. Wagner of New York, who has been a supporter of Stevenson, said he was "not a all surprised" by the announcement. He declared the former Illinois governor would make a "fine candidate."

Stevenson apparently is going into a few primaries including those in California, Pennsylvania and Florida. In some of these he is likely to face a stiff challenge from Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Kefauver said in Miami, Fla., last night "There is a very good chance that I will seek the Democratic nomination for President, and if I do I'll make a fight for it."

"I WON'T ANNOUNCE a definite decision until the middle of December," Kefauver said.

The Tennessee senator, who lost the 1952 party prize to Stevenson, said Stevenson is "a good man and will be a formidable candidate.

Cold War Is Back, U.S. Official Says

Washington, Nov. 16 (AP)—"The failure of the Geneva conference has brought the cold war back," a top level administration leader said today.

He said that "in the light of this, the administration is reexamining its programs, and is prepared to make any changes that are necessary."

THE POLICY MAKER, declining to be quoted by name, said that budget balancing aims would be subordinated to "necessities" of the developing new situation.

He said that cuts in foreign aid and spending are "not now contemplated . . . there may be some shifts, and changes in emphasis, in the foreign aid program, but there won't be much difference" between this year's and next year's outlays.

"The administration's policies are flexible, and they will be shifted as needed," he added.

12th Ward Has Group On Floods

Brook Flooding, Sewers Subjects

A Citizens Committee to investigate flooding in the Twelfth Ward was appointed at a meeting of the group of ward residents last night at the polling place for the Second District of the ward.

Richard Dillon of 168 Main Main street was named chairman of the committee. Other members are C. M. Thomas and Thomas McNelis.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED that other members from different sections of the ward would be named to the committee in the near future.

Purpose of the committee is to study flood conditions in the ward and make recommendations for elimination of flooding which, in certain areas, fills numerous cellars, weakens foundations, etc.

Approximately 100 persons attended the meeting, including Twelfth Ward Alderman Richard Roth and Corporation Counsel James Abernethy, a resident of the ward.

SOME VOICED the opinion that Tannery brook and one or two other small brooks in the ward might be piped to avoid flooding. It was felt that storm sewers in certain sections of the ward were inadequate to handle heavy flows of water, such as those of October 15 and the floods of last August.

It was brought out that worst hit sections were Emerson, Main and Lafayette avenue. Sections of Lucas avenue, Janet street, Pearl and Miller's Lane are also affected during high waters.

Boatmen to Strike

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—The CIO Transport Workers Union (TWU) has scheduled a strike for Monday midnight by 2,500 workers on ferryboats and tugboats operated by nine railroads in New York harbor. The strike call, announced yesterday by TWU President Michael J. Quill, grew out of a contract dispute with the General Managers Assn., representing the railroads in bargaining.

Handyman Admits Killing Boy

William Losee Tells DA He Hit Gerald Foster With Pipe

Rhinebeck, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—A handyman has been charged with first degree murder in the killing of 13-year-old Gerald Foster two weeks after he ran away from home.

Dutchess county Dist. Atty. Raymond C. Baratta said yesterday that Harvey William Losee, 47, had admitted the crime.

Losee was employed by the Anderson School, a private institution, on the grounds of which young Foster's body was found last Saturday.

The boy disappeared from his Poughkeepsie, N. Y., home on Oct. 12. Baratta quoted Losee as saying he discovered him sleeping in an Anderson School barn on Oct. 28 and ordered him to leave.

When the boy started to argue, Baratta said, Losee picked up an iron pipe and struck him on the head.

Baratta said records of the State Department of Correction show Losee was an inmate of an institution for mental defectives from 1929 to 1945. The district attorney added that police picked up Losee in the routine questioning of various persons at the school.

The Foster boy's body was discovered by hunters in a woods where Baratta said Losee had dumped it, about 80 feet from a road.

Barataa said the iron pipe had been found in the barn and was being examined for stains. He said that young Foster was still alive, but unconscious, after he was struck and Losee picked up the boy, carried him to an oak tree and dropped him on the ground to die. Then, Baratta said, Losee went back and did his chores.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Raymond Hill at Hyde Park, Losee asked for an adjournment so that he could obtain counsel. Hill held the prisoner without bail and adjourned the case until Friday morning.

SLA Prober Is Indicted For Perjury

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan announced today that a senior investigator for the State Liquor Authority has been indicted by the grand jury on a perjury charge.

The SLA inspector, Richard A. Plunkett, 57, of 74 Post avenue, Manhattan, married and the father of three children, was released in $500 bail by Special Sessions Justice Herman Hoffman for trial Dec. 5.

PLUNKETT, who has been receiving an annual salary of $5,400, was accused of making a false denial while being questioned under oath by State Investigations Commissioner J. Irwin Shapiro about $15,000 Plunkett allegedly spent over and above his salary during a five-year period.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Francis X. Clark said Plunkett, who has been an SLA employe since 1940, contended that his father left him the money in 1936 and that he kept the cash in a hatbox in his home until he began spending it about 1950.

Specifically, the information charges the inspector lied when he denied he had any bank account prior to 1950.

Clark asserted that Plunkett "had access" to three accounts, one in the name of his wife, Mary, alone, and the other two in her name in trust for two of their children, Alice, and Richard A. Jr.

THE PROSECUTOR charged that these accounts were Plunkett's "in effect" and that he made deposits and withdrawals whenever he wished to, after first obtaining his wife's signature on the necessary application.

Dulles Says Bulganin Caused Talk Deadlock

Geneva, Nov. 16 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles told the final session of the Geneva Conference today that Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin apparently had sent Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov here "with orders not to discuss seriously" the reunification of Germany.

Dulles blamed Soviet resistance to reuniting Germany through free elections on fear that such an action would threaten Moscow's hold on the Communist satellite countries of Eastern Europe.

State Tax Cuts Will Be GOP Aim Next Year

Albany, Nov. 16 (AP)—Republican legislative leaders, contending that Gov. Harriman has overtaxed New Yorkers, today promised to support "a general tax relief program" next year.

Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck and Minority Leader Walter J. Mahoney of the Senate said in a joint statement that general tax cuts could be achieved if the Democratic governor "conducts the fiscal affairs of the state properly."

THEY MENTIONED these as possibilities for reductions:

"Restoration of the 10 per cent income tax forgiveness, a flat across-the-board reduction for each taxpayer, a percentage deduction for federal income tax payments, or some other avenue of tax deduction."

The GOP chiefs maintained that revenues for the fiscal year ending next March 31 would exceed estimates by 70 million dollars. That means, they said, "that there will be room in the 1956-57 state budget for substantial tax relief without impairing state services, highway construction or provisions for increased state aid for schools."

HARRIMAN HAS estimated that revenues by at least 47 million dollars. He has said he hopes to achieve tax cuts next year "for those who need them most."

Heck and Mahoney asserted:

"The people of the state, is is now obvious, are being overtaxed 50 million dollars this year as a result of Gov. Harriman's veto of Republican bills which would have continued the 10 per cent income tax forgiveness and collection of the unincorporated business tax at three instead of the full four per cent."

THEY SAID that tax relief would have a high priority on the GOP's 1956 legislative program and that "foremost" would be proposals to "humanize" income tax laws with respect to the sick, aged, blind and the working mothers.

They called Harriman's veto this year of legislation that would have granted such relief "inexcusable."

The Republican leaders said also that decisions on highway construction and upward revision of the state's school aid formula would be based, primarily, on the recommendations of two

Solutions Are Given For Future Planning

Reclamation Is Advised of Downtown Area for Homes, Business or Industry

Deterioration of sections of the Sixth Ward and housing pressures caused by influx of IBM personnel are listed as the two basic housing problems of the Kingston area in a housing survey and market analysis prepared by the New York State Division of Housing.

The survey, made at request of the Kingston Housing Authority, was released today by George E. Yerry, Jr., chairman of the authority.

The report stated that overcrowded conditions in the Sixth Ward had been aggravated by increased pressure for housing. "Positive action with regard to the 6th Ward would help in the long run to solve the overall housing problem of the community."

It pointed out that "clearance and appropriate reuse seem to be necessary in the area. If no action is taken, the 6th Ward will inevitably regress further. Judicious utilization of the land provided by the cleared area could provide a foundation for recovery either through better housing, industry, trade or some other appropriate use."

IT WAS EXPLAINED that clearance of several blocks at one time might create sizable problems involving the relocation of tenants and the possible reduction in neighborhood trade but that a "long range plan involving several stages of clearance and relocation each of which would be closely followed with improvements would tend to even out the transition to a better neighborhood and better business."

THE REPORT, consisting of approximately 120 pages, made a dozen recommendations as follows:

1. The city establish a periodic inspection service on an intensive scale to bring about the enforcement of the fire, health and safety laws generally.

2. The city encourage the remedying of building violations including repair and rehabilitation of existing housing.

3. Some controls be set up by the city so that when persons are relocated as part of a redevelopment program they are put in housing units that are not sub-standard. This suggests that an inspection system might be devised whereby Certificates of Re-occupancy are required to validate the adequacy of quarters with regard to health and structural standards.

4. THE CITY ENCOURAGE the conversion of under-utilized large homes into additional units of smaller size with careful controls to prevent abuse and overcrowding and with proper safeguards to protect the neighborhood.

5. Towns and incorporated villages in the area provide for the issuance of building permits for all types of construction. Such permits, outside the city of Kingston are now non-existent and as a result prevent an adequate assessment of the area's housing needs for program planning. If a permit system were adopted, it would induce proper control of building activity by appropriate officials.

6. The city undertake, as soon as possible, in cooperation with planning officials in the state and federal governments, a comprehensive study of the 6th Ward so that a specific program and plan for reconstructing and rehabilitating the area can be devised.

7. The city of Kingston proceed as soon as possible to prepare a comprehensive master plan to guide its future development. This is not only important on its own but will be necessary if federal aid is to be requested under an Urban Renewal plan.

8. Clearance under Title 1 of the Federal Housing Act of 1954 be considered so that large scale improvements could be made by private enterprise. An overall program of urban renewal and rehabilitation for the 6th Ward might include: Low rent public housing of at least 100 units; a limited dividend rental or cooperative housing project for about 125-175 families; new factories for light industrial use—such as apparel and textile firms, which are now scattered throughout the area; new space for commercial use, such as warehouses.

9. The city consider the use of offsite clearance funds in connection with the state's public housing program, which can augment the city's share of Federal Title 1 contributions and thus double the scope of any renewal plan arranged by the city with private developers.

10. If the scope of the urban renewal program involves the relocation of many families who cannot otherwise find adequate housing, the number of public housing units be increased.

11. Encouragement be given to private developers building for the sales market (which is substantial) by a more progres-

Air Line Official Signs Complaint

Graham Will Be Arrainged On Murder Charge Nov. 17

Denver, Nov. 16 (AP)—John Gilbert Graham, 23, baby-faced father of two children, will be arraigned on a murder charge tomorrow in the dynamiting of a United Air Lines plane. The blast killed Graham's mother and 43 other passengers.

The state moved swiftly to prosecute Graham late yesterday after U. S. Atty. Donald Kelley turned the case over to Denver's Dist. Atty. Bert Keating for filing of murder charges.

A murder complaint against Graham was signed personally by W. A. Patterson of Chicago, president of the Air Lines. Keating said he would ask death in the gas chamber for Graham, who operated a drive-in restaurant with his mother.

The complaint specifically charges Graham with murdering his mother, Mrs. Daisy E. King, 54, who lived with him in Denver. He insured her life for $37,500 after escorting her to start the fatal flight Nov. 1.

The bomb exploded with a blinding flash near Longmont, Colo., ripping to pieces the DC6B mainliner shortly after it had taken off from the Denver airport.

Graham is to be arraigned at 9 a. m. (MST) tomorrow before Dist. Judge Edward J. Keating.

Guards placed Graham under extra security precautions in Denver county jail. He is held without bond on the murder charge. Warden Gordon Dolliver said an unidentified man threatened by telephone a mob would storm the jail to take Graham out.

From outward appearances, guards said, Graham showed no remorse or emotion over his confession that he made a time bomb out of 25 sticks of dynamite and placed them in his mother's luggage.

The FBI arrested Graham Monday on a charge of sabotating the plane. Federal officials said the case was turned over to the state because of more definite statutes on murder.

Paper Learns Remark About Gift Tip for Graham Arrest

Denver, Nov. 16 (AP) — The Rocky Mountain News said today it learned a chance remark about a unique Christmas gift led to the arrest of John Gilbert (Jack) Graham in the bomb-plot massacre of 44 persons aboard a United Airlines plane.

The newspaper said in a copyrighted article neighbors told the FBI Friday, eight days after the Nov. 1 crash, that Graham told them he was heartbroken because he had hidden the gift, a jewelry-making tool, in her luggage rather than giving it to her in person.

The FBI went into action as soon as it learned Graham had opened his mother's packed suitcases in order to insert the surprise gift, the newspaper said.

Roy Moore, assistant agent in charge of the two-state Denver division of the FBI, who spearheaded the investigation, refused to confirm or deny the part played by neighbors in breaking the case.

Graham formally was charged with the murder of his mother, Mrs. Daisie E. King, 54, today in connection with the dynamiting of the plane.

The News said Graham told relatives he had purchased the jewelry-making tool after a day-long search through Denver

County Fire Problems Form Discussion at Vols' Meeting

Thirty-seven companies were represented at the November meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association held Tuesday evening at West Hurley where the association was guest of the fire company. Approximately 100 members were in attendance. President Eldred Smith presided and the Rev. Greentree gave the invocation.

A report was made by Chief Winfield Snyder, chairman of the two-way radio committee, and he presented Mr. Vail of the New York Telephone Company who spoke on the proposed system, answered questions and generally discussed the two-way radio plan for volunteer fire companies.

There were numerous questions asked and answered by the speaker. A discussion on the cost to the community, the effectiveness of the system and how far the system would reach out and whether it might leave certain dead spots also was inquired into.

Alfred Kilmer of Ulster Hose Company, town of Ulster, who was recently elected vice-president of the county organization was in attendance for the first time since his election and was presented to the members.

The association voted to buy a $10 bond in the Tuberculosis and Health campaign.

Chief Lawson Upright of Gardiner spoke on inter-county relations. One of the matters discussed was relative to companies responding to a summons on the Thruway and compensation for materials used on such calls. The matter of volunteer fire companies paying toll on the Thruway was also discussed. Upright had attended a meeting in Rockland county and gave a report of the discussions at that meeting.

Former Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy gave a report for the advisory board and suggested that a county fire co-ordinator be appointed. Co-ordinator Arthur Chipp, who served for some time, has resigned and has not been replaced.

Onteora School Needs 12 New Rooms; Group to Study Plan

A citizen's advisory committee has been appointed to study the overcrowded conditions at the Onteora Central School, it was learned today following a meeting of the school's P-TA group and the board of education Tuesday night.

An immediate need of 12 additional classrooms was sounded by Principal John H. Moehle and Philip Gordon, president of the board of education to meet the rapidly growing attendance influx.

Principal Moehle predicted that Onteora will have to go on a curtailed scheduled session next year to meet the situation, saying that classes would be scheduled for 8 to 12 o'clock and from 12 until 4 o'clock.

Predicting that by 1965 the school would have an estimated 1,965 students, spokesmen said the school was originally built to accommodate 920 pupils but that enrollment has now reached 1,176.

They pointed out that ideal classrooms have ratios of 27 pupils to one teacher whereas Onteora now has 35 to 37 students in each classroom.

One of the factors presented leading to the overcrowding problem was that when 50 pupils are graduated each June, approximately 145 new students are enrolled in September.

Harriman's veto of Republican bills which would have continued the 10 per cent income tax forgiveness and collection of the unincorporated business tax at three instead of the full four per cent."

THEY SAID that tax relief would have a high priority on the GOP's 1956 legislative program and that "foremost" would be proposals to "humanize" income tax laws with respect to the sick, aged, blind and the working mothers.

They called Harriman's veto this year of legislation that would have granted such relief "inexcusable."

The Republican leaders said also that decisions on highway construction and upward revision of the state's school aid formula would be based, primarily, on the recommendations of two

Solutions Are Given For Future Planning

Reclamation Is Advised of Downtown Area for Homes, Business or Industry

Deterioration of sections of the Sixth Ward and housing pressures caused by influx of IBM personnel are listed as the two basic housing problems of the Kingston area in a housing survey and market analysis prepared by the New York State Division of Housing.

The survey, made at request of the Kingston Housing Authority, was released today by George E. Yerry, Jr., chairman of the authority.

The report stated that overcrowded conditions in the Sixth Ward had been aggravated by increased pressure for housing. "Positive action with regard to the 6th Ward would help in the long run to solve the overall housing problem of the community."

It pointed out that "clearance and appropriate reuse seem to be necessary in the area. If no action is taken, the 6th Ward will inevitably regress further. Judicious utilization of the land provided by the cleared area could provide a foundation for recovery either through better housing, industry, trade or some other appropriate use."

IT WAS EXPLAINED that clearance of several blocks at one time might create sizable problems involving the relocation of tenants and the possible reduction in neighborhood trade but that a "long range plan involving several stages of clearance and relocation each of which would be closely followed with improvements would tend to even out the transition to a better neighborhood and better business."

THE REPORT, consisting of approximately 120 pages, made a dozen recommendations as follows:

1. The city establish a periodic inspection service on an intensive scale to bring about the enforcement of the fire, health and safety laws generally.

2. The city encourage the remedying of building violations including repair and rehabilitation of existing housing.

3. Some controls be set up by the city so that when persons are relocated as part of a redevelopment program they are put in housing units that are not sub-standard. This suggests that an inspection system might be devised whereby Certificates of Re-occupancy are required to validate the adequacy of quarters with regard to health and structural standards.

4. THE CITY ENCOURAGE the conversion of under-utilized large homes into additional units of smaller size with careful controls to prevent abuse and overcrowding and with proper safeguards to protect the neighborhood.

5. Towns and incorporated villages in the area provide for the issuance of building permits for all types of construction. Such permits, outside the city of Kingston are now non-existent and as a result prevent an adequate assessment of the area's housing needs for program planning. If a permit system were adopted, it would induce proper control of building activity by appropriate officials.

6. The city undertake, as soon as possible, in cooperation with planning officials in the state and federal governments, a comprehensive study of the 6th Ward so that a specific program and plan for reconstructing and rehabilitating the area can be devised.

7. The city of Kingston proceed as soon as possible to prepare a comprehensive master plan to guide its future development. This is not only important on its own but will be necessary if federal aid is to be requested under an Urban Renewal plan.

8. Clearance under Title 1 of the Federal Housing Act of 1954 be considered so that large scale improvements could be made by private enterprise. An overall program of urban renewal and rehabilitation for the 6th Ward might include: Low rent public housing of at least 100 units; a limited dividend rental or cooperative housing project for about 125-175 families; new factories for light industrial use—such as apparel and textile firms, which are now scattered throughout the area; new space for commercial use, such as warehouses.

9. The city consider the use of offsite clearance funds in connection with the state's public housing program, which can augment the city's share of Federal Title 1 contributions and thus double the scope of any renewal plan arranged by the city with private developers.

10. If the scope of the urban renewal program involves the relocation of many families who cannot otherwise find adequate housing, the number of public housing units be increased.

11. Encouragement be given to private developers building for the sales market (which is substantial) by a more progres-

Air Line Official Signs Complaint

Graham Will Be Arrainged On Murder Charge Nov. 17

Denver, Nov. 16 (AP)—John Gilbert Graham, 23, baby-faced father of two children, will be arraigned on a murder charge tomorrow in the dynamiting of a United Air Lines plane. The blast killed Graham's mother and 43 other passengers.

The state moved swiftly to prosecute Graham late yesterday after U. S. Atty. Donald Kelley turned the case over to Denver's Dist. Atty. Bert Keating for filing of murder charges.

A murder complaint against Graham was signed personally by W. A. Patterson of Chicago, president of the Air Lines. Keating said he would ask death in the gas chamber for Graham, who operated a drive-in restaurant with his mother.

The complaint specifically charges Graham with murdering his mother, Mrs. Daisy E. King, 54, who lived with him in Denver. He insured her life for $37,500 after escorting her to start the fatal flight Nov. 1.

The bomb exploded with a blinding flash near Longmont, Colo., ripping to pieces the DC6B mainliner shortly after it had taken off from the Denver airport.

Graham is to be arraigned at 9 a. m. (MST) tomorrow before Dist. Judge Edward J. Keating.

Guards placed Graham under extra security precautions in Denver county jail. He is held without bond on the murder charge. Warden Gordon Dolliver said an unidentified man threatened by telephone a mob would storm the jail to take Graham out.

From outward appearances, guards said, Graham showed no remorse or emotion over his confession that he made a time bomb out of 25 sticks of dynamite and placed them in his mother's luggage.

The FBI arrested Graham Monday on a charge of sabotating the plane. Federal officials said the case was turned over to the state because of more definite statutes on murder.

Paper Learns Remark About Gift Tip for Graham Arrest

Denver, Nov. 16 (AP) — The Rocky Mountain News said today it learned a chance remark about a unique Christmas gift led to the arrest of John Gilbert (Jack) Graham in the bomb-plot massacre of 44 persons aboard a United Airlines plane.

The newspaper said in a copyrighted article neighbors told the FBI Friday, eight days after the Nov. 1 crash, that Graham told them he was heartbroken because he had hidden the gift, a jewelry-making tool, in her luggage rather than giving it to her in person.

The FBI went into action as soon as it learned Graham had opened his mother's packed suitcases in order to insert the surprise gift, the newspaper said.

Roy Moore, assistant agent in charge of the two-state Denver division of the FBI, who spearheaded the investigation, refused to confirm or deny the part played by neighbors in breaking the case.

Graham formally was charged with the murder of his mother, Mrs. Daisie E. King, 54, today in connection with the dynamiting of the plane.

The News said Graham told relatives he had purchased the jewelry-making tool after a day-long search through Denver

Expert Explains Two-Way Radio

County Fire Problems Form Discussion at Vols' Meeting

Thirty-seven companies were represented at the November meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association held Tuesday evening at West Hurley where the association was guest of the fire company. Approximately 100 members were in attendance. President Eldred Smith presided and the Rev. Greentree gave the invocation.

A report was made by Chief Winfield Snyder, chairman of the two-way radio committee, and he presented Mr. Vail of the New York Telephone Company who spoke on the proposed system, answered questions and generally discussed the two-way radio plan for volunteer fire companies.

There were numerous questions asked and answered by the speaker. A discussion on the cost to the community, the effectiveness of the system and how far the system would reach out and whether it might leave certain dead spots also was inquired into.

Alfred Kilmer of Ulster Hose Company, town of Ulster, who was recently elected vice-president of the county organization was in attendance for the first time since his election and was presented to the members.

The association voted to buy a $10 bond in the Tuberculosis and Health campaign.

Chief Lawson Upright of Gardiner spoke on inter-county relations. One of the matters discussed was relative to companies responding to a summons on the Thruway and compensation for materials used on such calls. The matter of volunteer fire companies paying toll on the Thruway was also discussed. Upright had attended a meeting in Rockland county and gave a report of the discussions at that meeting.

Former Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy gave a report for the advisory board and suggested that a county fire co-ordinator be appointed. Co-ordinator Arthur Chipp, who served for some time, has resigned and has not been replaced.

Onteora School Needs 12 New Rooms; Group to Study Plan

A citizen's advisory committee has been appointed to study the overcrowded conditions at the Onteora Central School, it was learned today following a meeting of the school's P-TA group and the board of education Tuesday night.

An immediate need of 12 additional classrooms was sounded by Principal John H. Moehle and Philip Gordon, president of the board of education to meet the rapidly growing attendance influx.

Principal Moehle predicted that Onteora will have to go on a curtailed scheduled session next year to meet the situation, saying that classes would be scheduled for 8 to 12 o'clock and from 12 until 4 o'clock.

Predicting that by 1965 the school would have an estimated 1,965 students, spokesmen said the school was originally built to accommodate 920 pupils but that enrollment has now reached 1,176.

They pointed out that ideal classrooms have ratios of 27 pupils to one teacher whereas Onteora now has 35 to 37 students in each classroom.

One of the factors presented leading to the overcrowding problem was that when 50 pupils are graduated each June, approximately 145 new students are enrolled in September.

RUSSIAN SMILE FADES

The "Geneva Spirit" is a phrase that will pass into the lexicon of history along with the other fashions and fancies of 1955. When it was conceived in midsummer, men the world over hoped it would soon be translated into the substance of real peace. But instead those hopes are now dashed.

They died at the second Geneva conference which was to begin casting the new spirit into the flesh and blood of solid agreements between West and East. They died because the men in the Kremlin quite plainly never had any intention of making a settlement except on their own totally unacceptable terms.

The only kind of German unity the Russians favor is a unity that would see West Germany detachted from NATO, kept unarmed, and left politically neutral. In that position, the Germans would be prey to the full power of Communist subversive and propaganda forces, backed by the ever-present threat of a Red Army poised not far distant.

The only kind of a disarmament the Soviet Union is for is the sort which would offer the phony appearance of enforcement and a misleading token reduction in armed strength.

Even on so relatively secondary a matter as improved contact between East and West, the Russians showed interest only in those things which would benefit them—removal of trade restrictions affecting Communist lands and a step-up of technical information flowing from West to East.

From all this it is thoroughly evident that, despite the broad smiles of the Russian leaders, they have not changed one iota. They still press as hard as ever for goals which have but one meaning—ultimate world domination by the masters of communism.

It may be true, as it seemed at the first Geneva meeting, that the Kremlin leaders understand the folly of nuclear war as a means of achieving their end. But it is equally true that they have not forsworn any other weapon or device in the pursuit of their aims.

They are trapped by the iron dictates of their Communist philosophy. It preaches the final triumph of communism, and in this the men of the Kremlin stoutly and publicly proclaim their faith.

Believing that, they cannot yield what they firmly hold. To Communists it is good sense to yield only when advantage has passed elsewhere, when cold appraisal indicates a particular strategy no longer serves. But the battle is never really broken off. It is simply shifted to another front.

The 1955 tactic of the high level smile was one of the most striking and perhaps most effective shifts the Russians ever have employed. But in the end it can be seen by all for what it is, even by the most gullible neutralists. It is the same old cold war, dressed incongruously in the warm smile.

To men who believe as the Russians do, there can be no other course than the one they follow. And every stratagem of deception they use, no matter how artful, is doomed finally to failure. For the rigid logic of their purpose compels them sooner or later to show their true hand.

At Geneva we have seen it once more. The elaborate charade is over. The Russians may drop the mask of the smile now, for it can serve them no longer. The real shape of the struggle is seen again, and Communists will be hard put to find a new way to conceal it.

END OF WOOLLIES

"Should have put on my woollies." This remark is not heard so often as it used to be a generation or more ago. The fact is that the familiar red flannels are not worn much now. This is because homes are warmer and offices or factories are steam heated. Also, transportation vehicles are apt to be warmer. Maybe winters are warmer, too.

The Air Force has, somewhat belatedly, caught on to this fact. It has been including winter underwear in its regular issue of clothing. Now it has learned that the men do not wear it. The other services, it appears, found this out years ago. Dropping it from the clothing issue will, it is estimated, save $1,000,000 a year.

This is one more proof that the nation is in a new era.

THE TAFT MEMORIAL

The memory of Robert A. Taft freshens as the 1956 Campaign rolls around because, while he never became President, he was the leader of his party at times when it had no other leader. Of him, it can be said that he gave his party an intellectual stature when it was falling apart during the years of the New Deal. He was never diverted from the traditions of his party by the prospect of popularity which he did not crave or shun.

And so his friends are setting up a memorial to his honor. This takes two forms, one a physical memorial, a monument in Washington, near the Senate. The plans are drawn for this and the money is being raised from the public. The other is a school of politics which is still in the discussion stage.

Like most other unusual men, Robert A. Taft left behind him a small but ardent group of devotees who recognized his worth while he was alive and do not wish that he should be forgotten. How large and effective this group is will surely be measured by the size of their contributions to his memorial and the ease with which they are collected. If a terrific and costly campaign has to be put on, the whole thing may not be worth doing at all. If there is no interest, there is no money.

The Republican Party is faced by the need of rebuilding the party to meet the necessities of 1956 which cannot wait much longer because 1956 is just around the corner. Unless the Republicans heal the wounds of the past three years, they may not be able to win. One of their problems is to gain control of the Senate and the House of Representatives. They had such control in the 83rd Congress but lost it in the 84th Congress. This loss has proved to be embarrassing to President Eisenhower, although some of his political advisers thought that he was above party and that it did not matter.

Robert A. Taft, although he contested for the nomination against Dwight D. Eisenhower in the 1952 Convention, came to the President's support during the last months of his life because, as a practical politician, he understood the importance of political unity between the White House and the Congress. Had Taft lived, the President would have had a bold and imaginative leadership in the Congress. His death was such a great loss because no other leader quite took his place.

In fact, the relations between the President and Republican members of Congress were left to White House functionaries who lacked stature and authority and therefore could only carry messages back and forth. Senator William Knowland, the responsible leader of the Senate, was never given the acceptance essential to full leadership which is a two-way street, namely that he has to have the unstinted confidence of the President and of the Republican members of Congress. Between Knowland and the President stood the White House staff whom Senator Taft would have brushed aside as he undoubtedly did during the last months of his life.

In 1956, Taft will be missed most because there is no one on hand with his skill for keeping the party together in the Congress. While Vice President Nixon works hard at it, he is regarded by the men on the Hill as belonging to the White House and not to them. Knowland, on the other hand, belongs to the Congress but not to the White House. Taft bestrode them both.

This fact creates a nostalgia for Taft and is one reason why the movement for a memorial for him at this time seems to be important to those who were his friends and why Congress voted the ground for the monument. He fitted a particular niche in our current history. He filled a great role in his party's history. How significant he was can best be measured by the fact that he has not been replaced by anyone.

Taft, of course, had many opponents, and perhaps today it can be said that in the Senate, more of them were in the Republican than in the Democratic Party. That undoubtedly represents his most distinctive characteristic, namely, that while he was strictly partisan, he managed to work effectively with good minds in both parties.

That Body of Yours

SURGICAL TREATMENT OF LUNG CANCER

As we were saying yesterday advances in surgical technique in the last ten to fifteen years has led to the belief that cancer of the lungs is not entirely hopeless if discovered early. Now we have a statistical study of 131 patients with cancer of the lungs treated by operation between January, 1948, and November, 1954, by three French physicians, M. Berard, E. Saubier and G. Maret. Their results are reprinted in English in the "Journal of the American Medical Association."

"Among the first 53 operations, there was a death rate of 15 (28 per cent), while among the last 55 (performed after 1951) there were only four deaths (7 per cent). The remaining 23 patients had exploratory thoracotomies (opening of the chest wall) only. The basic difference between the first and second series of operations lies in the anesthetic technique used. In the first series, deep anesthesia under controlled breathing was the cause of several deaths during operation or immediately afterward. In the later series, the light anesthesia used caused no complications, and all the deaths can be attributed to operative accidents."

What were the results so far as the patients who survived are concerned? "Despite the high proportion of early return of certain types of cancer, some significant results were obtained, namely, three five-year survivals, one four-year survival, and four three-year survivals."

Of the 108 patients whod had some part of the lung removed, 95 had a portion removed and 13 had a whole lobe removed—lobectomy. The lungs are composed of five lobes—three on the right side and two on the left (the heart taking up the space of the lower lobe in the left lung). These surgeons feel that it is logical to perform a lobectomy in any patient whose disease permits, especially in elderly patients, and more particularly if they are operated on the right side.

Whether or not it is possible to perform an operation for removal of cancer on the left side cannot be judged until after the pericardium (sac of membrane containing the heart) has been opened. Following this rule, the authors obtained surgically good results in more than 80 per cent of their last 50 patients who underwent thoracotomy.

Surgery offers the only hope of cure but thus far it has been possible to consider it in only a very few cases. Earlier diagnosis should result in more cases being recognizable at an operatic stage. Operation cannot be considered when the cancer has obviously spread from its original location. It is important to remember that actual observation of the chest by examination is likely to be negative and the most of the tumors will be discovered only on X-ray examination.

The Great Elephant Hunt

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington —(NEA)— Three hundred Washington correspondents who collaborated with this column on a political opinion poll, a year in advance of the 1956 presidential election, came up with a number of shrewd observations on the situation today. Also, they volunteered some good, early winter book betting odds on the possible outcome.

For instance, Richard Harkness of NBC makes an estimate of one-to-five odds that President Eisenhower will be a candidate for re-election. This is probably a pretty good bet, either way. It is confirmed by the poll result which shows 82 per cent of the Washington press and radio reporters believing that Ike will not run for a second term.

On the question of whether the Republican convention will nominate Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the presidency, Arthur Krock of the New York Times puts the odds at six to four that Nixon will be the nominee.

MR. KROCK MAKES CLEAR that any political opinion expressed now is "pure speculation" this far ahead of election day. But in the realm of speculation on the question of whether Chief Justice Earl Warren will consent to accept the GOP presidential nomination in case Eisenhower does not run, the Times columnist observes: "Only in case of war or its dark shadow."

Richard Strout of the Christian Science Monitor, Edward J. Michaelson of Boston Herald-Traveler and Berkshire Evening Eagle, A. L. Davis of Buffalo News, Cabell Phillips of New York Times and a number of others think that Warren would run if President Eisenhower insisted on it, or if the GOP convention were to draft him.

Even as neutral an observer as Henry Brandon of London Times thinks Warren could be drafted, and would accept a draft. But one unsigned reply in the poll put the odds at seven to three against Warren's running.

ALFRED M. FRIENDLY, managing editor of Washington Post and Times Herald, William H. Stringer of Christian Science Monitor, Ed Edstrom of Louisville Courier Journal, Roger Greene of Associated Press and Edgar Ansell Mowrer the columnist, among others, say today that in case Eisenhower is not the Republican candidate, the only way the GOP can win is to nominate Warren.

Bascomb N. Timmons, veteran political writer who heads his own news bureau, qualifies this opinion with the observation that "Warren wouldn't leave a sure life job unless his chances of victory were very bright."

William A. Garrett of Gannett newspapers thinks that Republican and Democratic chances of victory today are just 50-50—an even money bet. This is probably a fair average estimate of Washington reportorial opinion as of now.

Gould Lincoln of Washington Star, dean of all political writers in the United States, thinks now that the Democratic ticket now be Stevenson and Kefauver, the Republican ticket Nixon and Rep. Charlie Halleck of Indiana. A majority of the correspondents agree with Lincoln on the first three names. But he is the only one who gives Halleck a chance.

GETTING INTO SOME really long odds, Russ Tornabene of NBC serves as spokesman for a dozen or more anonymous correspondents reporting in the poll. They believe that the Republican presidential team will be made up of two dark horses—candidates whose names aren't yet prominent in speculation. These entrants would be 100-to-one shots—the field against the favorites.

Paul Leach who is retiring this year after long and distinguished service as political writer for Chicago Daily News and other Knight newspapers, sums up this point of view with the observation that any predicting this far ahead "is really looking into a clouded crystal ball."

Too many Washington correspondents still remember how wrong they were in 1948 when Truman upset the Dewey apple cart. Nobody wants to get caught out on the end of a limb like that again. This cuts down on the number willing to make a prediction or a guess.

President Eisenhower Called Well Enough to Be Reelected

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 16 — Now that the stock market has recovered almost all the loss it sustained several weeks ago when the news first came about President Eisenhower's illness, it is apparent that the same people who feared a big change in national economic conditions if he ceased to be President have concluded that such an adverse development will not materialize because he will be well enough to be renominated and re-elected.

When the President is seen by millions of citizens as he runs rapidly up six steps to a television platform at Denver, the impression created is that he is not an invalid or an incapacitated or disabled man. Likewise, when nearly every Sunday morning newspaper in the land prints on its front page a picture showing Ike swinging a golf club on the White House lawn, there are millions of citizens who begin to argue to themselves that, if he is well enough to play golf, he is well enough to run for a second term.

Unquestionably there's a different feeling throughout America about the availability of Mr. Eisenhower for a second term than there was when the newspapers first told about the heart attack. It was described then as a "mild" attack but, because it happened to the President, the publicity and attention given to the episode far exceeded anything that would have been noted in the case of any other citizen with a similar attack.

THE FREQUENT news bulletins—which, of course, were necessary—conveyed the idea of an illness far more serious than it was. Not unnaturally, therefore, the Democratic leaders became almost gleeful as they talked about a wide-open convention and a certain Democratic victory in 1956. Also anybody who even remotely suggested there might still be a possibility that, after all, Ike might run was immediately denounced by these Democrats as "sadistic" or as trying to "commit murder." It was obvious that Democrats who took that attitude were engaged in wishful thinking and hoping that Ike wouldn't run. Hence their solicitude for his well-being in a state of expected retirement increased proportionately as they saw their own chances of victory rising — at least in their own minds.

But there were, on the other hand, Republican leaders outside the government as well as cabinet officers who chose to assume that a heart attack wouldn't prevent Ike from running. They didn't put any pressure on the President. So far as is known, nobody discussed it with him. Also, he didn't read newspapers during a large part of the period when the press was speculating about his second nomination.

TODAY, HOWEVER, as the President begins work in his Gettysburg office—which spares him much of the Washington routine—he has a chance for another six weeks of relative seclusion and rest. This ought to make him much stronger physically when he returns to the White House in January.

Incidentally, even Presidents who didn't have heart attacks have often stayed away from Washington for a long time when Congress wasn't in session. Grover Cleveland used to go to the summer White House at Long Branch, N. J. Woodrow Wilson spent a long period at Shadow Lawn not far from Asbury Park, N. J. William Howard Taft spent many months a year at the summer White House in Beverly, Mass., or at Augusta, Ga., playing golf. Calvin Coolidge was away from Washington every summer either at Swampscott, Mass., or in the Adirondacks or in northern Michigan and usually stayed several months.

In all these instances, as with President Eisenhower, the mechanism for handling public business has been about the same. Special facilities for telephone and telegraph are installed in a temporary White House, and a President has all the conveniences for the transaction of public business without the petty annoyances that consume time on the so-called ceremonial side.

MR. EISENHOWER probably will not discuss his future plans with any political leaders till after January. The general impression here is that he will wait till the doctors give him their size-up in January, and, if they think he can continue in public office, the President will frankly report to the American people what the doctors have told him.

It is doubtful, however, whether in any initial statement declining to run, Mr. Eisenhower will base his decision solely on reasons of health. For it is expected he will be well enough in the opinion of his physicians to stay in office.

What many people have forgotten is that, even before his illness, the President showed plainly that he would like to serve only one term. He made no secret of his uncertainty about a second term. That dilemma was not resolved when the illness came.

But the persons who are convinced the President will agree to run again feel sure of it because they regard a call to duty as paramount.

If the people almost unanimously want Dwight Eisenhower to serve, and if the need for his services is expressed on every side so that he considers it to be a sincere demand, the chances are he will accede to it. That's the rationalizing which is sending the stock market up nowadays and keeping the country in a state of hopeful optimism that the present era of stability in domestic affairs and a trend away from war will be continued under the Eisenhower administration for another five years.

Egypt Wary of Communism Plays Ball With Moscow

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Only about three months ago, western diplomats were expressing cautious hope for prospects of stability in the Middle East.

But on July 23, an important guest arrived in Cairo to help celebrate an anniversary of Egypt's anti-Farouk revolution.

Shortly thereafter this guest had long conferences with the youthful premier, Gamel Abdel Nasser, and other leaders of Egypt's revolution council.

From that point on, the Middle East situation grew steadily more dangerous.

The guest was Dmitri Trofimovich Shepilov, named a week before his Cairo visit as a secretary of the Soviet Communist party's ruling central committee. He was once editor of Pravda and is regarded as a likely future foreign minister.

This same Shepilov, a couple of months previously, vowed in a speech that if it should be attacked the Soviet Union "with its trusty allies in the democratic and colonial world will deal a shattering blow which will leave the capitalist world in ruins."

IN RED JARGON, "democratic" means Communist. As for the "colonial" world, Egypt and other Arab nations are considered part of it; Soviet reasoning lumps any backward or dependent country into the category. It became Shepilov's job to try to nail down some "trusty allies" in that world.

Egypt was a good starting point. For the first time the country, having thrown out the Europeanized hangers-on of the Farouk regime, was in the hands of men who might rightly be called sons of the soil. The revolutionary rulers were young, ambitious, unskilled in government and foreign affairs, jealous of their independence and eager to make Egypt the leader of the Arab world if not the whole world of Islam.

This government showed great promise. Its leaders were military men, but men who had experienced the war in Israel and respected the Israeli military punch. But the government was beset with all sorts of internal problems in a poverty-stricken and extremely nationalistic country.

The defeat of the Arab world at the hands of Israel still smarted. The chance to join the Sudan to Egypt in a lasting union that might guarantee Egypt's interests in the Nile waters for a long time to come was fading rapidly. The Sudanese seemed to prefer the prospect of total independence.

SUDDEN ISRAELI raids along the Gaza Strip punished Egyptian troops, as if to administer a lesson to them, and the new revolutionary government was threatened with a costly loss of face.

Cairo apparently had ambitions to extend its influence westward through Arab Africa, but the tools were inadequate. Hatred of Zionism was not so deep to the west and the only cementing force was the word "liberation." Cairo propaganda pumped the idea constantly into French North Africa.

Then, by a single stroke the Russians, after Shepilov's visit, injected an entirely new factor into the situation. Egypt could have arms in quantity from the Communist bloc nations — 200 MIG Soviet fighters, 100 Russian tanks, a half dozen submarines, quantities of artillery and other arms—all at fantastically cut-rate prices. Whether this equipment was castoff and obsolete from European standpoints hardly mattered. It could tip the balance in the Middle East.

More than that, there was a promise of Communist arms for other states thirsting for revenge on Israel. There would remain only the problem of training Arabs to use modern arms. Red bloc technicians are doing that now.

YOUNG PREMIER Nasser, many western observers speculate, does not fully realize the consequences of the Communist deal. By Arab lights this is not a swing to the left, but a swing to "independence," an idea Soviet propaganda keeps to the forefront. The Communist arms deal is popular in Egypt and other Arab countries.

More and more, Egypt's leaders fall into the Communist propaganda pattern, even though they speak of wariness of world Communist aims. In attempting to play one great power bloc against the other, the inexperienced Egyptian regime is playing with fire. Though Arab lands jail their own Communists and outlaw the Communist party, the Arabs cheer the purchase of Red arms and apparently feel they can hold their own against Red infiltration and domination. Nasser appears to think along these lines.

Lionized early this year at the Asian-African meeting in Indonesia, Nasser brought back with him a conviction that the West stood only for colonialism and imperialism and against self-determnation. The Arab world still had to be "liberated."

Nasser outlined an ambitious program. Among his goals was the foundation, in his own words, of "the nucleus of a heavy war industry" along with a revolution of production" to make Egypt the superior of Israel.

"We believe," said Nasser to what must have been the satisfaction of Moscow, "there can be no freedom of dignity under the shadow of imperialism. It is therefore inevitable for us to fight imperialism."

THE ASIAN-ARAB bloc in the Indonesian meeting, said Nasser, was "free of imperialistic purposes." Therefore Egypt would cooperate with that bloc.

By implication, imperialism was identified with the West, and West, — particularly the United States — with Israel, which Nasser has pledged to wipe off the map.

As matters stand western observers believe Israel could stand off her Arab neighbors again, and in a showdown war actually drive them back and gain territory. But if the Arab nations get modern equipment and have the trained personnel to use it, a war might be a different story.

And such a war could well burst out beyond the confines of the Arab Middle East.

In fact, the relations between the President and Republican members of Congress were left to White House functionaries who lacked stature and authority and therefore could only carry messages back and forth. Senator William Knowland, the responsible leader of the Senate, was never given the acceptance essential to full leadership which is a two-way street, namely that he has to have the unstinted confidence of the President and of the Republican members of Congress. Between Knowland and the President stood the White House staff whom Senator Taft would have brushed aside as he undoubtedly did during the last months of his life.

In 1956, Taft will be missed most because there is no one on hand with his skill for keeping the party together in the Congress. While Vice President Nixon works hard at it, he is regarded by the men on the Hill as belonging to the White House and not to them. Knowland, on the other hand, belongs to the Congress but not to the White House. Taft bestrode them both.

This fact creates a nostalgia for Taft and is one reason why the movement for a memorial for him at this time seems to be important to those who were his friends and why Congress voted the ground for the monument. He fitted a particular niche in our current history. He filled a great role in his party's history. How significant he was can best be measured by the fact that he has not been replaced by anyone.

Taft, of course, had many opponents, and perhaps today it can be said that in the Senate, more of them were in the Republican than in the Democratic Party. That undoubtedly represents his most distinctive characteristic, namely, that while he was strictly partisan, he managed to work effectively with good minds in both parties.

SURGICAL TREATMENT OF LUNG CANCER

As we were saying yesterday advances in surgical technique in the last ten to fifteen years has led to the belief that cancer of the lungs is not entirely hopeless if discovered early. Now we have a statistical study of 131 patients with cancer of the lungs treated by operation between January, 1948, and November, 1954, by three French physicians, M. Berard, E. Saubier and G. Maret. Their results are reprinted in English in the "Journal of the American Medical Association."

"Among the first 53 operations, there was a death rate of 15 (28 per cent), while among the last 55 (performed after 1951) there were only four deaths (7 per cent). The remaining 23 patients had exploratory thoracotomies (opening of the chest wall) only. The basic difference between the first and second series of operations lies in the anesthetic technique used. In the first series, deep anesthesia under controlled breathing was the cause of several deaths during operation or immediately afterward. In the later series, the light anesthesia used caused no complications, and all the deaths can be attributed to operative accidents."

What were the results so far as the patients who survived are concerned? "Despite the high proportion of early return of certain types of cancer, some significant results were obtained, namely, three five-year survivals, one four-year survival, and four three-year survivals."

Of the 108 patients whod had some part of the lung removed, 95 had a portion removed and 13 had a whole lobe removed—lobectomy. The lungs are composed of five lobes—three on the right side and two on the left (the heart taking up the space of the lower lobe in the left lung). These surgeons feel that it is logical to perform a lobectomy in any patient whose disease permits, especially in elderly patients, and more particularly if they are operated on the right side.

Whether or not it is possible to perform an operation for removal of cancer on the left side cannot be judged until after the pericardium (sac of membrane containing the heart) has been opened. Following this rule, the authors obtained surgically good results in more than 80 per cent of their last 50 patients who underwent thoracotomy.

Surgery offers the only hope of cure but thus far it has been possible to consider it in only a very few cases. Earlier diagnosis should result in more cases being recognizable at an operatic stage. Operation cannot be considered when the cancer has obviously spread from its original location. It is important to remember that actual observation of the chest by examination is likely to be negative and the most of the tumors will be discovered only on X-ray examination.

The Great Elephant Hunt

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington —(NEA)— Three hundred Washington correspondents who collaborated with this column on a political opinion poll, a year in advance of the 1956 presidential election, came up with a number of shrewd observations on the situation today. Also, they volunteered some good, early winter book betting odds on the possible outcome.

For instance, Richard Harkness of NBC makes an estimate of one-to-five odds that President Eisenhower will be a candidate for re-election. This is probably a pretty good bet, either way. It is confirmed by the poll result which shows 82 per cent of the Washington press and radio reporters believing that Ike will not run for a second term.

On the question of whether the Republican convention will nominate Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the presidency, Arthur Krock of the New York Times puts the odds at six to four that Nixon will be the nominee.

MR. KROCK MAKES CLEAR that any political opinion expressed now is "pure speculation" this far ahead of election day. But in the realm of speculation on the question of whether Chief Justice Earl Warren will consent to accept the GOP presidential nomination in case Eisenhower does not run, the Times columnist observes: "Only in case of war or its dark shadow."

Richard Strout of the Christian Science Monitor, Edward J. Michaelson of Boston Herald-Traveler and Berkshire Evening Eagle, A. L. Davis of Buffalo News, Cabell Phillips of New York Times and a number of others think that Warren would run if President Eisenhower insisted on it, or if the GOP convention were to draft him.

Even as neutral an observer as Henry Brandon of London Times thinks Warren could be drafted, and would accept a draft. But one unsigned reply in the poll put the odds at seven to three against Warren's running.

ALFRED M. FRIENDLY, managing editor of Washington Post and Times Herald, William H. Stringer of Christian Science Monitor, Ed Edstrom of Louisville Courier Journal, Roger Greene of Associated Press and Edgar Ansell Mowrer the columnist, among others, say today that in case Eisenhower is not the Republican candidate, the only way the GOP can win is to nominate Warren.

Bascomb N. Timmons, veteran political writer who heads his own news bureau, qualifies this opinion with the observation that "Warren wouldn't leave a sure life job unless his chances of victory were very bright."

William A. Garrett of Gannett newspapers thinks that Republican and Democratic chances of victory today are just 50-50—an even money bet. This is probably a fair average estimate of Washington reportorial opinion as of now.

Gould Lincoln of Washington Star, dean of all political writers in the United States, thinks now that the Democratic ticket now be Stevenson and Kefauver, the Republican ticket Nixon and Rep. Charlie Halleck of Indiana. A majority of the correspondents agree with Lincoln on the first three names. But he is the only one who gives Halleck a chance.

GETTING INTO SOME really long odds, Russ Tornabene of NBC serves as spokesman for a dozen or more anonymous correspondents reporting in the poll. They believe that the Republican presidential team will be made up of two dark horses—candidates whose names aren't yet prominent in speculation. These entrants would be 100-to-one shots—the field against the favorites.

Paul Leach who is retiring this year after long and distinguished service as political writer for Chicago Daily News and other Knight newspapers, sums up this point of view with the observation that any predicting this far ahead "is really looking into a clouded crystal ball."

Too many Washington correspondents still remember how wrong they were in 1948 when Truman upset the Dewey apple cart. Nobody wants to get caught out on the end of a limb like that again. This cuts down on the number willing to make a prediction or a guess.

President Eisenhower Called Well Enough to Be Reelected

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 16 — Now that the stock market has recovered almost all the loss it sustained several weeks ago when the news first came about President Eisenhower's illness, it is apparent that the same people who feared a big change in national economic conditions if he ceased to be President have concluded that such an adverse development will not materialize because he will be well enough to be renominated and re-elected.

When the President is seen by millions of citizens as he runs rapidly up six steps to a television platform at Denver, the impression created is that he is not an invalid or an incapacitated or disabled man. Likewise, when nearly every Sunday morning newspaper in the land prints on its front page a picture showing Ike swinging a golf club on the White House lawn, there are millions of citizens who begin to argue to themselves that, if he is well enough to play golf, he is well enough to run for a second term.

Unquestionably there's a different feeling throughout America about the availability of Mr. Eisenhower for a second term than there was when the newspapers first told about the heart attack. It was described then as a "mild" attack but, because it happened to the President, the publicity and attention given to the episode far exceeded anything that would have been noted in the case of any other citizen with a similar attack.

THE FREQUENT news bulletins—which, of course, were necessary—conveyed the idea of an illness far more serious than it was. Not unnaturally, therefore, the Democratic leaders became almost gleeful as they talked about a wide-open convention and a certain Democratic victory in 1956. Also anybody who even remotely suggested there might still be a possibility that, after all, Ike might run was immediately denounced by these Democrats as "sadistic" or as trying to "commit murder." It was obvious that Democrats who took that attitude were engaged in wishful thinking and hoping that Ike wouldn't run. Hence their solicitude for his well-being in a state of expected retirement increased proportionately as they saw their own chances of victory rising — at least in their own minds.

But there were, on the other hand, Republican leaders outside the government as well as cabinet officers who chose to assume that a heart attack wouldn't prevent Ike from running. They didn't put any pressure on the President. So far as is known, nobody discussed it with him. Also, he didn't read newspapers during a large part of the period when the press was speculating about his second nomination.

TODAY, HOWEVER, as the President begins work in his Gettysburg office—which spares him much of the Washington routine—he has a chance for another six weeks of relative seclusion and rest. This ought to make him much stronger physically when he returns to the White House in January.

Incidentally, even Presidents who didn't have heart attacks have often stayed away from Washington for a long time when Congress wasn't in session. Grover Cleveland used to go to the summer White House at Long Branch, N. J. Woodrow Wilson spent a long period at Shadow Lawn not far from Asbury Park, N. J. William Howard Taft spent many months a year at the summer White House in Beverly, Mass., or at Augusta, Ga., playing golf. Calvin Coolidge was away from Washington every summer either at Swampscott, Mass., or in the Adirondacks or in northern Michigan and usually stayed several months.

In all these instances, as with President Eisenhower, the mechanism for handling public business has been about the same. Special facilities for telephone and telegraph are installed in a temporary White House, and a President has all the conveniences for the transaction of public business without the petty annoyances that consume time on the so-called ceremonial side.

MR. EISENHOWER probably will not discuss his future plans with any political leaders till after January. The general impression here is that he will wait till the doctors give him their size-up in January, and, if they think he can continue in public office, the President will frankly report to the American people what the doctors have told him.

It is doubtful, however, whether in any initial statement declining to run, Mr. Eisenhower will base his decision solely on reasons of health. For it is expected he will be well enough in the opinion of his physicians to stay in office.

What many people have forgotten is that, even before his illness, the President showed plainly that he would like to serve only one term. He made no secret of his uncertainty about a second term. That dilemma was not resolved when the illness came.

But the persons who are convinced the President will agree to run again feel sure of it because they regard a call to duty as paramount.

If the people almost unanimously want Dwight Eisenhower to serve, and if the need for his services is expressed on every side so that he considers it to be a sincere demand, the chances are he will accede to it. That's the rationalizing which is sending the stock market up nowadays and keeping the country in a state of hopeful optimism that the present era of stability in domestic affairs and a trend away from war will be continued under the Eisenhower administration for another five years.

Egypt Wary of Communism Plays Ball With Moscow

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Only about three months ago, western diplomats were expressing cautious hope for prospects of stability in the Middle East.

But on July 23, an important guest arrived in Cairo to help celebrate an anniversary of Egypt's anti-Farouk revolution.

Shortly thereafter this guest had long conferences with the youthful premier, Gamel Abdel Nasser, and other leaders of Egypt's revolution council.

From that point on, the Middle East situation grew steadily more dangerous.

The guest was Dmitri Trofimovich Shepilov, named a week before his Cairo visit as a secretary of the Soviet Communist party's ruling central committee. He was once editor of Pravda and is regarded as a likely future foreign minister.

This same Shepilov, a couple of months previously, vowed in a speech that if it should be attacked the Soviet Union "with its trusty allies in the democratic and colonial world will deal a shattering blow which will leave the capitalist world in ruins."

IN RED JARGON, "democratic" means Communist. As for the "colonial" world, Egypt and other Arab nations are considered part of it; Soviet reasoning lumps any backward or dependent country into the category. It became Shepilov's job to try to nail down some "trusty allies" in that world.

Egypt was a good starting point. For the first time the country, having thrown out the Europeanized hangers-on of the Farouk regime, was in the hands of men who might rightly be called sons of the soil. The revolutionary rulers were young, ambitious, unskilled in government and foreign affairs, jealous of their independence and eager to make Egypt the leader of the Arab world if not the whole world of Islam.

This government showed great promise. Its leaders were military men, but men who had experienced the war in Israel and respected the Israeli military punch. But the government was beset with all sorts of internal problems in a poverty-stricken and extremely nationalistic country.

The defeat of the Arab world at the hands of Israel still smarted. The chance to join the Sudan to Egypt in a lasting union that might guarantee Egypt's interests in the Nile waters for a long time to come was fading rapidly. The Sudanese seemed to prefer the prospect of total independence.

SUDDEN ISRAELI raids along the Gaza Strip punished Egyptian troops, as if to administer a lesson to them, and the new revolutionary government was threatened with a costly loss of face.

Cairo apparently had ambitions to extend its influence westward through Arab Africa, but the tools were inadequate. Hatred of Zionism was not so deep to the west and the only cementing force was the word "liberation." Cairo propaganda pumped the idea constantly into French North Africa.

Then, by a single stroke the Russians, after Shepilov's visit, injected an entirely new factor into the situation. Egypt could have arms in quantity from the Communist bloc nations — 200 MIG Soviet fighters, 100 Russian tanks, a half dozen submarines, quantities of artillery and other arms—all at fantastically cut-rate prices. Whether this equipment was castoff and obsolete from European standpoints hardly mattered. It could tip the balance in the Middle East.

More than that, there was a promise of Communist arms for other states thirsting for revenge on Israel. There would remain only the problem of training Arabs to use modern arms. Red bloc technicians are doing that now.

YOUNG PREMIER Nasser, many western observers speculate, does not fully realize the consequences of the Communist deal. By Arab lights this is not a swing to the left, but a swing to "independence," an idea Soviet propaganda keeps to the forefront. The Communist arms deal is popular in Egypt and other Arab countries.

More and more, Egypt's leaders fall into the Communist propaganda pattern, even though they speak of wariness of world Communist aims. In attempting to play one great power bloc against the other, the inexperienced Egyptian regime is playing with fire. Though Arab lands jail their own Communists and outlaw the Communist party, the Arabs cheer the purchase of Red arms and apparently feel they can hold their own against Red infiltration and domination. Nasser appears to think along these lines.

Lionized early this year at the Asian-African meeting in Indonesia, Nasser brought back with him a conviction that the West stood only for colonialism and imperialism and against self-determnation. The Arab world still had to be "liberated."

Nasser outlined an ambitious program. Among his goals was the foundation, in his own words, of "the nucleus of a heavy war industry" along with a revolution of production" to make Egypt the superior of Israel.

"We believe," said Nasser to what must have been the satisfaction of Moscow, "there can be no freedom of dignity under the shadow of imperialism. It is therefore inevitable for us to fight imperialism."

THE ASIAN-ARAB bloc in the Indonesian meeting, said Nasser, was "free of imperialistic purposes." Therefore Egypt would cooperate with that bloc.

By implication, imperialism was identified with the West, and West, — particularly the United States — with Israel, which Nasser has pledged to wipe off the map.

As matters stand western observers believe Israel could stand off her Arab neighbors again, and in a showdown war actually drive them back and gain territory. But if the Arab nations get modern equipment and have the trained personnel to use it, a war might be a different story.

And such a war could well burst out beyond the confines of the Arab Middle East.

Daily Freeman Newsboys Given Contest Awards

Ten Kingston Daily Freeman newspaperboys won special prizes in the first annual "Good Luck Clover" Newspaperboy Contest sponsored by Lever Brothers Co. They were:

Robert Sheeley, 224 Main street; Norman Heppner, 82 Abruyn street; Lewis E. Casey, Jr., 2 Hilton Place; Robert G. Bogart, 27 Harding avenue; David Gibbs, 98 Clifton avenue; Robert North, 154 Lucas avenue; Clifton Quick, 60 Harwich street; Richard Whiston, 135 Linderman avenue; Robert F. Whittaker, 257 Greenkill avenue and Newton Whispell, 159 Ten Broeck avenue.

THE ENTERPRISING carrier boys won their prizes by asking their customers to save the green four-leaf clovers from packages of Good Luck margarine.

They emerge as prize winners from among the 120,273 newspaperboys, representing 650 newspapers, who participated in the contest.

Each newspaperboy who collected enough clovers to become eligible for any of the 53 de luxe prizes—ranging from television sets and bicycles to encyclopedias and movie cameras—made his selections from a master list. So ingenious were some of the boys that they were able to qualify for as many as six or seven different prizes.

TEN NATIONAL winners, who collected the most clovers in the contest, were awarded $1,000 scholarships to the U. S. college of their choice.

Plattekill

Thanksgiving Clothing Collection Drive Set

Plattekill, Nov. 15—The Rev. Joseph F. Blake, pastor of New Paltz parish area, announced the participation and support of the ninth annual Thanksgiving clothing collection.

This once-a-year appeal will benefit millions of people scattered throughout 41 countries overseas who are still homeless and destitute said Father Blake on Sunday.

"Many of them are refugees who fled their native land leaving all their possessions behind them and with the approach of winter, warm clothing is urgently needed," said Father Blake.

People of all faiths desiring to contribute to the drive are being asked to donate used but wearable clothing which will be distributed free to those in need, without regard to race, color or creed.

In the New York Archdiocese an envelope collection will be taken up in all Catholic churches on Nov. 20.

Spiritual Mission Sessions Are Planned

Plattekill, Nov. 15—The Rev. Joseph F. Blake announced that a spiritual mission has been arranged for Catholics and non-Catholics in the New Paltz area parish.

All who are seriously interested in understanding supernatural realities in short concentrated talks are welcome to attend. There is no charge.

The series of addresses will be given on seven consecutive evenings starting at 8 o'clock with a question box period.

"This is an opportunity to talk over special doubts or problems with a visiting mission priest who is experienced in dealing with such things," said Father Blake.

"Your interest and application to make this spiritual mission is encouraged," said the pastor.

The mission schedule is as follows:

The Rev. Robert O'Connell is mission master at Our Lady of Fatima Chapel in Plattekill from Dec. 4-11.

The Rev. John McCarthy will conduct at St. Charles' Church in Gardiner from Dec. 4-11.

In St. Joseph's Church, New Paltz the mission has been arranged from Nov. 27 to Dec. 4, with the Rev. Vincent Meany as the spiritual mission guest priest.

The visiting mission priests are affiliated with the New York Apostolate Mission Band.

Father Blake announced that a children's mission will be arranged in the very near future.

Stamp Collection Brings $225,330

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—The first of 16 auctions to dispose of a huge stamp collection put together by the late Alfred H. Caspary brought in $225,330.

Bernard Harmer of H. R. Harmer, Inc., which is handling the sales, said yesterday's opening auction resulted in "the highest total for one day's auction ever realized."

The entire collection, one of the greatest ever assembled, is expected to net more than two million dollars in the series of auctions which will be held at intervals over the next two years. Caspary was a stock broker.

THE HIGHEST PRICE paid for a single item was $14,000 for a Baltimore 10-cent printed stamp on a letter. Next highest was $11,000 for an Annapolis, Md., five-cent hand stamp on an envelope.

These stamps are known as postmaster's provisionals and were issued by individual postmasters before the federal government began printing stamps in 1847.

A Lockport, N. Y., five-cent stamp brought $5,500. It was issued on March 18, 1846, by Postmaster Hezekiah W. Scovell and is the only one of its kind. It consists of a red postmark with Lockport spelled around the upper frame and the word paid underneath. The figure 5 was written in black ink by the postmaster.

All three of these top-priced stamps were bought by the Raymond H. Weill Co. of New Orleans, which bought about half of the items sold.

The next series of auctions will be held from Jan. 16 to 18.

Commercial Plane Makes Flight Record

Denver, Nov. 16 (AP)—United Air Lines reported one of its planes established a commercial flight record of 2 hours, 25 minutes from Denver to Milwaukee yesterday.

A spokesman for UAL said the previous scheduled record for the 933-mile flight was 3 hours, 20 minutes. He said the new record was set by a DC6 piloted by Capt. W. J. Piccune of New York city.

Piccune took off from Denver at 12:32 p. m. (MST). He flew at 19,000 feet and said he averaged about 375 MPH with strong tail winds.

Airplanes were used to spray more than 1,600,000 acres in the western states for grasshopper control in 1955.

More Comfort Wearing FALSE TEETH

Here is a pleasant way to overcome loose plate discomfort. FASTEETH, an improved powder, sprinkled on upper and lower plates holds them firmer so that they feel more comfortable. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today at any drug counter.

Leather Floor

Leather floor tiles, up to now in the experimental stage, are expected to emerge into private life. The makers say this new floor covering resists scuffs, noise, dents, stains, wear and foot fatigue.

NOW—"REAR-VIEW" SUNGLASSES—The rear-view sunglasses shown above won an award in an annual versatility-in-design-and-use contest sponsored by Max Hess, Jr., Allentown, Pa., department store head. New feature is a removable slide-in mirror for each lens. Idea is they can be used by motorists to check rear conditions or by mothers, watching children at play.

Daily Freeman Newsboys Given Contest Awards

Ten Kingston Daily Freeman newspaperboys won special prizes in the first annual "Good Luck Clover" Newspaperboy Contest sponsored by Lever Brothers Co.

They were:

Robert Sheeley, 224 Main street; Norman Heppner, 82 Abruyn street; Lewis E. Casey, Jr., 2 Hilton Place; Robert G. Bogart, 27 Harding avenue; David Gibbs, 98 Clifton avenue; Robert North, 154 Lucas avenue; Clifton Quick, 60 Harwich street; Richard Whiston, 135 Linderman avenue; Robert F. Whittaker, 257 Greenkill avenue and Newton Whispell, 159 Ten Broeck avenue.

THE ENTERPRISING carrier boys won their prizes by asking their customers to save the green four-leaf clovers from packages of Good Luck margarine.

They emerge as prize winners from among the 120,273 newspaperboys, representing 650 newspapers, who participated in the contest.

Each newspaperboy who collected enough clovers to become eligible for any of the 53 de luxe prizes—ranging from television sets and bicycles to encyclopedias and movie cameras—made his selections from a master list. So ingenious were some of the boys that they were able to qualify for as many as six or seven different prizes.

TEN NATIONAL winners, who collected the most clovers in the contest, were awarded $1,000 scholarships to the U. S. college of their choice.

Plattekill

Thanksgiving Clothing Collection Drive Set

Plattekill, Nov. 15—The Rev. Joseph F. Blake, pastor of New Paltz parish area, announced the participation and support of the ninth annual Thanksgiving clothing collection.

This once-a-year appeal will benefit millions of people scattered throughout 41 countries overseas who are still homeless and destitute said Father Blake on Sunday.

"Many of them are refugees who fled their native land leaving all their possessions behind them and with the approach of winter, warm clothing is urgently needed," said Father Blake.

People of all faiths desiring to contribute to the drive are being asked to donate used but wearable clothing which will be distributed free to those in need, without regard to race, color or creed.

In the New York Archdiocese an envelope collection will be taken up in all Catholic churches on Nov. 20.

Spiritual Mission Sessions Are Planned

Plattekill, Nov. 15—The Rev. Joseph F. Blake announced that a spiritual mission has been arranged for Catholics and non-Catholics in the New Paltz area parish.

All who are seriously interested in understanding supernatural realities in short concentrated talks are welcome to attend. There is no charge.

The series of addresses will be given on seven consecutive evenings starting at 8 o'clock with a question box period.

"This is an opportunity to talk over special doubts or problems with a visiting mission priest who is experienced in dealing with such things," said Father Blake.

"Your interest and application to make this spiritual mission is encouraged," said the pastor.

The mission schedule is as follows:

The Rev. Robert O'Connell is mission master at Our Lady of Fatima Chapel in Plattekill from Dec. 4-11.

The Rev. John McCarthy will conduct at St. Charles' Church in Gardiner from Dec. 4-11.

In St. Joseph's Church, New Paltz the mission has been arranged from Nov. 27 to Dec. 4, with the Rev. Vincent Meany as the spiritual mission guest priest.

The visiting mission priests are affiliated with the New York Apostolate Mission Band.

Father Blake announced that a children's mission will be arranged in the very near future.

Keep Baby Dry

It is a good idea to keep disposable diapers on hand for times when your regular supply is still damp or the diaper service is not on time. The throw-away-kind are pleasantly scented, easy to use and very absorbent.

Stamp Collection Brings $225,330

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—The first of 16 auctions to dispose of a huge stamp collection put together by the late Alfred H. Caspary brought in $225,330.

Bernard Harmer of H. R. Harmer, Inc., which is handling the sales, said yesterday's opening auction resulted in "the highest total for one day's auction ever realized."

The entire collection, one of the greatest ever assembled, is expected to net more than two million dollars in the series of auctions which will be held at intervals over the next two years. Caspary was a stock broker.

THE HIGHEST PRICE paid for a single item was $14,000 for a Baltimore 10-cent printed stamp on a letter. Next highest was $11,000 for an Annapolis, Md., five-cent hand stamp on an envelope.

These stamps are known as postmaster's provisionals and were issued by individual postmasters before the federal government began printing stamps in 1847.

A Lockport, N. Y., five-cent stamp brought $5,500. It was issued on March 18, 1846, by Postmaster Hezekiah W. Scovell and is the only one of its kind. It consists of a red postmark with Lockport spelled around the upper frame and the word paid underneath. The figure 5 was written in black ink by the postmaster.

All three of these top-priced stamps were bought by the Raymond H. Weill Co. of New Orleans, which bought about half of the items sold.

The next series of auctions will be held from Jan. 16 to 18.

Commercial Plane Makes Flight Record

Denver, Nov. 16 (AP)—United Air Lines reported one of its planes established a commercial flight record of 2 hours, 25 minutes from Denver to Milwaukee yesterday.

A spokesman for UAL said the previous scheduled record for the 933-mile flight was 3 hours, 20 minutes. He said the new record was set by a DC6 piloted by Capt. W. J. Piccune of New York city.

Piccune took off from Denver at 12:32 p. m. (MST). He flew at 19,000 feet and said he averaged about 375 MPH with strong tail winds.

Airplanes were used to spray more than 1,600,000 acres in the western states for grasshopper control in 1955.

Saugerties Radio Station Will Open Late This Winter

A new mobile-type radio station with a coverage of approximately 2,500 miles and a half million people will begin operation late this winter, Richard Horan, an official of the Skylark Broadcasting Corp., told the Lions Club at its regular weekly meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Horan said the new station, broadcasting on 920 kilocycles, "about the middle of the dial," would list Saugerties as its home. Transmitter for the new station will be located about midway between Kingston and Saugerties.

HE TOLD the Lions that the station would cover the Hudson Valley from Albany to Newburgh and from Catskill to the Berkshires. The broadcast will be "directional." That is, the signal will be beamed up and down the valley in a north-south direction.

The new station, which will open about the middle of February, will be independent (not affiliated with a particular network), and will offer a basic policy of music and news, working as much as possible on a community level, Mr. Horan said. The station will have wire services and will cover any important network story, such as a speech by the President, etc.

HE SAID the company had stock for sale and would be glad to discuss the matter with anyone interested.

Officers of the new company are John Linker of Mt. Marion, president, Mr. Horan, vice-president and Frank Campochiaro, secretary-treasurer.

Six Hunters Found, Nine Await Rescue

Ogden, Utah, Nov. 16 (AP)—Six Idaho hunters trapped by a sudden snowstorm were found yesterday but nine others in Utah still awaited rescue.

The nine hunters were stranded in a forest service ranger station east of here in northern Utah's Wasatch Mountains. A plane dropped bed rolls and food yesterday and a snowmobile was expected to bring them out today.

Sub-zero temperatures followed the storm which hit northern Utah and eastern Idaho Sunday and Monday.

Three Idaho hunters were found early yesterday. Then later in the day a pair of cowhands found the others in an abandoned ranchhouse about 22 miles southeast of Idaho Falls.

Steel Shortage Worsens

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—For some consumers, procurement of hard-to-get steel has now become "the worst nightmare since the Korean war," The Iron Age, national metalworking weekly, said today. The scramble for steel by manufacturers has become a grim life-or-death struggle, the magazine added. It reported as follows: The situation is getting worse despite everything the mills are doing to step up production. Companies, large and small, are compelled to get steel wherever they can—by high-cost conversion, buying from so-called steel brokers and making barter deals.

Brothers Suffocate

Allentown, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP)—Two brothers, aged 6 and 8, suffocated accidentally Monday in a burning shack, an autopsy has disclosed. The structure was used as a clubhouse by teenagers. Fire Chief Walter J. Flores said yesterday there were no signs of foul play. Flores said the boys, William Stengele, 8, and his brother, David, 6, apparently climbed in through a hole in the roof. Somehow, the fire started and the boys were unable to get out since the door was padlocked.

Closes in Blockade

Jerusalem, Israel, Nov. 16 (AP)—Egypt has closed in her blockade of Israel to within a mile and a half of the southern Negev port of Eilat, Israeli sources said today. All Israeli shipping to and from the east now is completely cut off. Air transit to the east also is blocked and the only air or sealane for commerce is across the Mediterranean to the West.

Volunteer Founder Dies

San Jose, Calif., Nov. 16 (AP)—Col. Christopher Herron Sr., 91, one of the founders of the Volunteers of America, died yesterday. He was the last survivor of a group of 19 led by Ballington Booth, son of the founder of the Salvation Army, who left the parent body and established the Volunteers of America in Buffalo, N. Y., in 1896. Herron was active in the work at Los Angeles until two years ago.

Saugerties

Saugerties, Nov. 15—The Parent-Teacher Association of the Saugerties Central School will have as its topic the "Centralized School Today" at a meeting to be held this Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium. Under the direction of Miss Grace Anderson, chairman, two films concerning centralized schools will be presented. There will also be a discussion concerning centralization in this area. The public is cordially invited to attend the meeting.

Why We Say--

A COAT HANGER: In Italy many years ago this part of the modern home had an important use. It was the place that mantles (outer garments) were hung on rainy days to dry by the fire.

Nine Men From County Inducted

Three men were inducted by local draft board 18 (city) and six by local board 19 (county) Nov. 10, it was announced today.

The city board inducted Robert S. Yallum, 79 Highland avenue into the U. S. Army and Allen J. Marcus, 71 Green street, and Louis H. Black, 32 Chambers street, into the U. S. Navy.

Inducted into the army by local board 19 were Gerard J. Kiley, 3318 Pearsall avenue, Bronx; James R. Smith, 3 Enderly Lane, Ellenville, and Clifford O'Sullivan, 16 Yahara avenue, Rutherford, N. J.

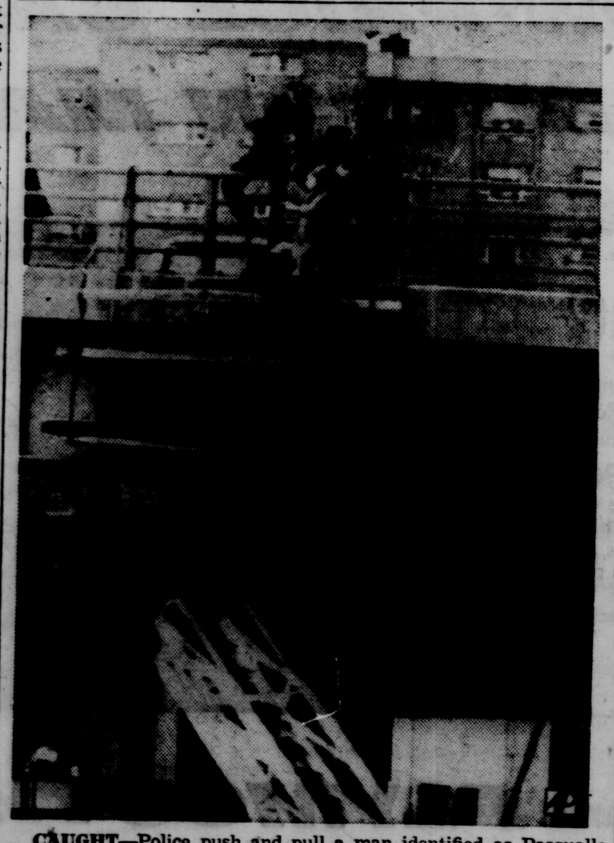
The county board also inducted into the navy, Joseph Como, 939 Hemlock avenue, Brooklyn; Abraham Silverman, 16 Backman street, Ellenville, and Frank G. Lapo, Woodstock.

West to Be Colder

Washington, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Weather Bureau predicted yesterday it will be colder than usual for the season during the next 30 days in most of the area west of the Mississippi river. The bureau's 30-day outlook added that the biggest dips from normal temperatures would be the northwest. "Above normal temperatures are indicated in Florida and northern New England and near normal elsewhere," the bureau said.

Gainesville Man Killed

Batavia, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—Oscar J. Spencer, 35, of Gainesville was killed last night when he was thrown from his automobile after a collision with a truck on Route 20 south of here.



CAUGHT—Police push and pull a man identified as Pasqualle Ventura, 48, from a painter's scaffold slung from Buffalo Skyway Nov. 15 after getting close to him on a 40-foot perch by offering him a cigarette. The end of a fire ladder appears below them. Ventura was charged with violation of the State Health Law forbidding attempted suicide. (AP Wirephoto)

DEDICATE MOTHER CABRINI SHRINE—The shrine of Mother St. Frances Xavier Cabrini at West Park was dedicated at ceremonies held Sunday on the grounds of the school and orphanage the Italian saint founded years ago for small girls. Seated, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Stephen P. Connelly, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, this city, who blessed the shrine. Standing (l-r) the Rev. Vincent T. Meehan, school chaplain; the Rev. James A. Dunnigan, pastor of St. Ann's Church, Sawkill; County Judge William A. Kelly, guest speaker and William F. Edelmuth, chairman of arrangements. (Reynolds photo).

Racial Meeting Is Hit by Tear Gas

Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 16 (AP)—A tear gas bomb has added to the racial tension over school integration here.

The bomb was dropped by an unknown person at a meeting last night of the Chattanooga school board and its new interracial advisory committee.

The meeting was scheduled to consider procedure for conducting public hearings on the Supreme Court's decision banning racial discrimination in public education. The school board announced in October that it would comply with the decree but said intergration would not come this year.

More than 150 persons at last night's meeting became so emotional that committee chairman Raymond Witt called for adjournment before any plans could be made.

After the motion to adjourn was made, an unknown spectator broke a tear gas bomb, forcing evacuation of the room and leaving virtually everyone present with smarting eyes.

Richard Stanfield, a spectator, was temporarily overcome by the fumes and had to be helped outside. He said an elderly Negro woman dropped the bomb.

Police were sent to the school to investigate the incident.

Crash Probe Ends

Denver, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) says it will make a public report within two months on the nation's worst commercial air lines disaster—a crash in Wyoming that claimed 66 lives. The board concluded a two-day hearing on the crash yesterday. Left unanswered was why two of United Air Lines' top pilots were over forbidden territory Oct. 6 when the plane smashed into 12,005-foot Medicine Bow Peak.

Why We Say--

A COAT HANGER: In Italy many years ago this part of the modern home had an important use. It was the place that mantles (outer garments) were hung on rainy days to dry by the fire.

Three men were inducted by local draft board 18 (city) and six by local board 19 (county) Nov. 10, it was announced today.

The city board inducted Robert S. Yallum, 79 Highland avenue into the U. S. Army and Allen J. Marcus, 71 Green street, and Louis H. Black, 32 Chambers street, into the U. S. Navy.

Inducted into the army by local board 19 were Gerard J. Kiley, 3318 Pearsall avenue, Bronx; James R. Smith, 3 Enderly Lane, Ellenville, and Clifford O'Sullivan, 16 Yahara avenue, Rutherford, N. J.

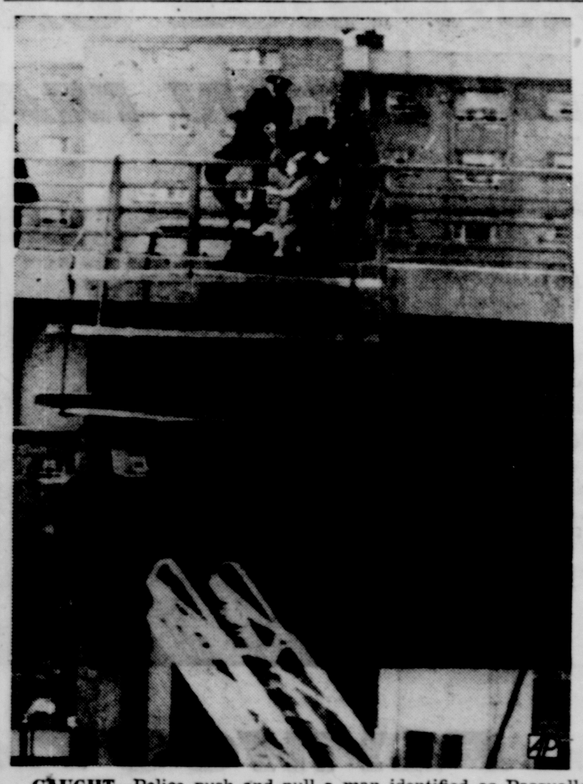
The county board also inducted into the navy, Joseph Como, 939 Hemlock avenue, Brooklyn; Abraham Silverman, 16 Backman street, Ellenville, and Frank G. Lapo, Woodstock.

West to Be Colder

Washington, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Weather Bureau predicted yesterday it will be colder than usual for the season during the next 30 days in most of the area west of the Mississippi river. The bureau's 30-day outlook added that the biggest dips from normal temperatures would be the northwest. "Above normal temperatures are indicated in Florida and northern New England and near normal elsewhere," the bureau said.

Gainesville Man Killed

Batavia, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—Oscar J. Spencer, 35, of Gainesville was killed last night when he was thrown from his automobile after a collision with a truck on Route 20 south of here.



CAUGHT—Police push and pull a man identified as Pasqualle Ventura, 48, from a painter's scaffold slung from Buffalo Skyway Nov. 15 after getting close to him on a 40-foot perch by offering him a cigarette. The end of a fire ladder appears below them. Ventura was charged with violation of the State Health Law forbidding attempted suicide. (AP Wirephoto)

DEDICATE MOTHER CABRINI SHRINE—The shrine of Mother St. Frances Xavier Cabrini at West Park was dedicated at ceremonies held Sunday on the grounds of the school and orphanage the Italian saint founded years ago for small girls. Seated, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Stephen P. Connelly, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, this city, who blessed the shrine. Standing (l-r) the Rev. Vincent T. Meehan, school chaplain; the Rev. James A. Dunnigan, pastor of St. Ann's Church, Sawkill; County Judge William A. Kelly, guest speaker and William F. Edelmuth, chairman of arrangements. (Reynolds photo).

Racial Meeting Is Hit by Tear Gas

Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 16 (AP)—A tear gas bomb has added to the racial tension over school integration here.

The bomb was dropped by an unknown person at a meeting last night of the Chattanooga school board and its new interracial advisory committee.

The meeting was scheduled to consider procedure for conducting public hearings on the Supreme Court's decision banning racial discrimination in public education. The school board announced in October that it would comply with the decree but said intergration would not come this year.

More than 150 persons at last night's meeting became so emotional that committee chairman Raymond Witt called for adjournment before any plans could be made.

After the motion to adjourn was made, an unknown spectator broke a tear gas bomb, forcing evacuation of the room and leaving virtually everyone present with smarting eyes.

Richard Stanfield, a spectator, was temporarily overcome by the fumes and had to be helped outside. He said an elderly Negro woman dropped the bomb.

Police were sent to the school to investigate the incident.

Crash Probe Ends

Denver, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) says it will make a public report within two months on the nation's worst commercial air lines disaster—a crash in Wyoming that claimed 66 lives. The board concluded a two-day hearing on the crash yesterday. Left unanswered was why two of United Air Lines' top pilots were over forbidden territory Oct. 6 when the plane smashed into 12,005-foot Medicine Bow Peak.

P-TA Group Discusses Child Safety Measures

Woodstock, Nov. 15—Measures for the increased safety and welfare of the Woodstock School children were undertaken at the meeting of the Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association meeting held at the school Thursday night. During dismissal time the problems of parking and children crossing the street have given rise to considerable alarm. Parents are therefore asked to escort their children when crossing the road and to disperse as soon as possible.

Constable Charles Farley will ride on the school bus and direct traffic during the next month. Mrs. Donald Twine suggested that two definite cross walks be designated for both parents and children, eliminating the scattered and dangerous crossing. This suggestion will be presented to the school board for prompt action.

Fire drills conducted in the school have proved that the entire building can be evacuated in 92 seconds.

The suggestion that a school paper be instituted was approved and the P-TA will now move to staff the publication. There is need for editorial help and volunteers may call James Kinns.

Earl F. Soper, superintendent of schools for the city of Kingston, spoke on education in the elementary schools.

The P-TA sponsored monthly dances met with enthusiasm from about 90 happy boys and girls it was reported. The community is asked to help support these events and the P-TA would like to express appreciation to those who have contributed.

There are close to 250 parents whose children attend the Woodstock School and the P-TA membership is now only 109. The dues are used for the children and the P-TA helps the child, the school and the community. Parents are urged to join now.

Ten Members Inducted In New Brownie Troop

Woodstock, Nov. 15—The 10 members of Brownie Troop 95, the newest troop to be formed in Woodstock, were invested in a ceremony conducted by their leader, Mrs. David Carlson, and assistant leader, Mrs. Kermit Schwarz at the Woodstock School, Thursday afternoon. About 20 parents, relatives and friends were present.

The troop members invested were: Barbara Carlson, Donna Coutu, Linda Cousins, Lindy Klementis, Debbie Kramer, Emmy Gibson, Kim Chalmers, Geraldine Jerominek, Jane Wilson and Jacqueline Thibaut.

Refreshments were served following the ceremony by members of the troop committee. They were Mrs. Peggy Jerominek, who presented the troop inscribed "Brownie Troop 95" with a large cake on which was and the Scout insignia; Mrs. Abe Kramer, Mrs. Irving Cousins and Mrs. Richard E. Thibaut Jr.

Artists Paintings At New York Exhibit

Woodstock, Nov. 15—An exhibition of paintings by Ralph Rosenborg, Woodstock artist, which opened at the Delacorte Gallery, 822 Madison avenue, New York, was reviewed in the New York Herald Tribune, Saturday, Nov. 12, as follows: "Ralph Rosenborg, painter of landscape impressions, is holding a modest but handsome exhibition of his work at the Delacorte Gallery. His subjects are generally material combinations of objects, such as sea and sky, boat and sea and night and sea —as the artist himself phrases them. But their substance is far from material and like the work of romantic colorists, poetic. Dark and smooth, his paintings are more fluid, more spontaneous now than when Rosenborg exhibited formerly. His method is thus varied though his subject matter and interpretration both continue distinctly personal."

The exhibition will be on view through November 30.

Union Thanksgiving Services Set Nov. 20

Woodstock, Nov. 15—The congregation of the Woodstock Reformed Church will join those of the Methodist and Lutheran Churches in a union Thanksgiving service of worship on Sunday, Nov. 20, in the Lutheran Church at 11 a. m. The session of the Sunday school will be held at the usual hour in the Reformed Church at 9:30 a. m. The Christian Endeavor will meet in the church at 7:30 p. m.

On Thanksgiving Day at 10 a. m. there will be a half hour service of praise and thanksgiving in the Reformed Church.

On Sunday, Nov. 27, Paul Arnold of Gardiner will be in the pulpit with the minister at the 11 a. m. service. He will tell of the work of the African Mission of the Reformed Church in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, where he was located a number of years as a missionary.

The ladies of the church are arranging a fish and chips supper in the church basement on Thursday, Dec. 8 at 5:30 p. m. Reservations may be made through the purchase of tickets which may be secured from many of the members or through the Rev. Harvey I. Todd.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Shultis visited their daughter, Elva at Drew University, Madison, N. J. over the weekend and celebrated Elva's 17th birthday.

Mrs. Charles Bitzenhofer entertained 16 young people of the group of Ft. Washington Presbyterian Church, New York, over the weekend.

Double Jeopardy

Quincy, Ill. (AP)—Patrolman Don Boden and Clarence Wear were caught with a hot car on their hands when the squad car they were driving caught fire. Firemen of engine company No. 2 put out the fire and followed them just in case. Sure enough, the car caught fire again because of a short circuit in the wiring system and the fire lads extinguished the blaze a second time.

I was so attracted to the advertisement in the Saturday Evening Post of this week, that I have to pass it on to you.

Mrs. Kenik Found Dazed

New York, Nov. 16 (Special)—Mrs. Mary Kenik, 63, of North Front street, Kingston, was found wandering along 82nd street at Second avenue about 9 a. m. today and was taken to a nearby police station. Police who escorted the woman in a patrol car described Mrs. Kenik in a "dazed condition." Police contacted her daughter, Blanche Epstein of 172 Clinton avenue, Kingston, who said she would leave immediately for New York.

Busy Mother

Omaha (AP)—Mrs. Seward Hart was a great help to the PTA sponsoring the Franklin School carnival. Mother of three youngsters and home room mother for the kindergarten class, Mrs. Hart accepted the chore of calling other mothers for help on the carnival. She got half her calls completed one morning. Then she left for the hospital and gave birth to her fourth son. The next morning, with a telephone by her bedside, she resumed her PTA duties and finished calling the list.

Military Diplomat

Richmond, Va. (AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark made perfect score in diplomacy on a visit here. The retired military hero, now president of The Citadel in South Carolina, was asked by a reporter which school really ranked as the West Point of the South—The Citadel or Virginia Military Institute. "The Citadel is the West Point of the farther South," Clark replied. "I've served all over the world with VMI men and they are a fine group."

AMERICAN MENU

Ham Is Most Economical Meat Treat for Holiday

WITH ITS CRUSTY surface glistening brown, ham is a holiday headliner. Garnish with acorn squash.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Today's very low prices on hams and other pork cuts make this an economy choice for the holiday roast.

You get more ham meat for your money this season. One nationally famous packer is offering a ham with a newly patented process to provide pinker, jucier and leaner hams from the selected cuts which make up their top quality brand.

As a garnish for the Christmas ham, bake thick round slices of acorn squash, cooking extra squash for mashing, mixing with butter and brown sugar and spooning into the centers of the squash slices. This is a good day-before job. Refrigerate the slices after preparing and reheat the big day while the ham bakes.

You can serve the ham leftovers in a handsome party dish, Ham Mousse, accompanied by a horseradish whipped cream sauce.

Ham Mousse (Yield: 16 servings of ½ cup each)

One and three-quarters pounds cooked (6 cups) finely chopped ham, 2½ tablespoons gelatin, 2½ tablespoons cold water, 1 1/3 cups boiling water, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, few grains cayenne pepper, 1 1/3 cups whipping cream.

Combine gelatin in cold water. Add boiling water, mustard and cayenne. Cool. Whip cream until stiff. Combine cooled gelatin, ham and whipped cream. After dividing mixture into serving portions, chill until ready to serve.

The Mousse may be served in the following ways:

1. One-half cup mixture placed in paper muffin liners in muffin pans. If the number of pans is limited, the paper liners containing the mixture may be removed from the muffin pans after chilling until it is firm. When ready to serve, invert and remove paper.

2. One-half cup mixture placed directly into muffin pans (bottom oiled slightly).

3. Mixture spread in each of two oiled 8x9x2-inch pans. When ready to serve, cut each pan into 8 squares.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Fruit cup baked ham, parsley potatoes, special squash slices rye bread, butter or margarine, celery and cucumber sticks, ready-mix chocolate brownies, coffee, tea, milk.

Held for Blackmail

Lake Pleasant, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—A 23-year-old man was held in Hamilton county jail today on a charge of blackmail in connection with attempted extortion of $15,000 from a lumber dealer. State police said Jack Allyn Hammer of Wells had threatened the life of Oswald Bates, proprietor of the Adirondack Lumber Co. and his wife, Marguerite. Hammer was arrested in Wells yesterday. He waived examination when arraigned before Peace Justice William Vonderheide there and was ordered held for grand jury action.

New York, Nov. 16 (Special)—Mrs. Mary Kenik, 63, of North Front street, Kingston, was found wandering along 82nd street at Second avenue about 9 a. m. today and was taken to a nearby police station. Police who escorted the woman in a patrol car described Mrs. Kenik in a "dazed condition." Police contacted her daughter, Blanche Epstein of 172 Clinton avenue, Kingston, who said she would leave immediately for New York.

Busy Mother

Omaha (AP)—Mrs. Seward Hart was a great help to the PTA sponsoring the Franklin School carnival. Mother of three youngsters and home room mother for the kindergarten class, Mrs. Hart accepted the chore of calling other mothers for help on the carnival. She got half her calls completed one morning. Then she left for the hospital and gave birth to her fourth son. The next morning, with a telephone by her bedside, she resumed her PTA duties and finished calling the list.

Military Diplomat

Richmond, Va. (AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark made perfect score in diplomacy on a visit here. The retired military hero, now president of The Citadel in South Carolina, was asked by a reporter which school really ranked as the West Point of the South—The Citadel or Virginia Military Institute. "The Citadel is the West Point of the farther South," Clark replied. "I've served all over the world with VMI men and they are a fine group."

AMERICAN MENU

Ham Is Most Economical Meat Treat for Holiday

WITH ITS CRUSTY surface glistening brown, ham is a holiday headliner. Garnish with acorn squash.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Today's very low prices on hams and other pork cuts make this an economy choice for the holiday roast.

You get more ham meat for your money this season. One nationally famous packer is offering a ham with a newly patented process to provide pinker, jucier and leaner hams from the selected cuts which make up their top quality brand.

As a garnish for the Christmas ham, bake thick round slices of acorn squash, cooking extra squash for mashing, mixing with butter and brown sugar and spooning into the centers of the squash slices. This is a good day-before job. Refrigerate the slices after preparing and reheat the big day while the ham bakes.

You can serve the ham leftovers in a handsome party dish, Ham Mousse, accompanied by a horseradish whipped cream sauce.

Ham Mousse (Yield: 16 servings of ½ cup each)

One and three-quarters pounds cooked (6 cups) finely chopped ham, 2½ tablespoons gelatin, 2½ tablespoons cold water, 1 1/3 cups boiling water, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, few grains cayenne pepper, 1 1/3 cups whipping cream.

Combine gelatin in cold water. Add boiling water, mustard and cayenne. Cool. Whip cream until stiff. Combine cooled gelatin, ham and whipped cream. After dividing mixture into serving portions, chill until ready to serve.

The Mousse may be served in the following ways:

1. One-half cup mixture placed in paper muffin liners in muffin pans. If the number of pans is limited, the paper liners containing the mixture may be removed from the muffin pans after chilling until it is firm. When ready to serve, invert and remove paper.

2. One-half cup mixture placed directly into muffin pans (bottom oiled slightly).

3. Mixture spread in each of two oiled 8x9x2-inch pans. When ready to serve, cut each pan into 8 squares.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Fruit cup baked ham, parsley potatoes, special squash slices rye bread, butter or margarine, celery and cucumber sticks, ready-mix chocolate brownies, coffee, tea, milk.

Held for Blackmail

Lake Pleasant, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—A 23-year-old man was held in Hamilton county jail today on a charge of blackmail in connection with attempted extortion of $15,000 from a lumber dealer. State police said Jack Allyn Hammer of Wells had threatened the life of Oswald Bates, proprietor of the Adirondack Lumber Co. and his wife, Marguerite. Hammer was arrested in Wells yesterday. He waived examination when arraigned before Peace Justice William Vonderheide there and was ordered held for grand jury action.

Valley Feed Dealers Will Meet Nov. 22

Hudson feed dealers will attend a region Feed Dealers' Conference Tuesday, Nov. 22 at 1:30 p. m., at "The Kitchen" on Route 9 at Hyde Park to obtain the latest information about livestock and poultry feeds and feeding. Associate county agricultural agent, Robert D. Guzewich indicated that the conference is one of seven regional conferences being sponsored by the New York State Extension Service this fall.

Professor F. W. Hill, and S. T. Slack from the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell will attend the conferences and discuss the latest discoveries and other research information with the dealers. Dr. C. I. Angstrom, poultry pathologist at Kingston will present the up-to-date picture on poultry vaccines, water sprays and dust treatments.

Topics scheduled for the get-together include: Antibiotics in poultry feeding, feeding value of grain and roughage in varying ratios for dairy cattle and energy value of poultry feedstuffs. Other important information will also be presented.

Bulk feed handling will be discussed by a panel of Hudson Valley feed dealers following a six o'clock dinner at "The Kitchen." Nelson MacElhenney of Gardiner will present the experience of his feed store in handling bulk feed in Ulster county.

Ulster county dealers will also have an opportunity during part of the program to participate in a question and answer period, Mr. Guzewich stated.

Shokan

Shokan, Nov. 15—William Jordan, 83, Brodhead retired farmer who died Friday and whose funeral and burial took place at Olive Bridge Sunday afternoon, was well known to older residents of the north reservoir country. He was one of six children of Mr. and Mrs. William Jordan, early settlers along the road to High Point. He and his brother, Frank, had resided on Route 28-A since the family homestead was sold several years ago.

Mrs. Wm. J. Lees of Inwood, L. I. and local property owner, motored here Saturday and spent the day at her Ridge road place. She found several large-calibre bullet holes in the windows of her cottage which is located in a weeded section north of the village. Mrs. Loos was accompanied by her niece, Carol Kelly, together with Robert and Irene Lilly and son, Bobby, all of Inwood.

The condition of Howard Brooks, former Shokan youth, is reported improved at a Boston hospital where he has been a patient for some time. Howard is the son of Mrs. Earl Elmendorf.

Callers here Friday included Mr. and Mrs. John Lennox of Delhi. John was brought up at Glenford, son of Sherman Lennox, well known town of Hurley storekeeper and farmer.

Our Old Timer while looking over some of his papers recently, came across informative data on nomenclature pertaining to this section: the Indian name was spelled 'Ashokant' by the early settlers, while Revolutionary War records corrupt the name Shokan to Saucon, Sahken, Shoheken and Shehokunk. The first post office in Olive was Shokan which for a brief period, a century or so ago, was changed to Caseville when the big Case tannery was operating in the old village.

Ted Ralph who with associates has a large tract of land near the pond over at Shady, was a Shokan caller Sunday. A former resident of the town of Saugerties, Ralph is now connected with one of the New York city TV studios.

John Valland of the reservoir road is currently employed in Kingston.

Illustrative of the severity of a recent windstorm up the line is the report that Ray Hawley, of Fergusonville, lost his entire herd of 35 cows when his barn collapsed from force of the gale. Hawley, who was milking, escaped when the building began to sway.

In some bridge hands the right play brings you success while the wrong play dooms you to failure. In other hands, however, the right play merely gives you a good chance for success. In today's hand the right play is even more subtle, for it merely makes matters difficult for an opponent.

West opens the five of hearts, and South wins with the nine. South leads a spade to the queen, and East wins with the ace. East returns the four of hearts, and West plays low in order to keep an entry to his long heart suit.

South now cashes the three top diamonds hoping for a 3-3 break. West must discard on the third diamond, of course, and this is where we see what kind of player West is.

When the hand was actually played, West was a pillar of society but, alas, no bridge player. He threw a small spade, on the theory that he could never win a trick with any of his spades but might need the clubs or hearts.

It wasn't hard for South to guess exactly why West threw a spade. Hence he got to dummy with the ace of clubs and returned the seven of spades. East played low, and South finessed the nine of spades. The finesse succeeded, of course, and South took his nine tricks with great relief.

It was true that West didn't need the spade. It was equally true that he couldn't afford to discard the spade without giving declarer valuable information.

A good player in the West seat would discard a low club instead of the low spade. It was dollars to doughnuts that East had the king of clubs since otherwise South would have bid more aggressively and would have started the clubs much earlier. Hence West could spare one club quite safely.

Without the encouragement of a spade discard from West, South might not risk the spade finesse. He might cash the king and jack of spades in the hope of dropping the ten. At worst, he is down only one; losing a finesse will probably lead to a three-trick set. Hence many a declarer will risk the finesse if West discards a spade but will otherwise not take this chance.

How to be sure you are making the best buy in a new truck

A new truck is an important investment. If you want to be sure you're getting the best buy, you've got to consider a lot of things: price, power, operating economy, good appearance—to mention only a few.

Take price, for instance. Wouldn't it help you to know that you can buy a Dodge for surprisingly little money? Could be you didn't know Dodge trucks cost less than most other makes.

Wouldn't it help you, too, to get the whole picture on truck power? The fact that Dodge Power-Dome V-8's outpower every other leading truck in the low- and medium-tonnage fields surely is important to your decision.

And there are other Dodge advantages you'll want to think about—like the business-building beauty of Forward Look styling, and the long life that spreads low initial cost over years of dependable service.

It all adds up to this: To be sure of your best truck buy, take a few minutes to talk to your Dodge dealer. Just a phone call will put the wheels in motion.

Snug re-liners can last from 2 to 6 months. Stays soft and pliable—does not harden and ruin plate. Peels right out when replacement is needed. No daily bother with adhesives. Get Snug brand Denture Cushions today! 2 liners for upper or lower plates $1.50. Money back if not satisfied. At all druggists.

How to be sure you are making the best buy in a new truck

A new truck is an important investment. If you want to be sure you're getting the best buy, you've got to consider a lot of things: price, power, operating economy, good appearance—to mention only a few.

Take price, for instance. Wouldn't it help you to know that you can buy a Dodge for surprisingly little money? Could be you didn't know Dodge trucks cost less than most other makes.

Wouldn't it help you, too, to get the whole picture on truck power? The fact that Dodge Power-Dome V-8's outpower every other leading truck in the low- and medium-tonnage fields surely is important to your decision.

And there are other Dodge advantages you'll want to think about—like the business-building beauty of Forward Look styling, and the long life that spreads low initial cost over years of dependable service.

It all adds up to this: To be sure of your best truck buy, take a few minutes to talk to your Dodge dealer. Just a phone call will put the wheels in motion.

Troop 16 Scouts Get Best Rating During Field Day

The floods of last month made necessary the postponement of the Kingston District Field Day at Zena and Forsyth Park was the scene of enthusiastic Boy Scout activity during the past weekend. Troop 16 of Stone Ridge earned the most points in competition with eight other Scout units in five events while an Explorer crew from Troop 26 in Port Ewen took first place in five events with two other Explorer units.

Results of the Scout Field events: Tent pitching, rated as good, Troops 5 and 16. Fire by flint and steel combined with string burning, excellent, Troop 12; good, Troops 5, 11, 26. Compass reading and pacing, excellent, Troops 3, 4, 26; good, Troop 16. Knot tying, excellent, Troops 12, 16; good, Troops 3, 6, 8. Nature scavenger hunt, excellent, Troop 16; good, Troop 3. The best possible score was 290. Troop 16 had 210 points. Troop 12 ranked second with 180, and Troop 26 with 160.

THE THREE Explorer crews were about even on their first four events which were log sawing, bow and drill fire lighting combined with water boiling, wood splitting, and pancake flipping. The real test was erection of a 10 foot signal tower within a time limit with correct lashings. Explorers from Troop 26 did the best job while Post 9 and Post 11 finished in that order.

At the evening campfire Scouts, Explorers and many adults gathered as Troop 12 presented the opening ceremony. It depicted how a young Indian was inducted into the tribe as a brave by the chief and his warriors in full regalia at the council fire. The scene then shifted to a boy, new in scouting, being welcomed to the troop by the scoutmaster and his investiture as a Tenderfoot Scout. Songs were then led by Bob Tremper, scoutmaster of Troop 11 and the clear, happy voices of scouts and scouters rang throughout the night air. Short skits and pantomimes were put on by Troops 3, 8, 12 and 16. After a few announcements the District Commissioner Edward Safford read the tabulated results of the day's field events. Bob Tremper led a few more quiet songs and then closed the Campfire Ceremony with the Scout Benediction.

THE FIELD EVENTS were judged by the Rip Van Winkle Council Executive George Dennis, District Commissioner Safford, and Neighborhood Commissioner Richard Waltman. Council Commissioner Sherwood Lasher was present at the campfire ceremony. The commissioner's staff is greatful for the cooperation given by the Kingston Lumber Company for providing the "regulation" lumber for the fire contests, from the Recreation Department for the use of the loudspeaker and from the Telephone Company for the pole, numerous stakes, and use of the two-man saw. All Scouts and Scout leaders are reminded at this time of the date set for the next monthly roundtable which will be held at the B'nai B'rith on Wall street Monday, Nov. 21, at 7:45 p. m. Each Scout unit is to have its advancement committee member present without fail.

Vacant Wilderness

Isle Royale, Mich. (AP)—This untouched wilderness — jutting out of blue Lake Superior—is one of the few public sites in this country where one can wander without tripping over beer cans and spotting cigarette butts. Instead the island's trails that wind through the primeval woods are littered with thimbleberries, clintonia, wild orchids and trillium. You don't see much of man because he's uncommon and most of the time is outnumbered by moose. For instance, only 2,830 people visited Isle Royale in 1952 while 41 million toured the entire national park system. But then, there isn't much to do. All you can do is pull 10-pound lake trout out of the ice clear water, hike along paths framed by stately pines and birches, look for greenstones along Lake Huron, watch an eagle soar above or a family of mink at your feet. The trip from Grand Portage, Minn., takes only a couple of hours. Available boats can carry only a few passengers per trip. And the island's two lodges can handle only 125 persons.

Nixons Vacationing At Florida Beach

West Palm Beach, Fla., Nov. 16 (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon arrived at Palm Beach International Airport last night and went at once to Delray Beach where, he said, he hopes to get in five days in the sun.

He and his wife came here from Washington. They will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Earl Wallace Jr.

Nixon said he was here on no particular mission but that he merely took advantage of an opportunity to get away from his official duties and would spend much of the time on the beach with "perhaps a little golf."

Columbus did not run into a full-scale hurricane until his second voyage to the West Indies, says the National Geographic Society.

Stein's to Open In New Store Here Tomorrow

Stein Stores, Inc., men's clothiers, now located at 299 Wall street, will open in their modern new store across the street, 296 Wall, tomorrow morning.

The new air-conditioned store, one of 75 Stein stores throughout the nation, will have approximately three times the space of the old store, Manager August Cohen said.

This will enable the store to offer "deep merchandising" to customers, thus assuring that every man can be satisfied in size, color and pattern, Mr. Cohen explained.

The store will be one of seven new stores opened by Stein's within the past three weeks.

Large show windows, several times the space in the old store, will be available. They will be paneled with a random driftwood pattern and illuminated with a completely new type of lighting, Mr. Cohen said.

Stocks, which include men's suits, topcoats, formal wear, slacks, sports and zipper jackets, etc., will be doubled and tripled in the new quarters.

Maxwell E. Gilman, Stein's public relations director, who was in Kingston yesterday, said the local store was the largest men's clothing chain in the city selling men's clothing only. The local store carries no haberdashery.

The new store will have fluorescent lighting, four individual dressing rooms, a large surplus stock room and tailor shop, an acoustic ceiling and bleached oak paneling. The floor has been completely retiled.

The new quarters were formerly part of the McCabe Restaurant and Bar.

Mr. Gilman said the staff of the store would be increased to insure the same courteous service to which Stein's customers have become accustomed.

All Stein merchandise is manufactured in Stein's own four large factories, which produce clothing sold only in Stein's stores, Mr. Gilman told The Freeman. "Therefore, quality and uniformity are controlled from fabric to final sale."

He explained that the store sold for cash only and made no deliveries, enabling it to operate at a much lower mark-up than stores offering these services. "Savings are reflected in low maker-to-wearer prices. Stein's large-scale operation enables them to take advantage of excellent buying opportunities at the piece-goods level.

"There is never a charge for alternations at Stein's. All alterations are made by factory-trained tailors equipped with the most modern facilities for turning out fine work at a pace that will please the man in a hurry to wear his purchase."

"Every purchase is backed by Stein's unconditional guarantee of satisfaction or money refunded."

RESOLUTION

MRS. MAE I. LOWERY was taken from our midst on October 7th, 1955. She and her family, for a great number of years was closely associated with THE ATHENS NATIONAL BANK, which was recently merged with THE NATIONAL COMMERCIAL BANK AND TRUST COMPANY OF ALBANY, NEW YORK. WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Postoffice Department has awarded a contract to the Utica firm of Bice & Baird for the architectural design of a new one-story postoffice building in Camden, N. Y.

The department announced the award yesterday for the building to be constructed by private capital on a government-owned site on Main street, between Mexico and Liberty streets.

The postoffice will make installment payments under the lease-purchase plan to acquire complete ownership.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Thompson K. Cassel, Newark, N. Y., applied to the communications commission yesterday for a new radio station, using 1420 kilocycles.

ROCK CITY FALLS, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Cottrell Paper Co. Inc. has bought the Fort Miller Pulp and Paper Co., from John Thorpe Feidt of Huntingdon Valley, Pa., for an undisclosed price.

Francis L. Harrington, general manager of Cottrell, announced the purchase yesterday. The mill at Fort Miller, about 10 miles south of Fort Edward, in Washington county, has been idle since the fall of 1954.

Harrington said that it would produce pulp for the mill in this Saratoga county community, which produces insulating paper products, but that no operations were planned before next spring.

Boy Scout News

A JOINT Court of Honor and parents night was conducted by Explorer Post 9 and Boy Scout Troop 9 of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer recently in the church meeting rooms.

The highlight of the Court of Honor ceremonies was the advancement in rank of Ronald Sahloff to Star Scout and Ronald Pope to Life Scout. Both are of Explorer Post 9.

Post 9 Explorers David Brown, Robert DuMond, Roland Pope, William Craft and Ronald Sahloff conducted the opening ceremony.

Scoutmaster William Daum and Assistant Scoutmaster Robert Campbell Jr. reported briefly on the Junior Leaders Training School and with several scouts assisting gave an exhibition of rope work.

The Court of Honor was conducted under the chairmanship of R. C. Gendreau Sr. with Explorer Committeeman John Sahloff and William Rylance and Scout Committeemen Walter Snyder, Robert Campbell Sr. and the Rev. David C. Gaise completing the membership of the Court.

AWARDS WERE presented as follows: Robert Campbell Jr., rowing and canoeing merit badge; David Brown, World Brotherhood, safety and camping merit badges; William Craft, life saving merit badge and Boy Scout life guard; David Rylance, canoeing and swimming merit badge; Jon Guido, masonry merit badge; Ronald Sahloff, Star Scout Rank and rowing merit badge and Ronald Pope, Life Scout rank and public speaking and rowing merit badges.

The Rev. Mr. Gaise spoke briefly on the future of the Redeemer Church Pack, Post and Troop.

Color slides of the Virgin Islands, Bermuda and Key West were shown by R. C. Gendreau Sr.

Refreshments were served by the Mother's Club, Mrs. Babette Pope, president.

Legion Women Award $200 to Tumor Clinic

Mrs. Pearl Smith of Marlborough, past county chairman of the American Legion Auxiliary of Ulster county, presented a check of $200 from the Ulster County Committee to the Ulster County Tumor Clinic, recently.

The check was received for the clinic by Mrs. Mae Matthews, secretary.

Kills Mother, Self

Bedminster, N. J., Nov. 15 (AP) —A 46-year-old man slew his mother with a .22-caliber pistol today and then took his own life, police said. The bodies of William Milnor III and his mother, Mrs. William Milnor Jr., 70, were found tonight in her home on Burnt Mills Road when a youth from next door arrived to pay a call. Somerset County Det. Sgt. John Opdyke said the woman was lying on the kitchen floor with two shots in her chest. The son was in a hallway which connects with an attached garage. He had one bullet in his chest and a .22-caliber pistol under his right hand, Opdyke said.

Soil Bank Is Urged by Wallace

Des Moines, Nov. 16 (AP) — Eighteen years ago Henry A. Wallace, then U. S. Secretary of Agriculture, said: "When the granary is full to overflowing it is time to start storing grain in the soil."

Recalling this statement last night, the former vice president urged federal adoption of the "soil bank" idea which he said was the normal outgrowth of the "ever-normal granary" and crop loan programs he originated when secretary of agriculture.

Wallace told the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation convention that "this program, expensive though it may be, must not be too little or too late."

"When the ever-normal granary is on the verge of becoming abnormal it is high time to formulate a really practical program for storing grain in the soil by means of growing grass and legumes on the diverted acres," he said.

Immunization Clinic

A clinic for immunizations against whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus and smallpox will be conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, 15 Main street, Saturday, Nov. 19 from 9:30 ao 11:30 a. m. Immunizations for whooping cough should be started at three months of age; diphtheria and tetanus at six months and smallpox vaccination some time during the first year of life. These clinics serve those who may not otherwise secure these immunizations or for referral of patients by their physician.

Father Quilty will tell of the way of life in Brazil and his experiences there.

Father Quilty was ordained June 21, 1951 at Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus, by His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman and sang his first solemn high Mass at St. Joseph's Church.

After a year in the Myron J. Michael School, he studied at St. Mary's College, North East, Pa., for six years. He completed another year of study at St. Mary's College, Ilchester, Md., and served at St. Mary's Church, Annapolis, Md., before leaving for Brazil.

The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting and refreshments will be served.

Hurley Unit Makes Plans for 1956

The Hurley Home Extension Service unit held its regular meeting on Thursday, November 10, and appointed a nominating committee to prepare the slate of officers for 1956. Mrs. George Brown and Mrs. Joseph Viano will serve on the committee.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Roy Mayes, president.

Plans were also made for the Christmas party to be held on December 8.

Miss Hazel Steed of the Ulster County TB and Health Association was present and explained the many activities of the association and also discussed mental health.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Henry Winkelmann and Mrs. Roy Mayes.

A food lesson on the use of Ulster county products will be given on Thursday at the Hurley Church at 10 a. m. with Mrs. George Brown as leader.

Birthday Party Held For Roger Hoornbeek

Roger S. Hoornbeek Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hoornbeek, celebrated his second birthday at his home in Kerhonkson November 12.

Those present were Linda and James Fischang, Ricky Roland, Myrna, Karen, Wayne and Russell Winchell, Ralph Van Kleeck, Sharon, Karen, Marylou and Wayne Gundberg and Randy Hoornbeek.

Present also were the Mmes. Roger Hoornbeek, Arthur Roland, Eric Gundberg, Henry Fischang Jr., Leighton Winchell and Mattie Myers.

Extension Service Council of Chairmen Meet in Kingston

The council of chairmen of the Ulster County Extension Service Association Home Demonstration Department met Thursday, Nov. 10, at the First Baptist Church Hall in Kingston. Mrs. Carl Dedy of Lomontville, chairman of the council presided. Mrs. George Sisti Jr. of Plattekill, vice-chairman of the council, reported on the membership. She urged the chairmen to get memberships into the office as soon as possible. Mrs. Catherine S. Cranston of Kingston, vice-chairman of the executive committee, announced the units winning the scrap-books awards: Wiltwyck first prize, Hurley second prize, Olive third prize.

The county home demonstration agents gave reports on the activities coming up in the near future. The chairmen were divided into groups and discussed the program for next year. The meeting adjourned at 12 p. m.

The following people attended the meeting: Mrs. Ira Ingram, Bloomingdale; Mrs. Thomas Powers, Clintondale; Mrs. Elliott Kanter and Mrs. Earl Haley, Ellenville; Mrs. Nicholas Buonfiglio, Flatbush; Mrs. Stern-Montagny, Forest Glen; Mrs. Valmore LeBel, Highland; Mrs. Roy Mayes, Hurley; Mrs. Warren Eckels, Hurley Heights; Mrs. Clifford Donohue, Kingston Day; Mrs. William Cranston, Kingston Evening; Mrs. Harold Winchell, Kripplebush; Mrs. Carl Dedy, Lomontville; Mrs. Fred Woolsey, Milton; Mrs. William Walsh, Mt. Voice of Democracy Finals Scheduled November 29 at Academy of St. Ursula

Committee chairman, Herbert H. Gindele, of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, announced today that the area finals for all school contestants in the Voice of Democracy Contest, will be held at the Academy of St. Ursula, November 29 at 1 p. m. Mr. Gindele further stated that names of the three judges will be announced next week as well as the five school winners, who will compete in the final area competition.

This is the ninth year the contest is being conducted and it is sponsored locally by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce and WKNY radio and TV. The Voice of Democracy is endorsed by the Office of Education, U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Nearly one million students, representing all 48 states, Hawaii, Alaska and the District of Columbia, are expected to participate this year. Schools participating in Ulster county are Kingston High, St. Ursula, Saugerties High, Onteora High and New Paltz High School. This is the largest number of schools in Ulster county that have ever joined in this nationwide project.

Chairman Gindele echoed the words of Dr. S. M. Brownell, Commissioner of Education, U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, in declaring, "There are no losers in the Voice of Democracy contest. The millions of young people who participate, gain by the experience of considering the values of our democratic form of government and by defining those ideals of freedom and initiative which have contributed to the greatness of our nation. Millions more who hear youth speaking for democracy take renewed faith in today's young people and in the destiny of America."

Rev. D. B. Quilty To Speak Thursday At Alumnae Meeting

REV. D. B. QUILTY

The Rev. Donald B. Quilty, CSsR, recently returned from Miranda, Mato Grosso, Brazil where he was assigned for two and one half years, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Benedictine Nurses Alumnae Association, Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Nurses' Residence.

Father Quilty will tell of the way of life in Brazil and his experiences there.

Father Quilty was ordained June 21, 1951 at Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus, by His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman and sang his first solemn high Mass at St. Joseph's Church.

After a year in the Myron J. Michael School, he studied at St. Mary's College, North East, Pa., for six years. He completed another year of study at St. Mary's College, Ilchester, Md., and served at St. Mary's Church, Annapolis, Md., before leaving for Brazil.

The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting and refreshments will be served.

Hurley Unit Makes Plans for 1956

The Hurley Home Extension Service unit held its regular meeting on Thursday, November 10, and appointed a nominating committee to prepare the slate of officers for 1956. Mrs. George Brown and Mrs. Joseph Viano will serve on the committee.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Roy Mayes, president.

Plans were also made for the Christmas party to be held on December 8.

Miss Hazel Steed of the Ulster County TB and Health Association was present and explained the many activities of the association and also discussed mental health.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Henry Winkelmann and Mrs. Roy Mayes.

A food lesson on the use of Ulster county products will be given on Thursday at the Hurley Church at 10 a. m. with Mrs. George Brown as leader.

Birthday Party Held For Roger Hoornbeek

Roger S. Hoornbeek Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hoornbeek, celebrated his second birthday at his home in Kerhonkson November 12.

Those present were Linda and James Fischang, Ricky Roland, Myrna, Karen, Wayne and Russell Winchell, Ralph Van Kleeck, Sharon, Karen, Marylou and Wayne Gundberg and Randy Hoornbeek.

Present also were the Mmes. Roger Hoornbeek, Arthur Roland, Eric Gundberg, Henry Fischang Jr., Leighton Winchell and Mattie Myers.

Extension Service Council of Chairmen Meet in Kingston

The council of chairmen of the Ulster County Extension Service Association Home Demonstration Department met Thursday, Nov. 10, at the First Baptist Church Hall in Kingston. Mrs. Carl Dedy of Lomontville, chairman of the council presided. Mrs. George Sisti Jr. of Plattekill, vice-chairman of the council, reported on the membership. She urged the chairmen to get memberships into the office as soon as possible. Mrs. Catherine S. Cranston of Kingston, vice-chairman of the executive committee, announced the units winning the scrap-books awards: Wiltwyck first prize, Hurley second prize, Olive third prize.

The county home demonstration agents gave reports on the activities coming up in the near future. The chairmen were divided into groups and discussed the program for next year. The meeting adjourned at 12 p. m.

The following people attended the meeting: Mrs. Ira Ingram, Bloomingdale; Mrs. Thomas Powers, Clintondale; Mrs. Elliott Kanter and Mrs. Earl Haley, Ellenville; Mrs. Nicholas Buonfiglio, Flatbush; Mrs. Stern-Montagny, Forest Glen; Mrs. Valmore LeBel, Highland; Mrs. Roy Mayes, Hurley; Mrs. Warren Eckels, Hurley Heights; Mrs. Clifford Donohue, Kingston Day; Mrs. William Cranston, Kingston Evening; Mrs. Harold Winchell, Kripplebush; Mrs. Carl Dedy, Lomontville; Mrs. Fred Woolsey, Milton; Mrs. William Walsh, Mt. Marion; Mrs. Wallace Pallen, New Hurley; Mrs. Fred DuBois Jr., and Mrs. Charles Deyo, New Paltz; Mrs. Robert Baker, Plank Road; Mrs. George Sisti, Plattekill; Mrs. Frank Bell and Mrs. Charles Montafia, Port Ewen; Mrs. Guy Axtell, Saugerties; Mrs. George Topple, Saxton; Mrs. Merritt Kiff, West Hurley; Mrs. H. van Demark, Wiltwyck; Mrs. Emily Harrington, Woodstock; Mrs. George Schick, Yeagerville.

The first county-wide meeting on Let's Know Our Foreign Neighbors, sponsored by the Ulster County Extension Service Association Home Demonstration Department was held Thursday November 10 at the First Baptist Church Hall in Kingston.

William Lima, from Nigeria, was the speaker at this meeting. He told of his country and customs of his people. The meeting opened with the showing of two films on Africa which gave those present an opportunity to see the habits and customs of the people of Nigeria. Mr. Lima brought a beautiful exhibit of leather goods and other products which his country exports. At the present time Mr. Lima is studying in this country completing his doctor's degree. He expects to return to Nigeria next year and help to develop a new government. Mr. Lima was dressed in native costume and answered many questions asked by those present.

no body is smoother than the body that comes out of a Sardo bath

What is Sardo? It's a new formula, just developed by a chemist, that you drop into your bathtub water so you come out silken and smooth all over. Because Sardo works under water, not an extra second is spent anointing yourself.

Walk into your Sardo tub with chapped hands, chafed legs, rough elbows, dry itchy skin. Walk out like Venus rising from the sea, positively velvety. It's just this side of amazing. Housewives tried it. Career girls tried it. Even an independent lab (male) tested it . . . all raved.

Sardo is actually a rich oil that breaks into tiny globules when it hits warm water. You can barely see them, barely feel them . . . but they go into action the minute you get into the tub . . . smoothing, nourishing dry skin.

Sardo smoothes you all over (ever try to cream between your shoulder blades?) while you bathe. Sardo won't leave you, your towel, or your sheets sticky or greasy.

Sardo is as wonderful for dad and the kids as for you. You use only a bottle cap-ful per tub, so Sardo costs just pennies a day. And, if you're not delighted, your money will be refunded. So why wait?

Mother Mary Eileen Is Guest of Honor At Academy of St. Ursula Reception

The Parents' Association, alumnae, and friends of the Academy of St. Ursula, attended a tea and reception at the academy on Sunday, November 13 in honor of Mother Mary Eileen, a member of the high school faculty. Mother Mary Eileen will sail for Europe aboard the SS Liberte today. She will spend a few months at the Motherhouse of the Society of St. Urusla of the Blessed Virgin in Tours, France, prior to her departure for her new assignment in the Belgian Congo.

A daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick F. McManus of New York city and Saugerties, Mother Mary Eileen attended St. Thomas Aquinas Elementary School and Mt. St. Ursula Academy in New York city. She received her Bachlor of Arts Degree from the College of Mt. St. Vincent and her Master of Arts Degree from Fordham University. She is also a member of Kappa Gamma Pi, National Honor and Activity Society of Catholic Women's Colleges. Mother Mary Eileen has served for many years on the faculty of the Academy of St. Ursula and for six years taught in the Latin Department of Cathedral High School, New York city.

The African mission, of which Mother Mary Eileen will be a pioneer member, is a new apostolic work about to be undertaken by the Sisters of St. Ursula of the Blessed Virgin. One French and two Belgian Sisters of the Society in addition to the one American representative will form the nucleus of the new community to be located in Luena, Belgian Congo. The work is being entered upon at the request of the Congregation of the Propaganda at Rome and of His Excellency, Most Rev. Kuppews, Apostolic Vicar of Lulua. Missionary activity will be in the fields of medicine and pediatrics as well as in education and social welfare.

At the reception on Sunday the Parents Association and the Alumnae of the Academy of St. Ursula, Kingston, presented purses along with their best wishes and prayers for the new field of activity upon which Mother Mary Eileen is embarking.

On Monday afternoon the students of the Academy in a farewell program depicted scenes from the life of Venerable Anne de Xainctonge, Foundress of the Society of St. Ursula of the Blessed Virgin. The society this year is celebrating its 350th anniversary. Members of the Glee Club and Choral Group presented selections and Patricia Bruck, Nancy Demski and Catherine Zates served as narrators. The following students participated in the various tableaux: Elizabeth A. Gormley (Ven. Anne de Xainctonge); Patrice Quilty, Mary Dispense, Sondra de Gasperis, Kristen Boscherini, Rosemary Olivet, Janet Jackson, Marjorie Quilty, Ann Millonig, Louise Stock, Irene Hugger, Helene Olivet, Carol Cahill, Janice Moculski, Agatha Snyder, Elaine Einterz, and Dale Stafford.

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

CALLING ON NEW NEIGHBORS

"We made an attempt to call on new neighbors, but they told us when we telephoned before going to see them, that there was sickness and asked us to come another time. They have said nothing since then, and as we have seen the sick member up and about we wondered if they could be waiting for us. We rather thought it was up to them to set a time."

While it might be the natural impulse of some very informal or very self-assured neighbors to set a time, it seems to me more natural to hesitate. Remember they are the strangers and you the older residents. Rules of eitquette have always been very hampering to the former. In other words, if they are at all conservative it is almost certain that they are waiting for further encouragement from you. In any case, it would be friendly on your part to go to see them or to invite them to come to see you at a definite time.

Obituary Notices

Dear Mrs. Post: My cousin recently passed away and in the obituary notices all members of the surviving family were mentioned except his stepfather to whom he was deeply attached and who brought him up. The stepfather is very hurt at this seeming disregard of him. Was it incorrect to make no mention of the stepfather?

Answer: According to what you say, it certainly was. His omission was shocking.

"Senator"

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to address a gentleman as "Senator" both in correspondence and when speaking to him? The person I am referring to has been a member of the United States Senate for many years but is now retired.

Answer: Since he has retired and served a long term, you go on calling him "Senator."

Do you know your ABC's in manners? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, her leaflet E-18, "Questions in Etiquette Test," includes questions most frequently asked by readers. CP Mothers' Club Hears Clinical Psychologist Talk

At a regular meeting of the Cerebral Palsy Mothers' Club, held at the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center, Monday, Nov. 7, Morton Goldstein, staff director of the New York State Cerebral Palsy Association and a clinical psychologist, spoke to the group about vocational guidance for palsied adults.

Mr. Goldstein stressed the need for assistance in vocational guidance to the young cerebral palsied adults in this locality and one method of accomplishing this, he said, would be to set up sheltered workshops where young adults could slowly prepare to go into industry.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by the hospitality committee, Mrs. Charles Edwards and Mrs. John Finerty.

Rosary Society Plans Christmas Party

Plans for the annual Christmas dinner and party of St. Mary's Rosary Society were made at a special meeting Monday.

The event will be held at the Casablanca, Tuesday, Dec. 13, at 6:30 p. m.

Mrs. Charles Ahl is chairman of the dinner.

Tickets will be distributed through the prefects or by contacting any officers of the society. Reservations will close December 9.

Secret pals will exchange gifts and also members who do not have secret pals are asked to bring a small gift.

The president has asked the prefects to bring the names of the shut-ins to the December meeting of the society.

Grange News

HURLEY GRANGE held a booster night Thursday, Nov. 10. Master Andrew Lehtonen welcomed the visitors and a short business meeting was held to acquaint them with the work of the Grange. Master Lehtonen announced that the Grange was a winner for the 5th consecutive year in the Community Service Project sponsored by the National Grange and Sears Roebuck Foundation. The awards received were $50 in war bonds and a gold seal. These awards are given for achievement in the field of community service during the past year. Mrs. Walter Stauble, past lecturer, received first prize in the county for her lecturer's book. Gordon Gunning was appointed chairman of the community service for this year and Anna Wamsley, third member of the service and hospitality committee.

Following the meeting, Miss Athena Snyder, lecturer, presented a very interesting program, "This Is Your Grange," with Anne Goetchius as master of ceremonies and participants, Master Lehtonen, Walter Stauble, Martha Kruetzfeldt, Lucy McCabe, Frank Kruetzfeldt, Dorothy Palen and Ada Stauble, told the activities of the Grange during the past year.

A pantomime, "The Story of Davy Crockett," with Gordon Gunning as Davy, John Ostrander, Davy's father, Helen Snyder, Davy's mother; Walter Pilz, president, Jay Stauble, Clarence Freer, Frank Kruetzfeldt, Justin Bell as Indians and Winfred Snyder, Davy's friend, was enjoyed by all. Lucy McCabe read the story and the choral group consisting of Lowell Popp, Marguerite Cella, Enid Goetchius, Beatrice Ten Eyke and Athena Snyder sang "The Ballad of Davy Crockett." Anne Goetchius recited "Aunt Sarys Photograph Album" and Beatrice Ten-Eyke sang a humorous song.

Refreshments were served by the service and hospitality committee.

Even the beloved white cotton shorty glove wears the Oriental look this year. It's decked with silver thread and pearls, no less.

Rod and Gun Club Elects New Officers

Mrs. Edwin Hoyt is the newly-elected president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club, it was announced today. Elected to office with her are Mrs. Emerson Mayes, vice president; Mrs. Chester Joy, secretary and Mrs. Charles Senor, treasurer.

At the meeting held Tuesday members discussed the annual banquet plans. The banquet will be held at Cuneo's Restaurant.

Another dance was scheduled for the club house on Saturday with music for round and square dancing by Pappy Dietz and his Singing Sons.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Mayes and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Joy.

Refreshments will be served.

Mother Mary Eileen Is Guest of Honor At Academy of St. Ursula Reception

The Parents' Association, alumnae, and friends of the Academy of St. Ursula, attended a tea and reception at the academy on Sunday, November 13 in honor of Mother Mary Eileen, a member of the high school faculty. Mother Mary Eileen will sail for Europe aboard the SS Liberte today. She will spend a few months at the Motherhouse of the Society of St. Ursula of the Blessed Virgin in Tours, France, prior to her departure for her new assignment in the Belgian Congo.

A daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick F. McManus of New York city and Saugerties, Mother Mary Eileen attended St. Thomas Aquinas Elementary School and Mt. St. Ursula Academy in New York city. She received her Bachlor of Arts Degree from the College of Mt. St. Vincent and her Master of Arts Degree from Fordham University. She is also a member of Kappa Gamma Pi, National Honor and Activity Society of Catholic Women's Colleges. Mother Mary Eileen has served for many years on the faculty of the Academy of St. Ursula and for six years taught in the Latin Department of Cathedral High School, New York city.

The African mission, of which Mother Mary Eileen will be a pioneer member, is a new apostolic work about to be undertaken by the Sisters of St. Ursula of the Blessed Virgin. One French and two Belgian Sisters of the Society in addition to the one American representative will form the nucleus of the new community to be located in Luena, Belgian Congo. The work is being entered upon at the request of the Congregation of the Propaganda at Rome and of His Excellency, Most Rev. Kuppews, Apostolic Vicar of Lulua. Missionary activity will be in the fields of medicine and pediatrics as well as in education and social welfare.

At the reception on Sunday the Parents Association and the Alumnae of the Academy of St. Ursula, Kingston, presented purses along with their best wishes and prayers for the new field of activity upon which Mother Mary Eileen is embarking.

On Monday afternoon the students of the Academy in a farewell program depicted scenes from the life of Venerable Anne de Xainctonge, Foundress of the Society of St. Ursula of the Blessed Virgin. The society this year is celebrating its 350th anniversary. Members of the Glee Club and Choral Group presented selections and Patricia Bruck, Nancy Demski and Catherine Zates served as narrators. The following students participated in the various tableaux: Elizabeth A. Gormley (Ven. Anne de Xainctonge); Patrice Quilty, Mary Dispense, Sondra de Gasperis, Kristen Boscherini, Rosemary Olivet, Janet Jackson, Marjorie Quilty, Ann Millonig, Louise Stock, Irene Hugger, Helene Olivet, Carol Cahill, Janice Moculski, Agatha Snyder, Elaine Einterz, and Dale Stafford.

CALLING ON NEW NEIGHBORS

"We made an attempt to call on new neighbors, but they told us when we telephoned before going to see them, that there was sickness and asked us to come another time. They have said nothing since then, and as we have seen the sick member up and about we wondered if they could be waiting for us. We rather thought it was up to them to set a time."

While it might be the natural impulse of some very informal or very self-assured neighbors to set a time, it seems to me more natural to hesitate. Remember they are the strangers and you the older residents. Rules of eitquette have always been very hampering to the former. In other words, if they are at all conservative it is almost certain that they are waiting for further encouragement from you. In any case, it would be friendly on your part to go to see them or to invite them to come to see you at a definite time.

Obituary Notices

Dear Mrs. Post: My cousin recently passed away and in the obituary notices all members of the surviving family were mentioned except his stepfather to whom he was deeply attached and who brought him up. The stepfather is very hurt at this seeming disregard of him. Was it incorrect to make no mention of the stepfather?

Answer: According to what you say, it certainly was. His omission was shocking.

"Senator"

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to address a gentleman as "Senator" both in correspondence and when speaking to him? The person I am referring to has been a member of the United States Senate for many years but is now retired.

Answer: Since he has retired and served a long term, you go on calling him "Senator."

Do you know your ABC's in manners? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, her leaflet E-18, "Questions in Etiquette Test," includes questions most frequently asked by readers. CP Mothers' Club Hears Clinical Psychologist Talk

At a regular meeting of the Cerebral Palsy Mothers' Club, held at the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center, Monday, Nov. 7, Morton Goldstein, staff director of the New York State Cerebral Palsy Association and a clinical psychologist, spoke to the group about vocational guidance for palsied adults.

Mr. Goldstein stressed the need for assistance in vocational guidance to the young cerebral palsied adults in this locality and one method of accomplishing this, he said, would be to set up sheltered workshops where young adults could slowly prepare to go into industry.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by the hospitality committee, Mrs. Charles Edwards and Mrs. John Finerty.

Rosary Society Plans Christmas Party

Plans for the annual Christmas dinner and party of St. Mary's Rosary Society were made at a special meeting Monday.

The event will be held at the Casablanca, Tuesday, Dec. 13, at 6:30 p. m.

Mrs. Charles Ahl is chairman of the dinner.

Tickets will be distributed through the prefects or by contacting any officers of the society. Reservations will close December 9.

Secret pals will exchange gifts and also members who do not have secret pals are asked to bring a small gift.

The president has asked the prefects to bring the names of the shut-ins to the December meeting of the society.

Grange News

HURLEY GRANGE held a booster night Thursday, Nov. 10. Master Andrew Lehtonen welcomed the visitors and a short business meeting was held to acquaint them with the work of the Grange. Master Lehtonen announced that the Grange was a winner for the 5th consecutive year in the Community Service Project sponsored by the National Grange and Sears Roebuck Foundation. The awards received were $50 in war bonds and a gold seal. These awards are given for achievement in the field of community service during the past year. Mrs. Walter Stauble, past lecturer, received first prize in the county for her lecturer's book. Gordon Gunning was appointed chairman of the community service for this year and Anna Wamsley, third member of the service and hospitality committee.

Following the meeting, Miss Athena Snyder, lecturer, presented a very interesting program, "This Is Your Grange," with Anne Goetchius as master of ceremonies and participants, Master Lehtonen, Walter Stauble, Martha Kruetzfeldt, Lucy McCabe, Frank Kruetzfeldt, Dorothy Palen and Ada Stauble, told the activities of the Grange during the past year.

A pantomime, "The Story of Davy Crockett," with Gordon Gunning as Davy, John Ostrander, Davy's father, Helen Snyder, Davy's mother; Walter Pilz, president, Jay Stauble, Clarence Freer, Frank Kruetzfeldt, Justin Bell as Indians and Winfred Snyder, Davy's friend, was enjoyed by all. Lucy McCabe read the story and the choral group consisting of Lowell Popp, Marguerite Cella, Enid Goetchius, Beatrice Ten Eyke and Athena Snyder sang "The Ballad of Davy Crockett." Anne Goetchius recited "Aunt Sarys Photograph Album" and Beatrice Ten-Eyke sang a humorous song.

Refreshments were served by the service and hospitality committee.

Even the beloved white cotton shorty glove wears the Oriental look this year. It's decked with silver thread and pearls, no less.

MODENA NEWS

Modena, Nov. 15—The regular meeting of the Republican Club of the Town of Plattekill Inc. which was scheduled to be held Thursday evening, Nov. 10 at the Hasbrouck Memorial hall was canceled owing to a town budget hearing held at the town building in Modena on the same date. The meeting was postponed indefinitely.

Lester A. Wager Jr. celebrated his birthday Friday, Nov. 11, and with his wife and daughter Judy Lynn, were entertained at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Wager Sr.

A number of local people attended the public sale of real property of Bert Minard at Clintondale Saturday. Mr. Minard has sold his former home and has a new house built on adjoining property, where he plans to live.

Local members of the Plattekill Lions Club attended the annual observance of ladies night on Saturday evening, Nov. 12 at Villa Garcia, near Plattekill. A program of music, fun and entertainment was enjoyed.

The November meeting of the Public Health Nursing Committee of the town of Plattekill was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank M. Coy, when the annual election of officers was held. All officers were reelected. They are: President, Mrs. Lillian Courter; vice-president, Mrs. Stewart Pink; secretary, Mrs. Simon DuBois, and treasurer, Mrs. Frank M. Coy. Others attending were Mrs. Joyce Kopf, RN, of Wallkill, former public health nurse serving this area; Miss Esther Meredith, RN, present public health nurse, also of Wallkill; Mrs. William Gilmore, Mrs. Joseph Dragotta, Mrs. Roy Jensen and Mrs. William Decker.

Plans were made for a card party to be held Monday, Dec. 5, at 8 p. m., at the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall for the purpose of raising funds for committee activities.

Various committees were named for prizes and refreshments. This party will be held instead on the next meeting date. The next regular meeting of the committee is scheduled for Monday evening, Jan. 2, at the home of Mrs. Simon DuBois.

Ernst Kitleberger is a patient at Kingston Hospital.

Miss Glennie M. Wager accompanied Mrs. Frank E. Crawford and friend of Chelsea to Middle Hope and Newburgh on Friday.

Miss Carolee Coy entertained guests from Newburgh last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. DuBois and daughter Marylou were visited by Mr. and Mrs. J. Plunkett and daughter from Connecticut on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Matheisen and daughter, Christine of New Jersey visited relatives here, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Wager Sr. and Ronald and Kathleen I. Wager were recent supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Wager Jr., and daughter, Judy Lynn on the occasion of Mr. Wager's birthday.

Paul Weber of Hurley was a visitor in town on Tuesday.

Local people attended the sale of dairy animals of George Savasta south of Modena on Saturday.

Mrs. Clayton Juckett of New Paltz visited relatives here and in Plattekill on Thursday.

The Womans Society of Christian Service of the Clintondale Methodist Church will meet at the church one week earlier on Thursday, Nov. 17 at 7:30 p. m. due to the conflict of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Good Dessert

Use some of that homemade strawberry preserve you've just put up as a filling for sponge cake layers. Serve topped with prepared vanilla pudding folded into whipped cream. If you have a nutmeg grinder, pass it with the dessert.

I was so attracted to the advertisement in the Saturday Evening Post of this week, that I have to pass it on to you.

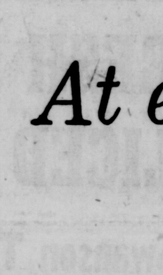
Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

"Very much against his will," a London paper says, "the President finds himself the answer to every kind of problem."

As soon as the President—any President—gets seriously sick, a million questions arise. Will tariffs on foreign bicycles be lowered or raised? Will Squashville get a new postoffice? Will money get tighter? What about polio vaccine; business jobs; farm prices; teachers' salaries; and so on, ad infinitum?



Mr. Hutton

Hence a sick President causes doubt and fear in millions of homes, not on big National problems only, but on hundreds of questions that ought to be handled in City Halls, Court Houses, State Legislatures, and by plain citizens.

The cowardly transfer of responsibility from home, village, town, city and state to the Federal Government, and from Congress to the White House is an ominous thing. Impossible burdens are being put on the back of a single man, who should be free to give all his time and energy to the BIG National questions.

It's a scandal on all of us when one man's sickness causes securities to "break" $14,000,000,000, in one day — however much that testifies to public confidence in that one man.

Neighbor, this concentration of political and economic responsibilities at a single point is a dangerous thing. Our forefathers were against it, and we should now realize how right they were.

Federal Control Is Opposed on Gas Wells

San Francisco, Nov. 16 (AP)—Problems of the oil industry—the possibility of federal control at the well of natural gas production and the dearth of qualified engineers and scientists—were outlined today at the American Petroleum Institute convention by its president, Frank M. Porter of Oklahoma City.

"The prospect of the Federal Power Commission (FPC) occupying well-head jurisdiction in the gas fields of this land is a danger which cannot be rationalized or compromised out of existence," Porter said in a prepared address.

"If such should come to pass, the iron grip of nationalization will be fastened about the jugular vein of our entire industry. It may, to be sure, affect most harshly at first that segment known as 'gas production.'"

Troop 12 Scouts Join Seals Sale

Boy Scouts under the direction of Ralph Shapiro, leader of Troop 12, Kingston, have been added to the list of hundreds of volunteers who have assisted with the 1955 Christmas Seals sale.

The Scouts took time out to do their good deed on Veterans' Day by requesting merchants of uptown, central and downtown Kingston to display the posters depicting the two children on this year's Christmas Seals which will come to residents of Ulster county on Nov. 16 when everyone will have the privilege of participating in the health program of tuberculosis prevention and the building of physical and mental health.

Other groups who have responded to the appeal of Mrs. Richard Kalish, chairman of volunteers, were the Girl Scouts, the Golden Age Club, and many church groups and a number of individuals.

James L. Rowe, chairman of the 1955 Christmas Seals sale and the committee are most grateful to these hundreds of volunteers who helped make possible the preparation of letters in the 1955 Christmas Seals sale.

Action Started for Big Union Merger in State

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—New York state leaders of the AFL and CIO have set machinery in motion to bring 1¾ million union members in the state into a unified labor organization.

The national unity pact, scheduled for ratification at a joint AFL-CIO convention here Dec. 5, would allow state bodies of the parent groups two years in which to get together.

But Thomas A. Murray, president of the State Federation of Labor (AFL), and Louis Hollander, president of the state CIO, say they want to conclude a statewide merger as soon as possible after the unification of the parent organizations.

MURRAY SAID yesterday he will ask his group's executive council to set up a special unity committee at a meeting here Nov. 29 and 30 in a move to arrange a speedy merger with the state CIO.

Hollander said the 12-member policy committee of the state CIO will meet next Tuesday to discuss machinery for joint negotiations. He expressed hope that an "amicable understandnig" will be worked out between the AFL and CIO for the benefit of all New York state workers.

An AFL-CIO merger in the state would enable the two groups to pool their legislative activities at Albany and to foster political activities on state issues.

Child Health Clinic

A Child Health Conference conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held at the Clinic Rooms at 25 East O'Reilly street on Tuesday, Nov. 22 from 10 to 12 noon. These clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

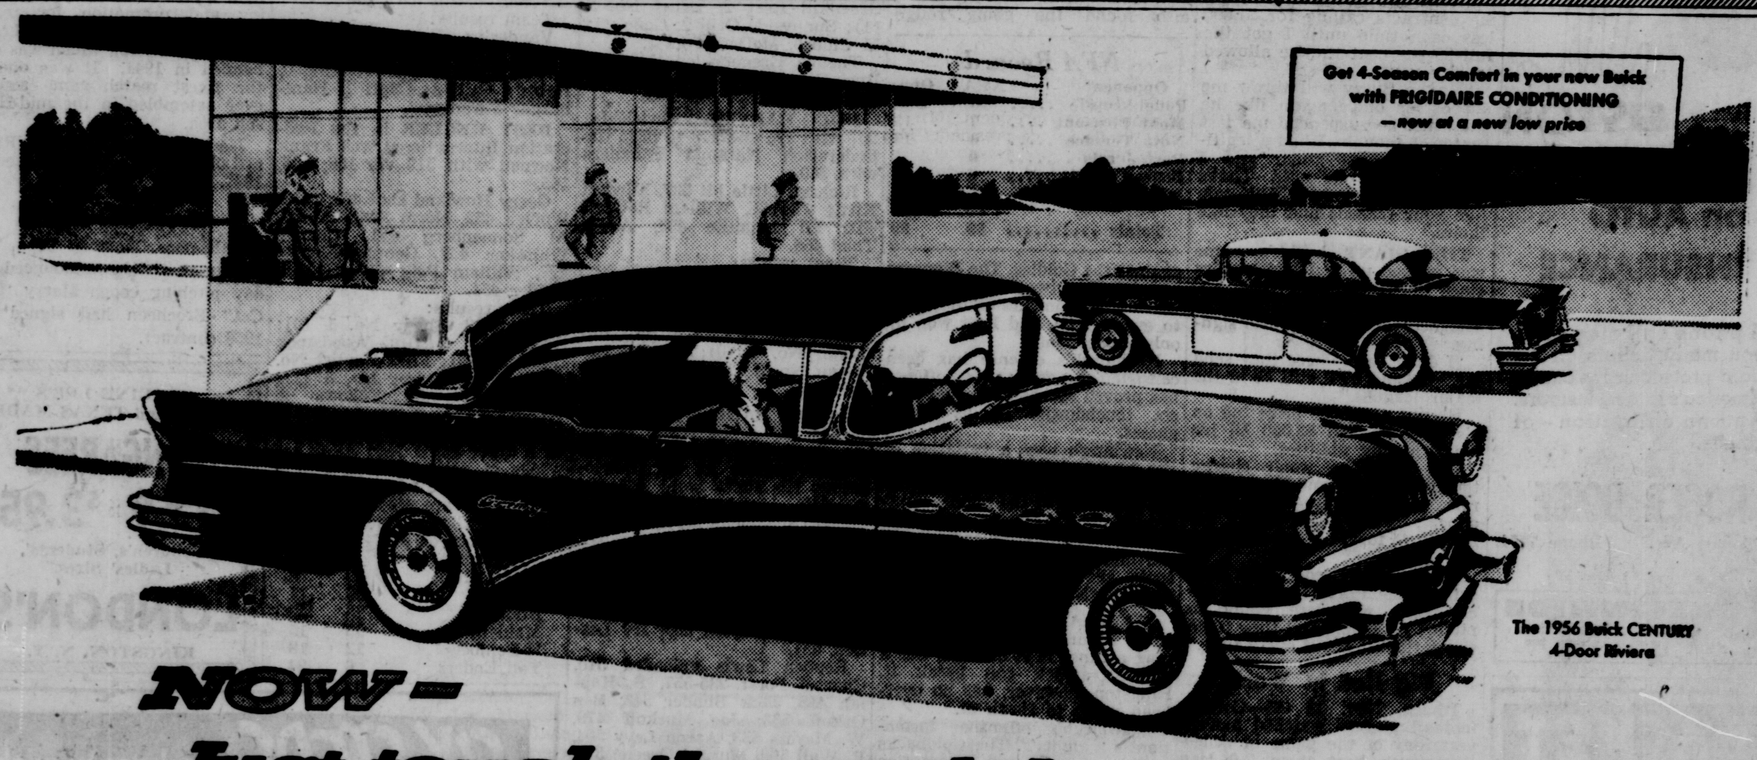
Get 4-Season Comfort in your new Buick with FRIGIDAIRE CONDITIONING —now at a new low price



The 1956 Buick CENTURY 4-Door Riviera

NOW—
Just touch the pedal and away you go!
(That's the New Variable Pitch Dynaflow*!)

OF COURSE, you can floor the pedal of this stunning new '56 Buick and get the full-power sweep of its advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.

That's how you switch the pitch of this airplane-principled transmission for instant safety-surge acceleration to get out of a tight spot on the highway.

But now you get a brilliant new response at the start of pedal travel, too.

Now you get a solid take-hold for instant take-off in the first inch of pedal action—where most of your normal driving is handled. And you get this great new getaway with a big boost in gas mileage, too.

So there you are, just nudging the pedal, and getting action that makes you feel like you've floored it.

There you are, handling all your normal driving situations with a confident toe-touch—with new surety and snap—and with the happy satisfaction that comes with a sizable step-up in the miles you get from a tankful of gas.

Troop 12 Scouts Join Seals Sale

Boy Scouts under the direction of Ralph Shapiro, leader of Troop 12, Kingston, have been added to the list of hundreds of volunteers who have assisted with the 1955 Christmas Seals sale.

The Scouts took time out to do their good deed on Veterans' Day by requesting merchants of uptown, central and downtown Kingston to display the posters depicting the two children on this year's Christmas Seals which will come to residents of Ulster county on Nov. 16 when everyone will have the privilege of participating in the health program of tuberculosis prevention and the building of physical and mental health.

Other groups who have responded to the appeal of Mrs. Richard Kalish, chairman of volunteers, were the Girl Scouts, the Golden Age Club, and many church groups and a number of individuals.

James L. Rowe, chairman of the 1955 Christmas Seals sale and the committee are most grateful to these hundreds of volunteers who helped make possible the preparation of letters in the 1955 Christmas Seals sale.

Action Started for Big Union Merger in State

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—New York state leaders of the AFL and CIO have set machinery in motion to bring 1¾ million union members in the state into a unified labor organization.

The national unity pact, scheduled for ratification at a joint AFL-CIO convention here Dec. 5, would allow state bodies of the parent groups two years in which to get together.

But Thomas A. Murray, president of the State Federation of Labor (AFL), and Louis Hollander, president of the state CIO, say they want to conclude a statewide merger as soon as possible after the unification of the parent organizations.

MURRAY SAID yesterday he will ask his group's executive council to set up a special unity committee at a meeting here Nov. 29 and 30 in a move to arrange a speedy merger with the state CIO.

Hollander said the 12-member policy committee of the state CIO will meet next Tuesday to discuss machinery for joint negotiations. He expressed hope that an "amicable understanding" will be worked out between the AFL and CIO for the benefit of all New York state workers.

An AFL-CIO merger in the state would enable the two groups to pool their legislative activities at Albany and to foster political activities on state issues.

Child Health Clinic

A Child Health Conference conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held at the Clinic Rooms at 25 East O'Reilly street on Tuesday, Nov. 22 from 10 to 12 noon. These clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

Federal Control Is Opposed on Gas Wells

San Francisco, Nov. 16 (AP)—Problems of the oil industry—the possibility of federal control at the well of natural gas production and the dearth of qualified engineers and scientists—were outlined today at the American Petroleum Institute convention by its president, Frank M. Porter of Oklahoma City.

"The prospect of the Federal Power Commission (FPC) occupying well-head jurisdiction in the gas fields of this land is a danger which cannot be rationalized or compromised out of existence," Porter said in a prepared address.

"If such should come to pass, the iron grip of nationalization will be fastened about the jugular vein of our entire industry. It may, to be sure, affect most harshly at first that segment known as 'gas production.'"

Kingston, Newburgh Play 41st Game on Thanksgiving Day

Don Newcombe

Armed With Arguments

Big Newk Will Resist Reduction in Salary

Brooklyn, Nov. 16 (AP)—A scowl on his face and a chip on his shoulder, big Don Newcombe arrived in town today to talk contract with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

"I'm asking for $30,000 and that's exactly what I'll settle for," snapped Newcombe, apparently still bitter over the 12½ per cent cut he was forced to take last year.

Brooklyn vice-president Buzzy Bavasi was the unlucky official assigned the task of talking to Newcombe, a fellow who was armed with some imposing statistics.

He compiled a 20-5 pitching record last year, hit .359, hit seven home runs to break the National League record for pitchers and went 21-for-8 as a pinch-hitter for a .381 mark.

"I EXPECT a fight and I'm not backing down one bit," he continued. "I'll sit it out into the spring if I have to. When you have a lousy season, they give you the ultimatums. I had a good season. Now I'm giving the ultimatums."

Last season the big star from Colonia, N. J., got $17,500, a $2,500 comedown from the figure he collected in 1953.

Now he plans to get even and Bavasi will have a hard time trying to cut his demands.

"Bavasi practically threw me out of his office last year," said Newcombe. "He told me then that if I didn't take the 12½ per cent cut, he'd keep sending me contracts calling for $1,000 less each time until I got the full 25 per cent they're allowed to give you.

"Maybe Buzzy will throw me out of his office again like he did when he suspended me last season. I thought I had a legitimate argument then, and I think I have one now. That's how holdouts come about—you like your reasons and they like theirs."

THE GIANT hurler's name was popped up in trade rumors since the end of the World Series, but he suspects they're designed to panic him into signing.

"I don't care where they send me," he said. "I'll still be in the major leagues."

He put a $27,000 price tag on his pitching and $3,000 on his pinch hitting abilities.

One thing he won't charge the Brooks for—and Bavasi can relax on that score—is his gate appeal. But he doesn't want the Brooks to forget it for one minute.

"They advertised Robin Roberts of the Phillies and me every time we were going to pitch," he said. "And they filled the park just about every time."

Big Red at Work

Locals Seek 15th Victory Over Arch Rival

NFA Gridders Without a Win

Its DUSO League title hopes long gone, Kingston High School will attempt to salvage some remnants of success from the 1955 football season a week from tomorrow.

The Maroons and Newburgh Free Academy collide Thanksgiving Day at Dietz Stadium. It will be the 41st meeting between the traditional rivals.

For once, the KHS-NFA game won't have anything to do with the deciding of the DUSO League championship.

POUGHKEEPSIE has already clinched the title, winning all its games. Kingston can gain a tie for second place by beating Newburgh — provided Middletown upsets Port Jervis on the same day.

The Turkey Day duel means the difference between a .500 record and a losing season for Kingston, which has won three and lost four. For Newburgh, it's the last chance for a victory. The Goldbacks have dropped six straight.

Newburgh has emerged victorious 23 times in the series, which dates from 1922. Kingston has won 14 games. Three others have ended in ties.

Since Bill Burke took over the coaching reins in 1946, the Kingstonians have won nine games, lost three and tied one.

THIS YEAR'S KHS team has lost more games than any other under Burke's regime. The previous nine Burke-coached elevens have all finished with better than .500 records, which is the best the present squad can hope for.

Except for the tradition and the records, little else is at stake. Both schools are having "off" years. It's the third straight poor campaign for Stan Hemingway's Goldbacks, once the terror of the DUSO ranks.

Kingston has beaten the NFA forces by 14-0 and 41-0 in the last two outings. Last year's margin of victory was the largest in the series.

Newburgh, despite its unimpressive record, is a dangerous team.

THE GOLDBACKS bowed to Mont Pleasant by only one touchdown and were leading late in the game. Kingston was clobbered 41-0 by the same foe.

Poughkeepsie and Port Jervis, two teams that beat Kingston, also found the going rough against the Goldies. The Pioneers had to score two touchdowns in the fading moments of the game to evade a tie, and Port won by only seven points.

Newburgh's defense has been consistently good; its offense has proved sporadic, scoring only six touchdowns in as many games.

Newburgh uses a variation of the 6-2-2-1 defense. The linemen are split wide and the linebackers both play in the middle. Consequently it's tough to make yardage around the ends or up the middle. The only vulnerable spots are between the tackles and guards.

SUCH A SETUP is almost equal to an eight-man line. Running against it is difficult, but a passing attack can break it. Kingston, however, has no overhead game to speak of.

Newburgh's offensive formation is a tight T. The Goldbacks stress speed and deception rather than power. They pass only rarely.

Halfback Charles "Zeke" McCurry is the main running threat. Fullback Paul Benosky is a steady ground gainer. Al Beccaccio, who does the quarterbacking, carries the ball on many occasions.

Burke, who has seen Newburgh play three times, calls the Maroons' arch rival a "good team. I can't understand why they haven't won."

"They could explode any day," Burke continued, "I hope it isn't against us."

Syracuse Plans Around Jim Brown

Syracuse, Nov. 16 (AP)—Syracuse is continuing to center its ground attack on Jim Brown, its huge halfback who has gained 580 yards in 107 carries this season.

The orange regulars resumed practice yesterday, preparing their offense for the game with West Virginia Saturday.

William C. "Chief" Mueller, 66, widely known bowler, baseball player, umpire and sports promoter, died Monday at Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie.

He had been hospitalized since Sept. 12.

Well known in Kingston, Mr. Mueller had rolled with a local Hudson Valley League squad in the pre-war period.

A MONOTYPE machine operator by profession, Mueller played professional baseball for four years with Richmond of the Eastern League and with Durham, Raleigh, Greensboro and Winston-Salem of the Virginia League. He was a first baseman.

He also played semi-professional baseball with the crack Long Branch Cubans in the Hudson Valley League.

Mr. Mueller managed the Schatz team of Poughkeepsie in 1918 and launched his umpiring career the next season. Mueller once estimated that he had umpired more than 2,000 baseball games.

A 190 AVERAGE bowler for many years, Mueller was a dominant figure in Bridge City bowling and promotion for many years. He organized the crack Roe Movers team which was disbanded in 1941. It was one of the finest match game squads ever assembled in the mid-Hudson area.

He is survived by a son, Richard of Chicago. His wife died in 1947.

Brecheen Signs

Baltimore, Nov. 15 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles announced today pitching coach Harry "The Cat" Brecheen had signed his 1956 contract.

The gentlemen of the Elks who conceived the Joe Kelly testimonial decided to strive for an informal tribute to the Freeman city editor's long and distinguished association with sports, with emphasis on his colorful boxing connections.

That's the way it will be tomorrow night when more than 200 of his friends and associates assemble at the Elks Club to pay him tribute and honor.

Harry Markson, the managing director of the International Boxing Club, will be the principal speaker. Al Weill, manager, and Charlie Goldman, trainer, respectively, of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, will also attend.

Markson, a busy man, unhesitatingly accepted our invitation to address the testimonial. A native of Kingston and a member of a brilliant journalistic family, Harry was that rare species of public relations—a boxing press agent with a college education (Union). That is before James D. Norris, boss of the IBC, promoted him from the drum beating department to the front office.

It has been several years since Kelly graduated from the toy department of this newspaper to the more austere city desk, but his affiliations with boxing remained constant through nearly 30 years and three different eras—the National Guard, the amateurs of the 1930s and the post-war breed.

The first Kelly era embraced the National Guard period when boxing was enjoying its greatest boom in history. A flock of colorful characters flashed across the horizon and plied their trade before packed drill sheds and the old municipal auditorium.

Kingston was more or less the "Madison Square Garden" for the National Guard boxers.

The pugilists who thrilled Kingston crowds were a veritable Who's Who of the times. The fabulous Nick Zinna, who engaged in classic brawls with Vince Hart and Johnny Carpino . . . . Frenchy Duwig . . . . Big Bill Freeman, the National Guard heavyweight champion who slaughtered the Spaniard, Ruffino Alvarez in a bloody brawl at the old Fair Grounds . . . Manuel Quintero, the flashy southpaw who ran out of opponents . . . Izzy Damboise, the iron worker, who flattened Frankie Konchina in the first round of one of the cleanest knockouts in local boxing history . . . likeable Charlie Molvin . . . Joe Werner . . . Vince Coffey, one of the city's finest pugilistic products . . . Charlie Fisher . . . Petey Hayes . . . Sergeant Perry . . . Red Mosher of Newburgh . . . and many others.

Those were the days, too, of Walk Miller, Carl "Doc" Studer . . . Charlie Nettis and the late Harry Sills and Bob Freer. Charlie Goldman boxed in the Guard in the latter stages of his career and Weill already was active in the field.

The amateurs of mid-1930s were preceded by the Jackie Feldmans . . . Johnny Raymonds . . . Young Melios. Two world champions were to develop from the simon pures promoted by Kelly and two men who have since gone to their eternal reward—Bill Singer and Sam Riber. . . .

Under Weill's cagey guidance two of the local favorites vaulted to world's championship—Lou Ambers (lightweight) who boxed here as Otis Paradise and Marty Servo (Mario Severino) who climbed to the welterweight crown but later was wrecked by the flailing fists of the then-rising Rocky Graziano. There were many others, too . . . the likes of Sugar Ray, who went on to boxing immortality, as Sugar Ray Robinson, Buddy Emerson, Joe Triola, Coley Wallace . . . Nick Barone . . . Vinnie Vines . . . Carmine Virgilio, perhaps the finest boxoffice attraction in Kingston history. Virgilio's feud with Baby Face Decker were a boxoffice bonzana, with Decker's mother furnishing high drama at the ringside. Just like the Emerson family did in Buddy's heydey.

We may have missed others along the road but those were big ones and those "were the days." Joe Kelly was an integral part of that golden era. That's why (tomorrow) night you'll hear more boxing than anything else in a testimonial for a man who, strictly for the records, was the greatest vote getter in local political annals.

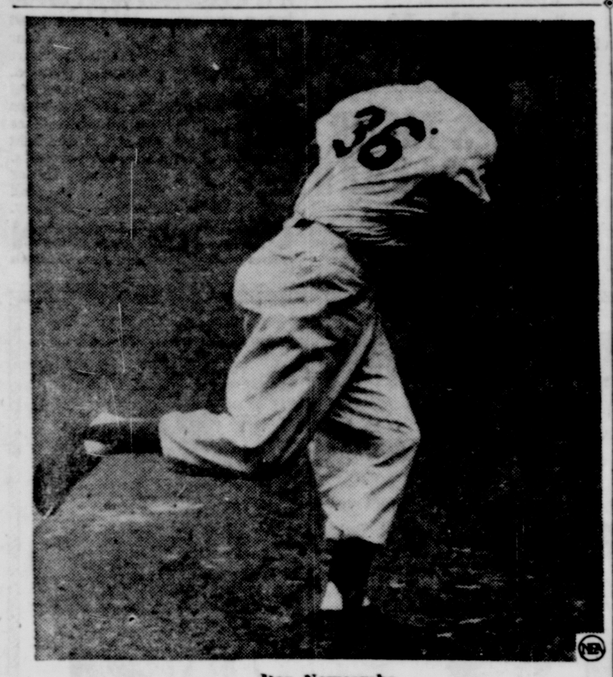
Kingston, Newburgh Play 41st Game on Thanksgiving Day



Don Newcombe

Armed With Arguments

Big Newk Will Resist Reduction in Salary

Brooklyn, Nov. 16 (AP)—A scowl on his face and a chip on his shoulder, big Don Newcombe arrived in town today to talk contract with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

"I'm asking for $30,000 and that's exactly what I'll settle for," snapped Newcombe, apparently still bitter over the 12½ per cent cut he was forced to take last year.

Brooklyn vice-president Buzzy Bavasi was the unlucky official assigned the task of talking to Newcombe, a fellow who was armed with some imposing statistics.

He compiled a 20-5 pitching record last year, hit .359, hit seven home runs to break the National League record for pitchers and went 21-for-8 as a pinch-hitter for a .381 mark.

"I EXPECT a fight and I'm not backing down one bit," he continued. "I'll sit it out into the spring if I have to. When you have a lousy season, they give you the ultimatums. I had a good season. Now I'm giving the ultimatums."

Last season the big star from Colonia, N. J., got $17,500, a $2,500 comedown from the figure he collected in 1953.

Now he plans to get even and Bavasi will have a hard time trying to cut his demands.

"Bavasi practically threw me out of his office last year," said Newcombe. "He told me then that if I didn't take the 12½ per cent cut, he'd keep sending me contracts calling for $1,000 less each time until I got the full 25 per cent they're allowed to give you.

"Maybe Buzzy will throw me out of his office again like he did when he suspended me last season. I thought I had a legitimate argument then, and I think I have one now. That's how holdouts come about—you like your reasons and they like theirs."

THE GIANT hurler's name was popped up in trade rumors since the end of the World Series, but he suspects they're designed to panic him into signing.

"I don't care where they send me," he said. "I'll still be in the major leagues."

He put a $27,000 price tag on his pitching and $3,000 on his pinch hitting abilities.

One thing he won't charge the Brooks for—and Bavasi can relax on that score—is his gate appeal. But he doesn't want the Brooks to forget it for one minute.

"They advertised Robin Roberts of the Phillies and me every time we were going to pitch," he said. "And they filled the park just about every time."

Big Red at Work

HOLYOKE, MASS. — Hocine Khalfi, 136, Algiers, outpointed Tommy Tibbs, 134, Boston, 10.

Locals Seek 15th Victory Over Arch Rival

NFA Gridders Without a Win

Its DUSO League title hopes long gone, Kingston High School will attempt to salvage some remnants of success from the 1955 football season a week from tomorrow.

The Maroons and Newburgh Free Academy collide Thanksgiving Day at Dietz Stadium. It will be the 41st meeting between the traditional rivals.

For once, the KHS-NFA game won't have anything to do with the deciding of the DUSO League championship.

POUGHKEEPSIE has already clinched the title, winning all its games. Kingston can gain a tie for second place by beating Newburgh — provided Middletown upsets Port Jervis on the same day.

The Turkey Day duel means the difference between a .500 record and a losing season for Kingston, which has won three and lost four. For Newburgh, it's the last chance for a victory. The Goldbacks have dropped six straight.

Newburgh has emerged victorious 23 times in the series, which dates from 1922. Kingston has won 14 games. Three others have ended in ties.

Since Bill Burke took over the coaching reins in 1946, the Kingstonians have won nine games, lost three and tied one.

THIS YEAR'S KHS team has lost more games than any other under Burke's regime. The previous nine Burke-coached elevens have all finished with better than .500 records, which is the best the present squad can hope for.

Except for the tradition and the records, little else is at stake. Both schools are having "off" years. It's the third straight poor campaign for Stan Hemingway's Goldbacks, once the terror of the DUSO ranks.

Kingston has beaten the NFA forces by 14-0 and 41-0 in the last two outings. Last year's margin of victory was the largest in the series.

Newburgh, despite its unimpressive record, is a dangerous team.

THE GOLDBACKS bowed to Mont Pleasant by only one touchdown and were leading late in the game. Kingston was clobbered 41-0 by the same foe.

Poughkeepsie and Port Jervis, two teams that beat Kingston, also found the going rough against the Goldies. The Pioneers had to score two touchdowns in the fading moments of the game to evade a tie, and Port won by only seven points.

Newburgh's defense has been consistently good; its offense has proved sporadic, scoring only six touchdowns in as many games.

Newburgh uses a variation of the 6-2-2-1 defense. The linemen are split wide and the linebackers both play in the middle. Consequently it's tough to make yardage around the ends or up the middle. The only vulnerable spots are between the tackles and guards.

SUCH A SETUP is almost equal to an eight-man line. Running against it is difficult, but a passing attack can break it. Kingston, however, has no overhead game to speak of.

Newburgh's offensive formation is a tight T. The Goldbacks stress speed and deception rather than power. They pass only rarely.

Halfback Charles "Zeke" McCurry is the main running threat. Fullback Paul Benosky is a steady ground gainer. Al Beccaccio, who does the quarterbacking, carries the ball on many occasions.

Burke, who has seen Newburgh play three times, calls the Maroons' arch rival a "good team. I can't understand why they haven't won."

"They could explode any day," Burke continued, "I hope it isn't against us."

Syracuse Plans Around Jim Brown

Syracuse, Nov. 16 (AP)—Syracuse is continuing to center its ground attack on Jim Brown, its huge halfback who has gained 580 yards in 107 carries this season.

The orange regulars resumed practice yesterday, preparing their offense for the game with West Virginia Saturday.

William C. "Chief" Mueller, 66, widely known bowler, baseball player, umpire and sports promoter, died Monday at Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie.

He had been hospitalized since Sept. 12.

Well known in Kingston, Mr. Mueller had rolled with a local Hudson Valley League squad in the pre-war period.

A MONOTYPE machine operator by profession, Mueller played professional baseball for four years with Richmond of the Eastern League and with Durham, Raleigh, Greensboro and Winston-Salem of the Virginia League. He was a first baseman.

He also played semi-professional baseball with the crack Long Branch Cubans in the Hudson Valley League.

Mr. Mueller managed the Schatz team of Poughkeepsie in 1918 and launched his umpiring career the next season. Mueller once estimated that he had umpired more than 2,000 baseball games.

A 190 AVERAGE bowler for many years, Mueller was a dominant figure in Bridge City bowling and promotion for many years. He organized the crack Roe Movers team which was disbanded in 1941. It was one of the finest match game squads ever assembled in the mid-Hudson area.

He is survived by a son, Richard of Chicago. His wife died in 1947.

Brecheen Signs

Baltimore, Nov. 15 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles announced today pitching coach Harry "The Cat" Brecheen had signed his 1956 contract.

The gentlemen of the Elks who conceived the Joe Kelly testimonial decided to strive for an informal tribute to the Freeman city editor's long and distinguished association with sports, with emphasis on his colorful boxing connections.

That's the way it will be tomorrow night when more than 200 of his friends and associates assemble at the Elks Club to pay him tribute and honor.

Harry Markson, the managing director of the International Boxing Club, will be the principal speaker. Al Weill, manager, and Charlie Goldman, trainer, respectively, of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, will also attend.

Markson, a busy man, unhesitatingly accepted our invitation to address the testimonial. A native of Kingston and a member of a brilliant journalistic family, Harry was that rare species of public relations—a boxing press agent with a college education (Union). That is before James D. Norris, boss of the IBC, promoted him from the drum beating department to the front office.

It has been several years since Kelly graduated from the toy department of this newspaper to the more austere city desk, but his affiliations with boxing remained constant through nearly 30 years and three different eras—the National Guard, the amateurs of the 1930s and the post-war breed.

Sawyer Squad Has High Hopes Of Successful Cage Campaign

Saugerties High School faces the 1955-56 basketball season with well-founded hopes of another fine season.

The Sawyers may not match the brilliant 16-3 record of last winter's quintet, but the chances are they won't be too far off.

Bud Smith, the new SHS coach, has inherited four full-time players from the '55 squad, plus a few reserves. Smith has also fallen heir to the graduates of an unbeaten junior varsity team.

Of the 14 men on the Sawyer varsity roster, only five are under the six-foot mark.

THIS IS SMITH'S third coaching assignment since graduating from Ithaca College in 1950. He formerly worked at two upstate schools, Altona Central and Bolton Landing.

Saugerties opens it campaign Monday afternoon at the SHS gym against Windham.

The Sawyers are defending champions in the Ulster County Athletic League (UCAL). Last year the Sawyers were beaten only once, by Highland, in league competition. The team lost to Catskill during the regular season and was also tripped in the Section Nine playoffs.

The only regulars missing from last year are Andy Talmadge and Jim Farrell.

Returnees include the team's top scorer, Joe Martin; Bob Hanson, six-four center; Bill Hanna and Bert Ledwith. All played regularly.

Reserves who are also back for action are Wayne Pleugh, Murray Craft and Ed Roeser.

MOVED UP from the jayvee ranks are Don Whitaker and Fran Kugelman, both standing six-two; Jim Sanders, Jim Erceg and Bill Zeilman.

John Kerin, a six-foot-three transfer from Wooster, N. Y., also figures in the Sawyer cage picture. Smith expects the newcomer to see plenty of action.

"I can't tell you too much about the team," Smith said, "because I'm new to them and they're new to me. But potentially, I'd say we look pretty good. We've got a few good shots, and if they learn teamwork, we might go places."

THE JUNIOR VARSITY team is being coached by Bill Straub, who piloted the varsity last winter.

Varsity managers are Jim Armstrong and Gene Lang. Bob Linden is the jayvee manager.

The Saugerties schedule:

Yellow Jackets Win

All-Stars Notch Victory Over Bridge City Squad

With every player in the lineup scoring in double figures, the Kingston All-Stars routed Lincoln Center of Poughkeepsie, 108-46, in a basketball game last night at the YMCA.

The local team led from start to finish against the visitors, who played without four members of their starting team.

George Carpouzis scored 24 points to pace the Kingston team. Bill Maroney's 18 toppled the Lynx.

In a preliminary game, the Yellow Jackets of Kingston edged Catharine St. center of Poughkeepsie, 44-41. The game was close all the way, with the score tied seven times during play.

DON DAVIS, hitting with a series of jump shots from the corner, scored 15 for the winners. Bucky Miller, playing a fine floor game, registered 10.

Lee J. Nelson, who'll appear with the Poughkeepsie High School team this winter, registered 19 points for CSC.

Harness Gates Up, Flat Tracks Down in State

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Betting on harness races in New York state increased to a new high in 1955, but declined on the thoroughbred races.

The season for both the trotters and the flats ended yesterday. In the afternoon 32,517 wagered $3,243,076 on the runners at Jamaica. Last night 26,943 bet $1,964,132 on the trotters at Yonkers Raceway.

For 1955, overall, $355,649,464 was bet on the flats, a decline of $7,606,529 from 1954. A total of $281,000,000 was bet on the trotters, up $12,000,000 from last year.

State Harness Racing Commissioner George P. Monaghan pointed out the state's take was $24,500,000 as compared to $23,000,000 in 1954.

"The figures show the tremendous popularity of the harness racing sport in New York," said Monaghan. "When you consider the handicaps encountered this year caused by construction work and hurricanes, the showing is simply amazing.

"Construction of a thruway adjacent to the Yonkers' racetrack hurt attendance there considerably. In addition to car owners finding the place almost inaccessable, parking space for some 900 cars had to be eliminated. Also, three important dates were wiped out entirely because of hurricane and flood conditions."

Monaghan Bans Driver-Owner Until June '56

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—George P. Monaghan handed out more penalties in his continuing investigation of New York's harness racing yesterday and then ridiculed as "absurd" a report that he was ready to resign as state commissioner of the sport.

Topping the list in the latest cleanup was the suspension of Frank Safford, a leading driver and owner, until June 1, 1956. Safford's horses, numbering 20 trotters and pacers, were barred from New York tracks for the same period.

MONAGHAN, one time New Yok city police and fire commissioner and assistant district attorney, said Safford had "testified falsely under oath" and had "associated with a known gambler."

The "gambler" was identified by Monaghan as Byron (Doc) Evans of Yonkers, N. Y. Evans was barred from New York tracks for life by the commissioner, who said Evans' gambling record "dated back to 1935."

It was the second time in a year's time that Monaghan has set down Safford, who is from Southern Pines, N. C. On Oct. 31, 1954, Safford was one of eight drivers barred from racing for a year by Monaghan for allegedly holding up a program at Yonkers Raceway. The suspension later was trimmed to six months.

TCU's Swink Back of Week

(By The Associated Press)

Jim Swink of Texas Christian, latest of the many storied backfield aces to emerge in the Southwest Conference, today was named the Associated Press Back of the Week.

If the 6-1, 180-pound junior halfback from Rusk, Tex., had any detractors he did a great job of sending them sprawling last weekend in his one-man show against Texas. The Horned Frogs, closing in on the Cotton Bowl, didn't need any more than Swink to bring the ambitious Longhorns back to earth.

It was a 47-20 game and Swink went across for four touchdowns. Only one was commonplace, coming on a 1-yard plunge. The others were true Texas spectaculars—with Swink swinging along on runs of 62, 57 and 34 yards. In 15 plays, he piled up 235 yards—the top one-game total of the season for major college play.

Among other things, he also booted two conversions, giving him a total of 26 points for the game as TCU handed Texas its worst Conference whipping of all time.

Potgeiter, 325, Even With Parker

London, Nov. 15 (AP)—Ewart Potgeiter, 7-foot-2 South African heavyweight who moves around the ring like a clumsy bear, got only a draw in a 10-rounder against 6-foot-5-inch Canadian James Parker tonight.

A roar of laughter welled up from the 12,000 spectators when the referee, Capt. Charles Davidson, lifted the arms of the 325-pound Goliath and Parker.

Parker looked like a welterweight beside his huge opponent. He weighed 225 pounds.

Young-Spieser Tonight's Bout

Spieser, 26, is from Lansing, Mich., and received his college education at Michigan State while Young, 27, a New York slugger, received his education in the school of hard knocks.

Chuck will be out to better this record of 16 victories and 3 losses in the nationally televised bout (ABC—10 p. m., EST).

YEAR'S SOPHOMORE — Al Kaline, outfielder of the Detroit Tigers, was voted American League's Sophomore of the Year Nov. 15 by the Baseball Writers' Association of America. Kaline, the league's batting champion, is reading the sports wire in the AP's Baltimore bureau. The "S" on his jacket stands for Southern High School in Baltimore where he once was a student. Diegel Named To Golf Hall

Chicago, Nov. 15 (AP)—Leo Diegel, of the fabled putting stance and PGA champion in 1928-29, was elected to the "Golf Hall of Fame" today by the Professional Golfers Association.

The Detroiter, who had one of the strangest putting stances ever seen in pro golf, got 107 votes to Craig Wood's 102 ballots cast by the nation's press and golf officials.

Diegel was also a four-time winner of the Canadian Open.

Banks Named 'Soph of Year' In National Loop

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Ernie Banks, who hit more home runs in one season than any other shortstop in the history of baseball, was named the National League's sophomore of the year today in a virtually unanimous vote by members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

The lean, wiry infielder of the Chicago Cubs received all but three of the votes of the 99 writers who participated in the annual Associated Press poll. Henry Aaron, Milwaukee's young outfield star, attracted two votes and Sam (Toothpick) Jones, fireball pitcher of the Cubs, got one. Banks thus joins Al Kaline, the spectacular outfielder of the Detroit Tigers, who won the sophomore honors in the American League.

Banks not only was the top sophomore in the league but the best shortstop in the business last season.

THE 175-POUND native of Dallas, Tex., set a new record for shortstops when he clouted 44 home runs and his five grand slam homers surpassed the greatest feats of all sluggers, past and present, including Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Jimmy Foxx and Mel Ott.

Although he averaged only .295, Banks amassed 355 total bases, scored 98 runs and drove in 117.

Ernie was just as impressive on defense. He led all National League shortstops in fielding and that included such superb short fielders as Johnny Logan, Pee Wee Reese, Roy McMillan and Alvin Dark. The new Chicago idol made only 22 errors and compiled a fielding percentage of .972 to take the shortstop fielding title away from Logan, who held it for the previous three years.

Esopus Little League Elects Dr. Harris President for '56

Dr. John Harris, Port Ewen dentist, was named president of the Town of Esopus Little League for 1956 at a reorganizational meeting held at Town Hall last night.

Irving Maurer was elected vice president; Manfred Kastner, secretary; and Edward McBroom, treasurer.

Louis McMahon was designated player agent.

Indians—Basil "Bud" Potter
Giants—John Potter
Dodgers—Chester Barth
Yankees—Donald Boss

The league voted to adhere strictly to the Little League's recommendations for the selection of playing personnel in 1956.

THE TOWN of Esopus American Legion post will continue as sponsor of the small fry league which goes into its fifth year of operation next season.

League officials were authorized to spend up to $300 for the improvement of facilities at Ross Field.

It was voted to stage a series of Hot Stove League meetings during the winter season. These would include movies, periodics, speakers and clinics.

The first such meeting is tentatively scheduled for mid-January.

A report on player prospects for the 1956 season indicated there would be enough candidates to complete all rosters within Little League recommendations.

Operate on Hamner's Arm

Philadelphia, Nov. 15 (AP)—Granny Hamner underwent an arm operation yesterday to cure a condition that cut his effectiveness last season for the Philadelphia Phillies.

Hamner, the National League All Star second baseman in 1954, fell from a .299 batting average that year to .257 last season.

Sawyer Squad Has High Hopes Of Successful Cage Campaign

Saugerties High School faces the 1955-56 basketball season with well-founded hopes of another fine season.

The Sawyers may not match the brilliant 16-3 record of last winter's quintet, but the chances are they won't be too far off.

Bud Smith, the new SHS coach, has inherited four full-time players from the '55 squad, plus a few reserves. Smith has also fallen heir to the graduates of an unbeaten junior varsity team.

Of the 14 men on the Sawyer varsity roster, only five are under the six-foot mark.

THIS IS SMITH'S third coaching assignment since graduating from Ithaca College in 1950. He formerly worked at two upstate schools, Altona Central and Bolton Landing.

Saugerties opens it campaign Monday afternoon at the SHS gym against Windham.

The Sawyers are defending champions in the Ulster County Athletic League (UCAL). Last year the Sawyers were beaten only once, by Highland, in league competition. The team lost to Catskill during the regular season and was also tripped in the Section Nine playoffs.

The only regulars missing from last year are Andy Talmadge and Jim Farrell.

Returnees include the team's top scorer, Joe Martin; Bob Hanson, six-four center; Bill Hanna and Bert Ledwith. All played regularly.

Reserves who are also back for action are Wayne Pleugh, Murray Craft and Ed Roeser.

MOVED UP from the jayvee ranks are Don Whitaker and Fran Kugelman, both standing six-two; Jim Sanders, Jim Erceg and Bill Zeilman.

John Kerin, a six-foot-three transfer from Wooster, N. Y., also figures in the Sawyer cage picture. Smith expects the newcomer to see plenty of action.

"I can't tell you too much about the team," Smith said, "because I'm new to them and they're new to me. But potentially, I'd say we look pretty good. We've got a few good shots, and if they learn teamwork, we might go places."

THE JUNIOR VARSITY team is being coached by Bill Straub, who piloted the varsity last winter.

IBC Criticizes Weill For Rocky's Road Tour

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Jim Norris and Al Weill ,the two most important ment in Rocky Marciano's life, clashed openly today. Norris, president of the International Boxing Club which has promoted all the heavyweight champion's fights, said Marciano shouldn't be touring the country refereeing bouts, that he should be getting ready for a February title defense.

Weill ,the Rock's manager, in effect, told Norris to go jump in lake.

THE ARGUMENT was significant in that the IBC's exclusive contract with Marciano ran out recently and hasn't been renewed. Under it, the IBC held rights to promote all the heavyweight champion's fights, either by itself or in conjunction with other promoters.

"For the life of me, I can't see eye-to-eye with Weill on these tours," said Norris. "It doesn't make sense."

Norris pointed out that boxing interest revolves around the heavyweight champion.

"Therefore," he commented, "I feel that he should be fighting and defending his title. We just got through doing a million dollars with Archie Moore and now is no time for Rocky to be running around the country on a refereeing tour."

Norris wants Marciano to make his next defense of the title in February instead of waiting until June as announced by Weill.

"HE COULD fight the winner of the Dec. 7 bout in Cleveland between Nino Valdez and Bob Baker,' said the IBC chief. They are the leading contenders behind Moore.

What does Weill think of all this?

"I'm still the manager of Rocky Marciano—the only manager he's got," snapped the bespectacled little pilot of the champion. "This is not barnstorming, but a good will tour."

"As for Rocky fighting in February, I haven't given that a thought," continued Weill. "He needs three or four months to get in condition. I won't discuss anything until I come back from the west about Dec. 22 or 23. I'll talk to Mr. Norris then about future business."

Kickoff Changed For Trojan-UCLA Tilt

Los Angeles, Nov. 16 (AP)—Starting time for Saturday's football game between the University of Southern California and USLA has been moved up a half hour to 1:30 p. m., Saturday in Memorial Coliseum.

That will make it 4:30 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, for the nationally televised contest.

Although the odds-makers opened up by installing UCLA a 10-point favorite, it is possible the spread will narrow before game time.

MIAMI BEACH, FLA.—Andy Arel, 130¾, Utica, N. Y., outpointed Bobby Bell, 128, Youngstown, Ohio, 10.

Hawks Rip NY, 121-95; Set Mark

(By The Associated Press)

The National Basketball Assn. may be more of a defensive league this year, but last night's game between the St. Louis Hawks and New York Knickerbockers didn't indicate it.

St. Louis set a new team scoring record with a blistering second half attack to hand the Knicks their first loss of the young season, 121-95. The victory gave the Hawks a 2-1 record and was the second game in which they have topped the 100-point mark. St. Louis leads the Western Division and New York heads the eastern with a 4-1 mark.

The two teams ended the first half deadlocked at 43-43, but then St. Louis turned on the steam as they dropped in 36 and 42 points in the last two periods. The Hawks were paced by Bob Pettit's 23 points although he made only one of eight free throws. Frank Selvey had 20 for St. Louis and rookie Dick Ricketts had 18.

New York's attack was paced by rookie Ken Sears' 26 points and Gene Shue's 25.

Flights Will Be Limited by CAB

Washington, Nov. 16 (AP)—The government has decided to let non-scheduled airlines operate on regular flight schedules—but the number of flights will be strictly limited.

By a 3-2 vote, the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) yesterday authorized irregular, "nonsked" air carriers to make up 10 scheduled flights monthly in each direction between any two cities in their territories.

HERETOFORE the nonskeds have been prohibited from following any regular pattern of operations. Irregular flights between any two cities were limited to 8 to 12 a month in each direction.

The new CAB policy was set forth in an interim decision in a hotly contested, four-year-old case in which the regularly scheduled airlines and some railroads objected to expanding nonsked operations.

Subject to review and later modification, the action will take effect Jan. 1 and will involve 49 nonsked carriers.

More Police Asked

St. Louis, Nov. 16 (AP)—The strike-bound International Shoe Co. has asked for increased police protection at its warehouse and office in downtown St. Louis and is seeking an injunction to restrain picketing. The firm said some non-union office workers were struck on the head and a few bruised during pushing and shoving with some 300 pickets yesterday.

Acheson Hits Loyalty

Washington, Nov. 16 (AP)—A new attack on the government's loyalty-security program came today from former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who charged the Eisenhower administration has magnified a "grave mistake" of President Truman into Moscow-like purge tactics. Acheson, a close friend of the former President, says in a new book—"A Democrat Looks at His Party" that Truman intended his 1947 order setting up the security program to be carried out "with fairness and restraint" but that the opposite has happened. "Its warping effect," Acheson declared, "has gravely affected the liberty of the individual in and out of government to think and speak as he pleases and to live and work in the creative atmosphere of freedom and respect."

Arizona's Back Heads for 2nd National Title

It's never been done before, but Arizona's Art Luppino is bulling his way to a second straight major college title.

With two games left in the football season, Luppino has rushed for 1,106 yards to maintain his lead by 20 over Texas Christian's redoubtable Jim Swink, NCAA Service Bureau statistics showed today.

Luppino collared 200 yards against Montana last weekend while Swink broke loose for 235—the highest single game mark of the season—against Texas.

Swink, also with two games left, has a 1,086 total.

Luppino, a 5-9, 170-pound junior from La Jolla, Calif., won the crown last year with 1,359 yards. Right now, he's only 78 yards short of the two-season record (2,543 by Rudy Mobley of Hardin-Simmons in 1942, '46) and but 25 behind the high for two consecutive seasons (2,490 by Howard Waugh of Tulsa in 1951-52).

Luppino also is the biggest work horse of the season, driving in on 163 plays. Next comes Stanford's Billy Tarr with 153. Swink has made only 118 trips, but his 9.2-yards-a-try average tops the leaders.

Seed Dealer Up To $16,000 Mark On Quiz Program

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Czech-born Steve Frohlich, a Princeton, N. J., seed dealer, has won $16,000 by answering another question in his American History category on "The $64,000 question," CBS television and radio show.

On the show last night he named the parts of the United States purchased from France in 1803, Spain in 1819, Mexico in 1853, Russia in 1867 and Denmark in 1917.

NAMING the presidents in office at the time, he rattled off Louisiana, Florida, the Gadsden Purchase, Alaska and the Virgin Islands.

A blonde psychologist, Dr. Joyce Brothers of New York, won $8,000 in her boxing category by giving the ring names of four heavyweight champions after she was given their real names.

They were Rocco Marchegiano —Rocky Marciano; Arnold Raymond Cream—Jersey Joe Walcott; Joseph Paul Zukauskas—Jack Sharkey; and Noah Brusso —Tommy Burns.

Next week Frohlich can try for $32,000 and Mrs. Brothers for $16,000, or they can quit and keep their winnings. If they try and miss, they will get an expensive auto as a consolation prize.

Mild Spell Over

(By The Associated Press)

A brief spell of mild mid-November weather appeared ended today in most of the mid-continent as icy blasts from the north and west sent temperatures tumbling. The arctic air over the Rockies pushed southward into the southern plains during the night, dropping temperatures into the 20s and lower this morning in Kansas, Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle.

Women Shot to Death

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Two women were found shot to death yesterday in an office in Queens. Police said they believe it was the work of a robber. One victim of the shooting was Mae Gazzo, 32, of Fair Lawn, N. J., in whose electrolysis office the shooting occurred. Miss Gazzo was a specialist in the removal of unwanted hair from the body by an electric process. The second victim was Kathleen M. Egan, 25, of Elmhurst, Queens, who was in Miss Gazzo's Jackson Heights office for a treatment. Miss Egan, a clerk for the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., was engaged to marry a Manhattan fire lieutenant in January.

UnitedSynagogue For Conservative Seminary in Israel

Kiamesha Lake. N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—The biennial convention of the United Synagogue of America has endorsed a plan to establish a division of the Jewish Seminary of America in Israel.

The seminary, in New York city, is the only institution in the United States which trains rabbis of the conservative branch of Judaism.

FUTURE graduates of the seminary will be required to spend a year of study in the Israel division as a prerequisite to ordination in the Rabbinate.

The convention of the United Synagogue, which represents 585 congregations and about 1,000,000 Conservative Jews in the United States and Canada, voted endorsement last night after details of the plan were outlined by Rabbi Moshe Davis, provost of the school.

Rabbi Davis, speaking to the 700 delegates, said:

"This is the first time that any Jewish institution of learning will require that its students study in the Holy Land as part of the regular requirements for ordination."

HE SAID several acres near the Hebrew University in Jerusalem have been acquired through the Jewish National Fund. The seminary has obtained pledges for most of the $350,000 necessary to complete the first of five buildings in Jerusalem. Construction is expected to start next year.

Sponsors expect the division will be able to accommodate about 30 rabbinic students annually.

Rabbi Davis said it is planned eventually to ask students in education and other subjects as well to do part of their work in Israel. In addition, Israeli scholars will be engaged for various courses.

Funds to complete and maintain the seminary division in Israel will be obtained through a voluntary "tax" of $2 a year on each of the Conservative branch Jews. Rabbia Davis said.

Bankers Think Ike Out, See Farm Issue

St. Louis, Nov. 16 (AP)—A bare majority of bankers attending a conference here believe President Eisenhower will not seek re-election in 1956 and that the chief campaign issue will be agricultural conditions and politics.

William A. McDonnell, president of the First National Bank of St. Louis, reported results of a questionnaire last night among the 676 bankers attending the Ninth Annual Conference of Correspondents of the bank from a 16-state area in the midwest and south.

HE SAID THAT 51 per cent of the group believe the President will not run again or that he can be counted out of the campaign while 45 per cent felt the other way. Nearly half felt that Chief Justice Warren would be the strongest GOP candidate if Eisenhower doesn't run again. Fifty-six per cent picked the Republican candidate as the winner.

A total of 60 per cent of the bankers picked agricultural conditions and politics as the main issues of the coming campaign.

Business conditions were expected to fall off slightly by 45 per cent of those answering the current events questionnaire while 36 per cent said it will stay at present levels and 18 per cent saw more prosperity.

Injuries Are Fatal

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—Alexander Blasco, 64, died early today from injuries suffered Monday when he was struck by an automobile.

At 63,000 feet above sea level, blood will boil at body temperatures.

Says Immigration Will Be Issue In '56 Election

Albany, Nov. 16 (AP)—Edward Corsi, former state industrial commissioner and former special State Department assistant on immigration, says immigration will be an issue in the 1956 presidential campaign.

Corsi told the Hudson-Mohawk Council on World Affairs last night that Congress would adopt a 10-point program recommended by President Eisenhower to liberalize the McCarran-Walter immigration act of 1952.

HE SAID the public was becoming increasingly aware that the law "served as an obstacle to foreign policy." Critics of the law contend that it extends the immigration quota system, which they say discriminates against immigrants from certain countries.

Corsi was industrial commissioner during the Republican administration of former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. He served for a few months this year as an assistant to John Foster Dulles, secretary of state.

Corsi resigned after a dispute with State Department officials over the administration of the refugee relief law, which provides for the admission of 214,000 refugees to this country over regular immigration quotas.

Seed Dealer Up To $16,000 Mark On Quiz Program

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Czech-born Steve Frohlich, a Princeton, N. J., seed dealer, has won $16,000 by answering another question in his American History category on "The $64,000 question," CBS television and radio show.

On the show last night he named the parts of the United States purchased from France in 1803, Spain in 1819, Mexico in 1853, Russia in 1867 and Denmark in 1917.

NAMING the presidents in office at the time, he rattled off Louisiana, Florida, the Gadsden Purchase, Alaska and the Virgin Islands.

A blonde psychologist, Dr. Joyce Brothers of New York, won $8,000 in her boxing category by giving the ring names of four heavyweight champions after she was given their real names.

They were Rocco Marchegiano —Rocky Marciano; Arnold Raymond Cream—Jersey Joe Walcott; Joseph Paul Zukauskas—Jack Sharkey; and Noah Brusso —Tommy Burns.

Next week Frohlich can try for $32,000 and Mrs. Brothers for $16,000, or they can quit and keep their winnings. If they try and miss, they will get an expensive auto as a consolation prize.

Mild Spell Over

(By The Associated Press)

A brief spell of mild mid-November weather appeared ended today in most of the mid-continent as icy blasts from the north and west sent temperatures tumbling. The arctic air over the Rockies pushed southward into the southern plains during the night, dropping temperatures into the 20s and lower this morning in Kansas, Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle.

FLOATING A LOAN?—A housing unit used by Morris Harvey College in Charleston, W. Va., is eased safely onto a barge, not visible, tied up on Kanawha river, for the journey downstream about 10 miles to a point near St. Albans. The college campus was cleared of all temporary housing units preparatory to construction of permanent structures. The campus is across the river from the state capital. (AP Wirephoto).

Women Shot to Death

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Two women were found shot to death yesterday in an office in Queens. Police said they believe it was the work of a robber. One victim of the shooting was Mae Gazzo, 32, of Fair Lawn, N. J., in whose electrolysis office the shooting occurred. Miss Gazzo was a specialist in the removal of unwanted hair from the body by an electric process. The second victim was Kathleen M. Egan, 25, of Elmhurst, Queens, who was in Miss Gazzo's Jackson Heights office for a treatment. Miss Egan, a clerk for the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., was engaged to marry a Manhattan fire lieutenant in January.

UnitedSynagogue For Conservative Seminary in Israel

Kiamesha Lake. N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—The biennial convention of the United Synagogue of America has endorsed a plan to establish a division of the Jewish Seminary of America in Israel.

The seminary, in New York city, is the only institution in the United States which trains rabbis of the conservative branch of Judaism.

FUTURE graduates of the seminary will be required to spend a year of study in the Israel division as a prerequisite to ordination in the Rabbinate.

The convention of the United Synagogue, which represents 585 congregations and about 1,000,000 Conservative Jews in the United States and Canada, voted endorsement last night after details of the plan were outlined by Rabbi Moshe Davis, provost of the school.

Rabbi Davis, speaking to the 700 delegates, said:

"This is the first time that any Jewish institution of learning will require that its students study in the Holy Land as part of the regular requirements for ordination."

HE SAID several acres near the Hebrew University in Jerusalem have been acquired through the Jewish National Fund. The seminary has obtained pledges for most of the $350,000 necessary to complete the first of five buildings in Jerusalem. Construction is expected to start next year.

Sponsors expect the division will be able to accommodate about 30 rabbinic students annually.

Rabbi Davis said it is planned eventually to ask students in education and other subjects as well to do part of their work in Israel. In addition, Israeli scholars will be engaged for various courses.

Funds to complete and maintain the seminary division in Israel will be obtained through a voluntary "tax" of $2 a year on each of the Conservative branch Jews. Rabbia Davis said.

Bankers Think Ike Out, See Farm Issue

St. Louis, Nov. 16 (AP)—A bare majority of bankers attending a conference here believe President Eisenhower will not seek re-election in 1956 and that the chief campaign issue will be agricultural conditions and politics.

William A. McDonnell, president of the First National Bank of St. Louis, reported results of a questionnaire last night among the 676 bankers attending the Ninth Annual Conference of Correspondents of the bank from a 16-state area in the midwest and south.

HE SAID THAT 51 per cent of the group believe the President will not run again or that he can be counted out of the campaign while 45 per cent felt the other way. Nearly half felt that Chief Justice Warren would be the strongest GOP candidate if Eisenhower doesn't run again. Fifty-six per cent picked the Republican candidate as the winner.

A total of 60 per cent of the bankers picked agricultural conditions and politics as the main issues of the coming campaign.

Business conditions were expected to fall off slightly by 45 per cent of those answering the current events questionnaire while 36 per cent said it will stay at present levels and 18 per cent saw more prosperity.

Injuries Are Fatal

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—Alexander Blasco, 64, died early today from injuries suffered Monday when he was struck by an automobile.

At 63,000 feet above sea level, blood will boil at body temperatures.

Says Immigration Will Be Issue In '56 Election

Albany, Nov. 16 (AP)—Edward Corsi, former state industrial commissioner and former special State Department assistant on immigration, says immigration will be an issue in the 1956 presidential campaign.

Corsi told the Hudson-Mohawk Council on World Affairs last night, that Congress would adopt a 10-point program recommended by President Eisenhower to liberalize the McCarran-Walter immigration act of 1952.

HE SAID the public was becoming increasingly aware that the law "served as an obstacle to foreign policy." Critics of the law contend that it extends the immigration quota system, which they say discriminates against immigrants from certain countries.

Corsi was industrial commissioner during the Republican administration of former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. He served for a few months this year as an assistant to John Foster Dulles, secretary of state.

Corsi resigned after a dispute with State Department officials over the administration of the refugee relief law, which provides for the admission of 214,000 refugees to this country over regular immigration quotas.

HE WANTS TO BE PRESIDENT—Adlai Stevenson, who was Democratic presidential nominee in 1952, waves after he announced that he wants to become the nominee again. Stevenson made the announcement in Chicago, Nov. 15. (AP Wirephoto) statement that he would support Stevenson if he is nominated.

Among members gathering for the Democratic national committee's meeting here tomorrow, there seemed to be a strong feeling that Stevenson now holds a substantial lead over his potential rivals.

Monroe Sweetland, Oregan national committeeman, said in an interview he thinks Stevenson "has the nomination unless something unforeseen happens."

Calvin Rawlings, Utah national committeeman, said Stevenson "looks like the front runner" to him.

SEN. SPARKMAN (D.-Ala.), who was Stevenson's running mate in 1952, said he hopes the Alabama delegation starts off the convention roll call of states next year by voting for Stevenson.

There were reports here, however, that Gov. James E. Folsom, who has been talking about former President Harry S. Truman as a candidate, may help Kefauver get a chunk of Alabama votes.

Sen. McClellan (D.-Ark.) said that "beyond question he will be a very formidable candidate." Sen. Ervin (D.-N. C.) said he thinks Stevenson "would make the best candidate" among those running.

GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said Stevenson had "made official what everyone has known for 18 months." He added that "the artificial buildup of his formal announcement over the past few weeks was slightly ridiculous."

State Tax Cut

study commissions, "consistent, of course, with the expressed wishes of the people."

THE TWO commissions are the temporary Highway Finance Planning Commission and the temporary State Commission on Education Finance.

The highway planning group has been asked by Harriman and GOP leaders to review the state's highway situation in the light of the voters' rejection Nov. 8 of a proposed 750-million-dollar bond issue for highway improvement.

The Education Finance Commission is expected to come up next month with recommendations for increasing state school aid to localities.

THE LEADERS' statement was interpreted to mean that, should either commission propose a tax increase to finance its recommendations, the Republicans would reject the proposal.

The chairman of the Senate Finance Committee last night pledged to do everything in his power to restore the 10 per cent abatement on income taxes.

Austin W. Erwin, Republican of Geneseo, told the Albany County Women's Republican Club he believed the people deserved tax relief "in the form in which the Republican majority of the Legislature sought to give it to them last winter—including outright forgiveness of a portion of their tax bill. I shall do everything in my power to see that they get that kind of tax relief," he added.

County Fire

rector of the association, reported on the action taken last Sunday at Albany when the legislative clearing house met to discuss proposed legislation which affects firemen. He reported an effort would be made to limit use of blue light to volunteer firemen cars. Various other legislative matters were discussed at the session.

ANTHONY DELISO of Haverstraw, former president of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, was present. He is the representative of the Fire Service of the State of New York. He spoke on the appointment of an instructor who would attend the instructors school and be eligible for appointment as instructor in Ulster county.

Arthur Rice, secretary of the Fire Association of Ulster County, gave a report on the police school. A more complete report will be made at the January meeting.

ALL FIREMEN and their wives were asked to attend the meetings held each second Monday of the month at the city hall in Kingston which are sponsored by Civil Defense. These sessions are of great interest and importance.

Charles Vogel, field representative of the Albany Underwriters Rating Board was present and spoke on inspection of schools and other matters.

The entertainment committee provided refreshments and a program. The next meeting will be held on January 17 at Port Ewen when the county association will be the guest of the town of Esopus fire departments.

Food Prices Rise

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—For the first time in seven weeks there was a slight rise this week in wholesale food prices as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet index. The index rose to $6.04 from $6 a week ago, which was the lowest level touched since June 20, 1950. A year ago the index stood at $6.88. The index represents the total cost at wholesale of one pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Prices were mixed today in a fairly active stock market.

The average level of prices was hovering near a new record high mark.

Losses ran to around 4 points while gains went to around 3. Most changes either way were small in the early afternoon.

Most of the activity in the market was centered in individual issues rather than in groups.

Fossil Find

Benson, Ariz. (AP)—Fossils believed to be nearly three million years old have been discovered near here. Dr. John Lance, a paleontologist from the University of Arizona, said the remains include the hoof of a pre-historic three-toed horse, bones of a mastodon and pieces believed to be from the shell of a glyptotherium, a seven-foot long mammal.

News of Our Own Service Folks

RONALD E. JANSEN, formerly stationed at Fort Dix, N. J,. has arrived at Camp Polk, La., where he is engaged in operation "Sagebrush." Pvt. Jansen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Jansen, 157 Hasbrouck avenue.

RODNEY QUICK, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Quick, Pataukunk road, Kerhonkson, is spending a 40 day leave at the home of his parents after recently completing technical school at Scott Air Force Base, Ill. Upon completion of leave Airman Quick will report to Manhattan Air Force Station, Sheepshead Bay, for assignment overseas in Germany. A former student at Kerhonkson Central School, he enlisted in the air force through the Kingston office in May of this year, and received his basic training at Sampson AFB, Geneva.

Dulles Says . . .

port back to their chiefs and that they would recommend that the future course of their discussions be settled through diplomatic channels.

Dulles, who is to report to President Eisenhower tomorrow, said the President has "closely followed this conference on a day to day basis."

EISENHOWER, he went on, "will evaluate its results against the background of his vast knowledge and abhorrence of war and his dedication to the cause of a just and durable peace."

Dulles said he thought that the Geneva meeting had not been "wholly barren." And he expressed hope for better results in the future, saying that after long years in international diplomacy he is not "easily discouraged."

The following is the text of a statement on disarmament drafted by the three western powers at the Big Four conference (the statement was issued to the press after the end of today's morning meeting, but was not submitted to the conference which thus took no action on it).

GUIDED BY the desire to contribute to lessening international tension, strengthening confidence between states and reducing the burden of armaments, the foreign ministers of the Soviet Union, the United States of America, the United Kingdom and the French Republic remain convinced of the need to continue to seek agreement on a comprehensive program for disarmament which will promote international peace and security with the least diversion for armament of the world's human and economic resources.

Their discussions showed that, while there was agreement on this objective, it was not yet possible to reach agreement on effective methods and safeguards for achieving it.

THE MINISTERS will transmit the records of these discussions to their representatives on the United Nations disarmament subcommittee. They believe that their exchange of views has been useful in clarifying their respective positions and should assist the subcommittee in its efforts to reach agreement, as their representatives continue to carry out the directive of the heads of government, taking into account the proposals made at the July conference.

In the meantime the ministers agree that the studies of methods of control which are now proceeding in different countries should be designed to facilitate a settlement of the disarmament problem.

The ministers further reaffirmed the obligation of their governments to refrain from the use of force in any manner inconsistent with the charter of the United Nations.

Paper Learns

shops Nov. 1, the day of the explosion.

Mrs. King, who made costume jewelry for her family and friends, had wished for the unique tool for some time, the newspaper said. It added Graham was described as being despondent out of a sense of guilt "for failing to make his mother's last hours happy by not giving her the present before she left Denver."

Graham insured his mother's life for $37,500 after escorting her to the fatal flight. She was flying to Anchorage, Alaska, to visit a daughter.

Forfeits $15 Bail

Amos J. McCreerey, 21, of 34 West O'Reilly street, was arrested at 12:10 a. m., today by Officers Joseph Keller and Everett Emmick on a charge of speeding. He forfeited $15 through failure to appear in City Court today.

May Ordain Women

Stillwater, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—The Troy Presbytery has approved a regulation allowing women to be ordained as ministers. The measure will take effect if approved by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. next May. The presbytery has 33 churches in Rensselaer, Washington, Warren and Saratoga counties in New York state and several in south western Vermont. The General Assembly had recommended the proposal to the individual presbyteries.

Ship Fire Checked

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Italian coal ship Dea Mazzella radioed for help early today, stating it was on fire about 1,200 miles northeast of New York, but a few hours later messaged the fire was under control. The distress call, picked up by a coast guard cutter at 5:52 a. m., EST, said the fire followed explosions in the No. 1 and No. 2 holds and that the ship was in need of immediate assistance.

TO THE ABOVE NAMED DEFENDANTS IN THIS ACTION:

The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication pursuant to an order of the Hon. William A. Kelly, Judge of the County Court, County of Ulster, dated the 27th day of October, 1955, and filed with the complaint in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster at Kingston, New York, on the 31st day of October, 1955.

This action is brought pursuant to Article 15 of the Real Property Law of the State of New York to compel the determination of claims to the real property described below:

ALL THAT LOT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND situate in the City of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York, more particularly bounded and described as follows, viz:

BEGINNING at a point on the northerly line of Marys Avenue, which said point is 58 feet 9 inches on a course of north 54°30' west from the intersection formed by the northerly line of Marys Avenue and the westerly line of Andrew Street, and runs thence on a course of north 35°30' east 100 feet to a point, thence north 54°30' west 50 feet to a point at the most northeasterly corner of lands conveyed by C. B. O'Reilly, Inc. to Helen Garrabrant by deed dated April 4, 1955, and runs thence along lands conveyed to said Garrabrant south 35°30' west 100 feet to the northerly line of Marys Avenue aforesaid, thence along the northerly line of said Marys Avenue south 54°30' east to the point and place of beginning.

Being Lot No. 121 as shown on map of lands of John O'Reilly made in 1870 and filed in the Ulster County Clerk's Office as Map No. 196 in Map Book 7, page 77.

It being intended to correctly describe and convey the same premises as conveyed by Hudson Counties Estates, Inc. to Dellay Realty Company, Inc. by deed dated November 1, 1954, and recorded in Ulster County Clerk's Office on November 4, 1954, in deed book 908, page 244.

As to the above description, reference is made to deed from John O'Reilly and others to Fredericka Koch wife of Charles Koch dated February 9, 1877, and recorded in Ulster County Clerk's Office on February 16, 1877, d.b. 204, page 228.

PROCLAMATION

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK TO THE SHERIFF OF THE COUNTY OF ULSTER: GREETINGS:

Whereas, A Trial Term of Supreme Court and Jail Delivery is to be held in and for the County of Ulster, at the Court House in the City of Kingston, on Monday the Fifth day of December, 1955.

We command you in pursuance of the provisions of Section 222-a of the Code of Criminal Procedure, in that case made and provided:

FIRST: That you summon the several persons who shall have been drawn in said County of Ulster, pursuant to law to serve as Grand Jurors and Trial Jurors at the said Court to appear thereat.

SECOND—That you bring before the said Court all prisoners being in the Jail of said County, together with all process and proceedings in any way concerning them in your hands as such Sheriff.

THIRD: That you make Proclamation, in the manner prescribed by Section 222-c of the Code of Criminal Procedure, notifying all persons bound to appear at the said Court by recognizance or otherwise, to appear thereat, and requiring all Justices of the Peace, Coroners and other Officers who have taken any recognizance for the appearance of any person at such Court, or who shall have taken any inquisition, or the examination of any prisoner or witness, to return such recognizances, inquisitions and examinations to the said Court at the opening thereof on the first day of its sitting.

WITNESS: Hon. Harry E. Schirick, one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, at the Court House in the City of Kingston, this 14th day of November in the year One Thousand Nine Hundred and Fifty-five.

HOWARD C. ST. JOHN
District Attorney for the County of Ulster

In pursuance of the above precept, I hereby make Proclamation that a term of Supreme Court of Ulster County and Jail deliverance will be held at the Court House in Kingston, in and for the County of Ulster the Fifth day of December, 1955, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of that day, and all persons who will prosecute against persons confined in the Jail of said County are required to be then and there present, to proceed as may be just; and all persons bound to appear at the said Court by recognizance, or otherwise are required to appear thereat, and all Justices of the Peace, Coroners and other Officers who may have taken any recognizance for the appearance of any person at the said Court or who may have taken any inquisition or the examination of any prisoner or witness are required to return such recognizance, inquisition and examination on to the said Court at the opening thereof, at the first day of the sitting thereof, and to be then and there present with their rolls and records, indictments and remembrances to do those things which to their office pertain.

HE WANTS TO BE PRESIDENT—Adlai Stevenson, who was Democratic presidential nominee in 1952, waves after he announced that he wants to become the nominee again. Stevenson made the announcement in Chicago, Nov. 15. (AP Wirephoto) statement that he would support Stevenson if he is nominated.

Among members gathering for the Democratic national committee's meeting here tomorrow, there seemed to be a strong feeling that Stevenson now holds a substantial lead over his potential rivals.

Monroe Sweetland, Oregan national committeeman, said in an interview he thinks Stevenson "has the nomination unless something unforeseen happens."

Calvin Rawlings, Utah national committeeman, said Stevenson "looks like the front runner" to him.

SEN. SPARKMAN (D.-Ala.), who was Stevenson's running mate in 1952, said he hopes the Alabama delegation starts off the convention roll call of states next year by voting for Stevenson.

There were reports here, however, that Gov. James E. Folsom, who has been talking about former President Harry S. Truman as a candidate, may help Kefauver get a chunk of Alabama votes.

Sen. McClellan (D.-Ark.) said that "beyond question he will be a very formidable candidate." Sen. Ervin (D.-N.C.) said he thinks Stevenson "would make the best candidate" among those running.

GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said Stevenson had "made official what everyone has known for 18 months." He added that "the artificial buildup of his formal announcement over the past few weeks was slightly ridiculous."

State Tax Cut

study commissions, "consistent, of course, with the expressed wishes of the people."

THE TWO commissions are the temporary Highway Finance Planning Commission and the temporary State Commission on Education Finance.

The highway planning group has been asked by Harriman and GOP leaders to review the state's highway situation in the light of the voters' rejection Nov. 8 of a proposed 750-million-dollar bond issue for highway improvement.

The Education Finance Commission is expected to come up next month with recommendations for increasing state school aid to localities.

THE LEADERS' statement was interpreted to mean that, should either commission propose a tax increase to finance its recommendations, the Republicans would reject the proposal.

The chairman of the Senate Finance Committee last night pledged to do everything in his power to restore the 10 per cent abatement on income taxes.

Austin W. Erwin, Republican of Geneseo, told the Albany County Women's Republican Club he believed the people deserved tax relief "in the form in which the Republican majority of the Legislature sought to give it to them last winter—including outright forgiveness of a portion of their tax bill. I shall do everything in my power to see that they get that kind of tax relief," he added.

County Fire

rector of the association, reported on the action taken last Sunday at Albany when the legislative clearing house met to discuss proposed legislation which affects firemen. He reported an effort would be made to limit use of blue light to volunteer firemen cars. Various other legislative matters were discussed at the session.

ANTHONY DELISO of Haverstraw, former president of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, was present. He is the representative of the Fire Service of the State of New York. He spoke on the appointment of an instructor who would attend the instructors school and be eligible for appointment as instructor in Ulster county.

Arthur Rice, secretary of the Fire Association of Ulster County, gave a report on the police school. A more complete report will be made at the January meeting.

ALL FIREMEN and their wives were asked to attend the meetings held each second Monday of the month at the city hall in Kingston which are sponsored by Civil Defense. These sessions are of great interest and importance.

Charles Vogel, field representative of the Albany Underwriters Rating Board was present and spoke on inspection of schools and other matters.

The entertainment committee provided refreshments and a program. The next meeting will be held on January 17 at Port Ewen when the county association will be the guest of the town of Esopus fire departments.

Food Prices Rise

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—For the first time in seven weeks there was a slight rise this week in wholesale food prices as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet index. The index rose to $6.04 from $6 a week ago, which was the lowest level touched since June 20, 1950. A year ago the index stood at $6.88. The index represents the total cost at wholesale of one pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Prices were mixed today in a fairly active stock market.

The average level of prices was hovering near a new record high mark.

Losses ran to around 4 points while gains went to around 3. Most changes either way were small in the early afternoon.

Most of the activity in the market was centered in individual issues rather than in groups.

Fossil Find

Benson, Ariz. (AP)—Fossils believed to be nearly three million years old have been discovered near here. Dr. John Lance, a paleontologist from the University of Arizona, said the remains include the hoof of a pre-historic three-toed horse, bones of a mastodon and pieces believed to be from the shell of a glyptotherium, a seven-foot long mammal.

port back to their chiefs and that they would recommend that the future course of their discussions be settled through diplomatic channels.

Dulles, who is to report to President Eisenhower tomorrow, said the President has "closely followed this conference on a day to day basis."

EISENHOWER, he went on, "will evaluate its results against the background of his vast knowledge and abhorrence of war and his dedication to the cause of a just and durable peace."

Dulles said he thought that the Geneva meeting had not been "wholly barren." And he expressed hope for better results in the future, saying that after long years in international diplomacy he is not "easily discouraged."

The following is the text of a statement on disarmament drafted by the three western powers at the Big Four conference (the statement was issued to the press after the end of today's morning meeting, but was not submitted to the conference which thus took no action on it).

GUIDED BY the desire to contribute to lessening international tension, strengthening confidence between states and reducing the burden of armaments, the foreign ministers of the Soviet Union, the United States of America, the United Kingdom and the French Republic remain convinced of the need to continue to seek agreement on a comprehensive program for disarmament which will promote international peace and security with the least diversion for armament of the world's human and economic resources.

Their discussions showed that, while there was agreement on this objective, it was not yet possible to reach agreement on effective methods and safeguards for achieving it.

THE MINISTERS will transmit the records of these discussions to their representatives on the United Nations disarmament subcommittee. They believe that their exchange of views has been useful in clarifying their respective positions and should assist the subcommittee in its efforts to reach agreement, as their representatives continue to carry out the directive of the heads of government, taking into account the proposals made at the July conference.

In the meantime the ministers agree that the studies of methods of control which are now proceeding in different countries should be designed to facilitate a settlement of the disarmament problem.

The ministers further reaffirmed the obligation of their governments to refrain from the use of force in any manner inconsistent with the charter of the United Nations.

May Ordain Women

Stillwater, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—The Troy Presbytery has approved a regulation allowing women to be ordained as ministers. The measure will take effect if approved by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. next May. The presbytery has 33 churches in Rensselaer, Washington, Warren and Saratoga counties in New York state and several in south western Vermont. The General Assembly had recommended the proposal to the individual presbyteries.

Ship Fire Checked

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Italian coal ship Dea Mazzella radioed for help early today, stating it was on fire about 1,200 miles northeast of New York, but a few hours later messaged the fire was under control. The distress call, picked up by a coast guard cutter at 5:52 a. m., EST, said the fire followed explosions in the No. 1 and No. 2 holds and that the ship was in need of immediate assistance.

sive mortgage loan program. Further community assistance is needed in providing water and sewer lines within reasonable geographic areas so as to encourage orderly suburban growth.

12. The immediate impact caused by the influx of IBM personnel be lessened through the temporary use of the large supply of seasonal dwellings while permanent housing is being built. At the same time care should be exercised to use only those dwellings which have adequate facilities.

IT WAS EXPLAINED in the report that its main purpose was to suggest an overall housing program for the city of Kingston and its environs, to suggest courses of action to improve existing housing conditions, to preserve housing in good condition as long as possible and prevent further deterioration, particularly in the 6th Ward.

"While the immediate task facing the city arises out of the influx of workers and their families as a result of the new IBM plant, the housing problems of the city are manifold and of long standing and indicate the need for action of a long-run nature above and beyond the immediate situation."

THE MARKET ANALYSIS, geared to the entire housing market rather than the city of Kingston only, revealed that manufacturing is the chief factor contributing to the economic support of the area. Many of the people working in Kingston live in the surrounding areas and commute to work, with the practice on the increase. The employment perspective looks bright, particularly because of anticipated hirings by IBM.

As far as housing was concerned, the report pointed out, the effective vacancy rate in the city was less than one per cent—in the summer of 1955—practically the same as it was in 1950. Considerable building was taking place in the area outside of Kingston, but much of it not within the price ranges of market demand. Little activity has occurred in the rental market with considerable pressure being put on it by the influx of IBM personnel. Savings banks in the area have extended mortgage credit on a conservative basis and in many instances savings and loan associations have reached the limit of their ability to extend mortgage lending much further unless they sell existing mortgages in the secondary market.

SINCE 1950, the report said, family formation in the city of Kingston has exceeded new construction by approximately 300 families. Many of the new families have moved to the suburbs, contributing to the building demand in that area. Additional construction required between April 1, 1955, and December 31, 1956, to satisfy the net effective demand in the area is estimated at 1,400 units. To remove or bring up to standard the most seriously substandard housing and to provide for a minimum vacancy reserve of three per cent would require another 1,900 units during that period.

The employe questionnaire revealed significant differences between the responses of IBM employes and those of other firms surveyed, in most cases reflecting the greater pressure for housing among IBM employes, and the shorter time that IBM has been an employer in the area. It also indicated that most employes desired to own their own home and made available data on price, rent and location preferences. It showed 83 per cent willing to pay from $10,000 to $20,000 to buy a home, about half willing to pay rent over $75 a month, and the preferred location to be in the Kingston to Saugerties belt. Median family size of employes at all firms is 3.2 persons and median family income is $5,207. Almost all commute by car, dissatisfaction with present accommodations rising as the distance to work increases over 5-6 miles.

THE HOUSEHOLD enumeration of a large part of the Sixth Ward revealed that almost half of the occupied dwelling units surveyed were in structures that needed major repairs or were unfit for use. About 72 per cent possesses no central heat and were heated by kitchen stoves, often supplemented by kerosene or oil heaters, thus making for hazardous conditions in these units. Fifty-three per cent had no hot running water. Overcrowding was prevalent in many of the sub-standard units.

The occupants of the substandard homes were found to be a much younger group than the others. However, six per cent of the people were 65 years or more, but more than half of the aged were either living alone or as couples with a median income of only $13.22 per week and dependent in large part upon pensions, welfare payments and gifts in order to maintain themselves. The low incomes of these aged plus a relatively short life expectancy, makes their purchase of a home questionable. In the majority of instances they will have to rely on rental housing, but special consideration appears necessary if they are to have adequate housing at rentals they can afford.

A smaller proportion of the residents of the substandard apartments were in the labor force than those in other dwelling units. Of those working, incomes were generally low with the median salary of employed workers being $53.40 a week.

Transaction Not Completed for Sale

A transaction involving the sale of the Donald W. Johnson property on Route 28 near the Sunset Drive-in Theater was not completed, it was announced today.

Sale of the property, which is the site of an old stone house now used by Mr. Johnson as a residence and antique shop, was reported in The Freeman on September 20. The sale was invalidated on a technicality, it was reported.

Mr. Johnson is continuing his antique business in the same location, it was explained. It was pointed out also that the property was again being offered for sale, either in whole or part.

Fears Red Reprisals

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—Immigration officials are considering the plea of a man who says he fled from the Communists in his native China eight years ago and is fearful of Red reprisals if he is sent back. At a deportation hearing yesterday, Yat Yen Fong, 33, said that he was living in Hoy Ping, with his father, mother, wife and two children when the Communists took over the village in 1947. Fong fled to this country. The others stayed. He is charged with entering this country illegally at San Francisco, after crossing the ocean as a seaman.

Fear Losing Daughter

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—"There's fear hanging over us all the time. We feel hunted haunted." That, says Melvin B. Ellis, is what it's like for a man and his wife after more than four months of hiding from authorities in a last-ditch battle to keep their adopted daughter, Hildy. "Our nightmare is that the police will pick up Hildy," added Mrs. Ellis in an interview with New York Post reporter Fern Marja. "We live with that fear. It hangs over us day and night. Every time the bell rings, I get panicy."

Yamin Pleads Guilty

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Martin Yamin, 32, former Baltimore police magistrate, dramatically pleaded guilty to second degree murder today in the seventh day of his trial in Brooklyn. Yamin was accused of master-minding the slaying of Joseph Aronowitz last February to prevent him from testifying against Yamin in a Baltimore case involving conspiracy to rob a policy slip bank. No date was set for sentencing.

Woman Is Fair As Auto Leaves Road, Hits Pole

Mrs. Alice Wiseman, 38, of Thompson Ridge, who was injured about 3 a. m. today when the 1954 sedan she was driving ran off the Burlingham road in Ulsterville, striking a utility pole and guard rails, was reported in "fair" condition early today at the Horton Memorial Hospital, Middletown.

Mrs. Wiseman was later transferred to the Neurological Hospital, New York city, it was reported. She was reported to have suffered head injuries.

Cpl. N. G. Lecakes of the Ellenville state police said Mrs. Wiseman was traveling in a westerly direction at the time of the mishap and ran off the left side of the road. Mrs. Wiseman was treated at the scene by a Pine Bush physician before she was taken to the hospital. Troopers J. R. Pergolizzi and Kenneth Sokol investigated.

ADDITIONALLY, he pointed to "the tense situation in the Middle East" as further concrete evidence, he said, that "the cold war is back."

The Town of Esopus Lions Club held its monthly meeting at the Capri Restaurant on Monday. Guest speaker was Joseph W. Moore of IBM's Poughkeepsie plant who showed a film on Electronic Data Processing.

Lions urged every home to have an American flag. It was reported the blood bank is progressing and all members should be at the blood bank in Kingston a 7 p. m., today to donate.

There will be a nursery available at the Port Ewen Reformed Church next Sunday for parents desiring to attend the service. The nursery will be in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hults.

Saturday is the final day for sending gifts for the Christmas gift project at the Veterans' Hospital, Albany. Mrs. Joseph Stadt is chairman. Gifts may also be sent to Mrs. Francis Dempsey at the Port Ewen Post Office or Miss Alice Tinnie, at the town clerk's office.

The Priscilla Society of the Port Ewen Methodist Church will sponsor an entertainment at the church house, Monday, Nov. 28. Slides will be shown by the Rev. Boone L. White. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

The Junior choir of the Reformed Church will meet Thursday at 7 p. m. The Senior choir will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Alexander Maines of Kingston will direct both choirs.

The Anderson 4H Club will hold a work meeting at the home of their leader, Mrs. Herbert Klippel on Friday after school.

There will be a meeting of the directors of River View Cemetery, Inc., at the home of Miss Emily W. C. Card, Hamilton street, Saturday at 2 p. m. Election of officers will be held at this meeting.

Drivers Report Area Accidents

Two vehicular mishaps occurring within a few minutes of each other yesterday afternoon were reported to the Ulster county sheriff's office.

George J. Avery, 56, of Tillson, reported that he was driving along Route 32 near Maple Hill about 3:45 p. m. when he was forced off the road by an unknown car and hit a guard rail and post. Mr. Avery, a caretaker at St. Peter's Cemetery, Rosendale, reported heavy damage to the right side of his car.

Anthony Denton, 38, of 193 Bruyn avenue, reported that he went off the road between Route 9W and Connelly and hit a guard rail about 4 p. m. when he attempted to avoid a tile pipe lying in the road. Mr. Denton, a naval inspector at Hiltebrant's Dry Dock, Inc., pulled to one side to avoid the pipe, hitting the rail and damaging his car in the right side.

Film Director Dies

Hollywood, Nov. 16 (AP)—Movie Director Lloyd Bacon, who turned out such hits as "The Singing Fool" and "The French Line," is dead at 65. Bacon died yesterday of a cerebral hemorrhage in St. Joseph's Hospital in nearby Burbank. He had been ill more than a year and entered the hospital Oct. 20. He was the son of actor Frank Bacon, star of the Broadway hit, "Lightning," and broke into movies as an actor before World War 1. He served as a wartime naval officer and returned to write and direct many of the Mack Sennett two-reelers.

Named Polio Poster Boy

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis today named 5-year-old Tommy Woodward of Baltimore as its poster boy for the 1956 March of Dimes. The freckled youngster, who was stricken with polio when 14 months old, will appear on signboards and other advertisements for the polio fund drive which starts Jan. 3. Tommy has spent six months of his young life in hospitals and last July underwent an operation on his left foot. He now gets around with braces and crutches.

Driver Fined $25

Kenneth Weaver, 29, of 57 Gage street, who was arrested Oct. 8 on a charge of driving while intoxicated, pleaded guilty to a lesser charge in City Court yesterday and was fined $25. Weaver, who was arrested by Officer Hydrect Armstrong, on Gage street was permitted, through consent of the district attorney's office, to plead guilty to reckless driving. He was represented by Attorney Thomas F. Saccoman, and S. James Matthews appeared for the district attorney's office.

Gets 30 Days

Benjamin Stewart, 37, of West Camp, was sentenced to 30 days in the Ulster County Jail yesterday when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers of Saugerties on a charge of assault third degree. Stewart was arrested Monday night by Trooper Raymond Kowalsky of the Kingston state police on complaint of Mrs. Stewart that her husband had assaulted her and that she had suffered a black eye and scratches.

Authority Says

sive mortgage loan program. Further community assistance is needed in providing water and sewer lines within reasonable geographic areas so as to encourage orderly suburban growth.

12. The immediate impact caused by the influx of IBM personnel be lessened through the temporary use of the large supply of seasonal dwellings while permanent housing is being built. At the same time care should be exercised to use only those dwellings which have adequate facilities.

IT WAS EXPLAINED in the report that its main purpose was to suggest an overall housing program for the city of Kingston and its environs, to suggest courses of action to improve existing housing conditions, to preserve housing in good condition as long as possible and prevent further deterioration, particularly in the 6th Ward.

"While the immediate task facing the city arises out of the influx of workers and their families as a result of the new IBM plant, the housing problems of the city are manifold and of long standing and indicate the need for action of a long-run nature above and beyond the immediate situation."

THE MARKET ANALYSIS, geared to the entire housing market rather than the city of Kingston only, revealed that manufacturing is the chief factor contributing to the economic support of the area. Many of the people working in Kingston live in the surrounding areas and commute to work, with the practice on the increase. The employment perspective looks bright, particularly because of anticipated hirings by IBM.

As far as housing was concerned, the report pointed out, the effective vacancy rate in the city was less than one per cent —in the summer of 1955—practically the same as it was in 1950. Considerable building was taking place in the area outside of Kingston, but much of it not within the price ranges of market demand. Little activity has occurred in the rental market with considerable pressure being put on it by the influx of IBM personnel. Savings banks in the area have extended mortgage credit on a conservative basis and in many instances savings and loan associations have reached the limit of their ability to extend mortgage lending much further unless they sell existing mortgages in the secondary market.

SINCE 1950, the report said, family formation in the city of Kingston has exceeded new construction by approximately 300 families. Many of the new families have moved to the suburbs, contributing to the building demand in that area. Additional construction required between April 1, 1955, and December 31, 1956, to satisfy the net effective demand in the area is estimated at 1,400 units. To remove or bring up to standard the most seriously substandard housing and to provide for a minimum vacancy reserve of three per cent would require another 1,900 units during that period.

The employe questionnaire revealed significant differences between the responses of IBM employes and those of other firms surveyed, in most cases reflecting the greater pressure for housing among IBM employes, and the shorter time that IBM has been an employer in the area. It also indicated that most employes desired to own their own home and made available data on price, rent and location preferences. It showed 83 per cent willing to pay from $10,000 to $20,000 to buy a home, about half willing to pay rent over $75 a month, and the preferred location to be in the Kingston to Saugerties belt. Median family size of employes at all firms is 3.2 persons and median family income is $5,207. Almost all commute by car, dissatisfaction with present accommodations rising as the distance to work increases over 5-6 miles.

THE HOUSEHOLD enumeration of a large part of the Sixth Ward revealed that almost half of the occupied dwelling units surveyed were in structures that needed major repairs or were unfit for use. About 72 per cent possesses no central heat and were heated by kitchen stoves, often supplemented by kerosene or oil heaters, thus making for hazardous conditions in these units. Fifty-three per cent had no hot running water. Overcrowding was prevalent in many of the sub-standard units.

The occupants of the substandard homes were found to be a much younger group than the others. However, six per cent of the people were 65 years or more, but more than half of the aged were either living alone or as couples with a median income of only $13.22 per week and dependent in large part upon pensions, welfare payments and gifts in order to maintain themselves. The low incomes of these aged plus a relatively short life expectancy, makes their purchase of a home questionable. In the majority of instances they will have to rely on rental housing, but special consideration appears necessary if they are to have adequate housing at rentals they can afford.

A smaller proportion of the residents of the substandard apartments were in the labor force than those in other dwelling units. Of those working, incomes were generally low with the median salary of employed workers being $53.40 a week.

OH, YEAH!—A glance at this picture and you'd think breakfast in bed and morning serenades were part of Marine Corps life. But what's really going on here is a pay-off on a contest. Port and Starboard sections of Naval Supply Center's Marine Guard at Oakland, Calif., competed to see which could donate most to a United Crusade fund drive. Starboard won. So having breakfast in bed is Cpl. Herbert A. Shaffer, while Cpl. Henry R. Milam strums him a good-morning serenade on a ukulele.

Transaction Not Completed for Sale

A transaction involving the sale of the Donald W. Johnson property on Route 28 near the Sunset Drive-in Theater was not completed, it was announced today.

Sale of the property, which is the site of an old stone house now used by Mr. Johnson as a residence and antique shop, was reported in The Freeman on September 20. The sale was invalidated on a technicality, it was reported.

Mr. Johnson is continuing his antique business in the same location, it was explained. It was pointed out also that the property was again being offered for sale, either in whole or part.

Fears Red Reprisals

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—Immigration officials are considering the plea of a man who says he fled from the Communists in his native China eight years ago and is fearful of Red reprisals if he is sent back. At a deportation hearing yesterday, Yat Yen Fong, 33, said that he was living in Hoy Ping, with his father, mother, wife and two children when the Communists took over the village in 1947. Fong fled to this country. The others stayed. He is charged with entering this country illegally at San Francisco, after crossing the ocean as a seaman.

Fear Losing Daughter

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—"There's fear hanging over us all the time. We feel hunted haunted." That, says Melvin B. Ellis, is what it's like for a man and his wife after more than four months of hiding from authorities in a last-ditch battle to keep their adopted daughter, Hildy. "Our nightmare is that the police will pick up Hildy," added Mrs. Ellis in an interview with New York Post reporter Fern Marja. "We live with that fear. It hangs over us day and night. Every time the bell rings, I get panicy."

Yamin Pleads Guilty

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Martin Yamin, 32, former Baltimore police magistrate, dramatically pleaded guilty to second degree murder today in the seventh day of his trial in Brooklyn. Yamin was accused of master-minding the slaying of Joseph Aronowitz last February to prevent him from testifying against Yamin in a Baltimore case involving conspiracy to rob a policy slip bank. No date was set for sentencing.

Woman Is Fair As Auto Leaves Road, Hits Pole

Mrs. Alice Wiseman, 38, of Thompson Ridge, who was injured about 3 a. m. today when the 1954 sedan she was driving ran off the Burlingham road in Ulsterville, striking a utility pole and guard rails, was reported in "fair" condition early today at the Horton Memorial Hospital, Middletown.

Mrs. Wiseman was later transferred to the Neurological Hospital, New York city, it was reported. She was reported to have suffered head injuries.

Cpl. N. G. Lecakes of the Ellenville state police said Mrs. Wiseman was traveling in a westerly direction at the time of the mishap and ran off the left side of the road. Mrs. Wiseman was treated at the scene by a Pine Bush physician before she was taken to the hospital. Troopers J. R. Pergolizzi and Kenneth Sokol investigated.

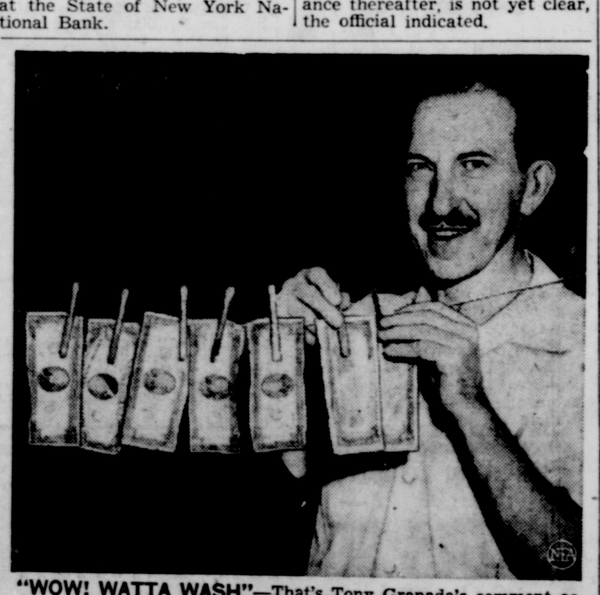
Cold War . . .

qualifiedly termed "a failure" the current Big Four foreign ministers' meeting ending today at Geneva.

ADDITIONALLY, he pointed to "the tense situation in the Middle East" as further concrete evidence, he said, that "the cold war is back."

What this will mean in terms of the administration's aim of balancing the federal budget this year, and keeping it in balance thereafter, is not yet clear, the official indicated.



"WOW! WATTA WASH"—That's Tony Granada's comment as he decorates a clothesline with $120. He found the money in the pockets of pants left by a patron of his automatic laundry in Cleveland, Ohio. Granada says in seven years of business he's returned over $1000, some in wallets, to absent-minded customers. These 10 and 20-dollar bills hadn't even been missed by their owner, Tony Farage, until Granada notified him. Farage is a sewer digger.
